Mr. Rockefeller at 93.
A Little Politics.
The Forgotten New York.
Beware the Actinic Ray.
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MANY HAPPY returns and many more birthdays to John D. Rockefeler, who is 93 years old today. He predicts that he will live to be a hundred years old, and will probably live beyond 100, for he has made a science of wise living.

The world wishes him as many years as he chooses. He used the energy of his youth accumulating hundreds of millions and, with the assistance of his son, has given away hundreds of millions to education, science and a ceaseless fight against disease.

More important than this, John D. Rockefeller has demonstrated the importance of organization in industry, as opposed to wasteful competition. History will remember him gratefully for that 50,000 years hence.

GOV. SMITH has said that he will support "the Democratic party," without mentioning candidates, and Gov. Roosevelt, "not looking too close," accepts with gratitude Gov. Smith's qualified assistance.

Yesterday Mr. McAdoo was talking "mysteriously" with Senator Hiram Johnson, and some Democrats hope that the Senator will support Roosevelt. Borah and Johnson have said they would not support Hoover, but both might hesitate about walking out of the party to support strange idols.

NEW YORK, where this is written, is a city of great towers, bridges and tunnels, great fortunes and energy. All the world knows about THAT city of New York.

There is a "forgotten New York," corresponding to Gov. Roosevelt's "forgotten man," not so well known. You see part of it walking along South street, north of the Brooklyn Bridge, at the edge of the East River, where the big ships come in, unload their cargoes of bootleg products, and hurry away.

YOU PASS the James Slip Gospel Mission, with enormous signs that tell you "Prepare to meet thy God," "Where will you spend eternity?" "Be sure your sins will find you out," etc.

The place is closed now. But there will be a meeting for seamen at seven this evening. There aren't any real seamen along there, except bootleg seamen, and they are too busy.

YOU SEE men lying in the hot sun on the sidewalks. One is in a drunken sleep. His opened hands covered with callouses prove hard work, his nails broken. He has given up looking for a job for the day.

The next man, also asleep on the stones, has the red handle of a toothbrush sticking out of his hip pocket. There is more hope for him, perhaps.

Beyond, five or six men using one end of a large packing case, are playing cards, while more look on. They are gambling, otherwise there would be no spectators. All are poor, but poverty does not prevent gambling.

Just beyond them with a large scoop shovel a man is filling boxes with cracked ice and thousands of huge gray shrimps from Florida. You are in the fish market.

YOU PASS blank store fronts, with men going in and out. Those are speakeasies. Even they complain of depression, as do bootleggers, and other important industrialists.

All along the East River, along the North River, in slum streets that run down to both rivers, you may study the forgotten New York, finding strange and savage creatures without visiting any African jungle.

A MANIA for caps made of white cotton, selling at 25 cents apiece, has created work for 2,700 men and women in New York City. The idea will spread. Young gentlemen who feel that white caps make them look like commodores of yacht clubs have forgotten about the "bare head craze."

To make the thing permanently successful, manufacturers should put a black or dark green lining inside the caps, to exclude actinic rays. White keeps out the heat, but admits actinic rays harmful to the brain. Read a book about the effect of sunlight on white men in tropical countries.

PHILIP S. LA FOLLETTE, son of Robert, a second-time candidate for Governor of Wisconsin, says:

We do not "stand on the brink of a precipice." We stand in the richest country in the world with no trouble except that we have too much of everything EXCEPT BRAINS AND COMMON SENSE. We may be choked by too much wheat, drowned in too much oil, burned by too much coal, spoiled by too much money, but there is not any precipice, although it might be possible to create an artificial precipice that would work fairly well.

FLIERS HURT IN RUSSIAN CRACK-UP

By KENDALL FOSS
International News Service.

MOSCOW, July 8.—Nursing their bruises aboard a grimy, plodding Russian train, instead of streaking across Siberia in the 150-mile-an-hour plane in which they started, Bennett Griffin and James J. Mattern, American fliers, were nearing Moscow tonight.

Forced down in a storm on a soggy field near the Soviet town of Minsk on the Russo-Polish frontier at dawn yesterday, the airmen remained out of touch with the world for more than 36 hours, while fears spread that complete disaster had ended their gallant attempt to beat the record for a flight around the world.

WELCOME AWAITS PAIR

American residents of Moscow and officials of the Osoviachim, the Soviet commercial flying organization, prepared to greet the airmen upon their arrival. All were anxious for full details of the crash which ended the flight which started so auspiciously and to learn how they spent the hours in Minsk while Russian and German planes were searching for them.

Officials of the Red October Airport, who were the first to hear how the venture had ended, strove without success throughout the evening to obtain additional details.

All they knew was that Griffin and Mattern had made a forced landing at Minsk about dawn yesterday. The airmen encountered trouble with their rudder and brought their red, white and blue monoplane to earth as soon as

ZOO BEAR KILLS FIRED KEEPER

CLEVELAND, July 8.—(AP.)—Fifteen minutes after he lost his job as an animal keeper, Thomas Earl, 56, walked into a pen at the Brookside Zoo, locked the gate behind him and was clawed to death today by a 900-pound Russian brown bear.

Earl was trying to force the bear, named Sunshine, because of an ordinarily docile disposition, into a pit when the animal in a sudden rage turned on him.

The beast rose on his haunches, grabbed Earl by the shoulders with a paw and began strangling and clawing him at the same time.

Other workers ran to the scene and vainly tried to drive Sunshine off with the ends of poles. Capt. Curley Wilson, superintendent of the zoo, then had two other keepers kill the bear with revolvers.

Wilson revealed that shortly before the tragedy "Earl got kind of smart so I fired him."

New Reparations Pact Agreed on by Powers; Young Plan Scrapped

Berlin's Payments Scaled Down to $750,000,000

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service.

LAUSANNE, July 8.—Agreement on a new reparations treaty, scrapping the Young plan and providing for liquidation of Germany's post-war obligations in a lump sum totaling $750,000,000, was reached by France, Germany and Great Britain here today.

Announcement of the agreement was made by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Britain, after a night-long series of conferences with Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany, and Premier Edouard Herriot, of France.

Representatives of Italy, Belgium and Japan officially accepted the agreement late this afternoon. A plenary session was set for 9 p. m., when Von Paper and Herriot will make speeches. The treaty will be signed tomorrow.

COMPLETE LIQUIDATION

Both Herriot and Von Papen, Premier MacDonald said, agreed that 3,000,000,000 marks (approximately $750,000,000) would be a satisfactory figure for complete liquidation of Germany's reparations obligations.

The question of war guilt, which threatened to disrupt the conference, was settled in a manner satisfactory to Germany by agreement to declare reparations as

BROWN SILENT ON POLITICS

Postmaster General Walter S. Brown, one of President Hoover's political advisers, maintained an overwhelming silence on political questions during his visit here today.

But about stamps, postal rates and the new postoffice here, which brought him flying from Toledo, the postmaster talked freely. He is to lay the corner stone of the new Federal Building today.

There's to be a drop in revenue for a while, he predicted, but the postal business eventually will overcome the rate increase.

Perry K. Heath, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of buildings, who also will take part in the cornerstone laying, declared the building might be finished before the scheduled date, January 1, 1934. They had lunch at the Duquesne Club.

Thomas A. Dunn, president of the chamber, will introduce the speakers. Bishop Alexander Mann, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will pronounce the invocation.

FIND CLERIC GUILTY IN GIRL CASE

Davidson May Take Appeal; Woman Kisses Him

LONDON, July 8.—(AP.)—The Rev. Harold F. Davidson, grey-haired rector of Stiffkey, was found guilty today on several of the charges of improper conduct with young women which he faced at the recent church trial here on an accusation of immorality.

F. K. North, chancellor of the diocese of Norwich, who presided at the trial, handed down the decision.

The clergyman, with his daughter "Paddy" and son Nugent, were present in the court when the verdict was rendered. His wife was not there.

RECTOR MAY APPEAL

The sentence will be pronounced later by the Bishop of Norwich, and it was indicated the rector may appeal.

The rector had denied all the charges in his picturesque defense at the trial, declaring he came to London from his country parish to do uplift work among unfortunate girls, hundreds of whom he said he helped.

This statement of the rector's, the Chancellor said in his decision, was a "tissue of absurdities" and the rector an absolutely discredited witness upon whom no reliance could be placed.

The charges of which the rector was found guilty included immoral conduct with Rose Ellis, a good-looking girl he picked up one night in notorious Leicester Square and made his secretary.

CHANCELLOR'S CHARGE

The Chancellor said he did not believe Miss Ellis ever was the rector's secretary in any real sense and added there had been immoral conduct on many occasions.

Another charge against the rector was having molested three girls whose names were given by the Chancellor.

"I'm not the least surprised. I expected this from the first."

Before he left the courtroom he was surrounded by a group of men and women, who shook his hand warmly and expressed their sorrow at the verdict. One girl rushed up and kissed him.

Garner Plans Rest By Hunting, Fishing

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(INS.)—Speaker John N. Garner, still weak from his recent attack of grip, plans a hunting and fishing trip of 10 days in West Texas before he goes to Albany, N. Y., to discuss the campaign with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ex-Cleveland Mayor Has Stroke at Sea

LONDON, July 8.—(INS.)—Stricken by paralysis in mid-ocean, Fred Kohler, 68, former Mayor and chief of police of Cleveland, O., arrived at Plymouth aboard the new French liner Champlain today.

He was immediately transferred to the New York-bound liner Paris on a stretcher.

Morgan on Crutches, Hurt on Golf Course

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—A fractured ankle may delay J. P. Morgan's annual vacation trip to the British Isles. The financier stepped into a hole Saturday while playing golf on his estate, Matinecock Point, New Glen Cove, Long Island, and is walking with crutches.

Mr. Hoover Obstructs Progress and Prosperity

THE EMASCULATION of the Garner-Wagner relief bill in the conference committee, which exhibited undue cowardice when confronted by the threat of a presidential veto, justifies the fear that Congress may give only lip service to the conception of effective unemployment relief.

An administration which has squandered thousands of millions of dollars in questionable loans of public funds to a "select clientele" of selfishly and dubiously managed banks and railroads, becomes especially alarmed when it is proposed to widen the circle of beneficiaries of public generosity.

The sacrifice in the conference of the all too inadequate authorization for job creating public works in the Garner-Wagner bill is a costly blunder, measured in terms not only of human suffering, but of national depression in the months that lie ahead.

IT MEANS THAT the national legislature, to which not only the 10,000,000 unemployed but the whole nation looked for constructive aid, is to be asked to follow the gospel of hesitation and negation, indifference and incompetence, which President Hoover in 1932 has substituted at the behest of the bankers for the sound doctrine of accelerating public works for the public benefit in time of subnormal business, which he himself as Secretary of Commerce advocated so fervently in 1923 and in subsequent years.

It is to be hoped that Congress, sensitive to the needs and desires of the people, will promptly restore the provision for an adequate bond issue to finance desirable public construction.

It is sheer hypocrisy to attempt to stifle economically sound employment proposals with the cry that a bond issue could not be sold.

And it is sheer economic stupidity to assert that an issue of five billion, or even ten billion dollars of bonds would result in harmful inflation.

IN WAR TIME, the treasury sold in excess of twenty billions of bonds in less than two years—and for destructive, non-reproductive purposes.

All sound economists now realize the absolute necessity of reasonable inflation to overcome the effect of the damaging deflation, which is continually aggravating and intensifying the ruinous cycle of depression.

All sound economists now urge that adequate bond issues be sold both for the purpose of investing, not dissipating, public funds in solid national improvements, and with the definite object of reflating the circulating medium as an offset to the deflation of progressive depression.

It is an unwarranted slander against the intelligence and patriotism of the American people to assume that they will buy bonds only for the purpose of slaughter, but not for social reconstruction and the restoration of prosperity.

The feeble, ineffective rag of a compromise bill which the conference committee has brought back to the House of Congress frustrates the hope not merely of the unemployed, but of a hundred million intelligent patriotic American citizens who hoped to see the depression ended by constructive economic measures.

UNDER THE VICIOUS conference compromise measure, demanded by Mr. Hoover and weakly agreed to by the conference committee, the proposed bond issue for public works has been almost wholly dispensed with.

After the conference with the President, only $132,000,000 out of twelve hundred million in the original Garner bill was left in the conference bill for highway construction. Even the inadequate $322,000,000 public works program of the conference committee was virtually scrapped by the stipulation that the Secretary of the Treasury, a mere messenger boy for the President, would determine whether the fiscal situation of the government warranted the expenditures.

The fiscal condition of the government has nothing to do with the situation. The fiscal condition of the government will always be ruinous as

Conference Off Until Taxes on Utilities Are Decided

HARRISBURG, July 8.—Hope of early relief from high light and power rates was blocked today by the attitude of Chairman W. D. B. Ainey, of the Public Service Commission.

After a conference with representatives of the Duquesne Light Company and the West Penn Power Company, Ainey announced postponement of further conferences on rates until after the adjournment of Legislature and Congress.

AWAITS TAX ACTION

His attitude was revealed after it was learned that other members of the commission favored a rate case against the Duquesne Light Company unless the conferences bring a sharp reduction in light rates.

The chairman said bills before Congress and Assembly, if adopted, would result in a flat increase of $1,500,000 in the annual tax bill of the West Penn Power Company. He did not say what would be imposed on the Duquesne Light Company if the bills were passed, but explained:

"The multiplicity of bills introduced in both Congress and the Assembly for increased taxation of public utility companies considerably alters their position now on the question of rate reductions. They will better be able to answer demands for reductions after both lawmaking bodies have adjourned and we know just exactly what the new tax measures are."

The West Penn Power Company was represented by David L. McCahill Commissioners Ainey, G. W. Woodruff and Samuel

MOTHER HURT IN FIRE RESCUE

Trying to rescue her two daughters from their burning home, Mrs. Marcella Steindoerfer, 347 Maple terrace, Mt. Washington, smashed a second floor window with a chair, this afternoon, suffering lacerations of both arms.

E. G. Baker, neighbor, seeing the smoke, ran into the blazing two-story frame dwelling, carried out the two girls, Rose Marie, 12, and Leona, 10, whom he found partly overcome in a second floor stairway, and led the mother down to safety.

The fire, starting in the basement, caused damage estimated at $2,000.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS HOLD UP ACTION ON RELIEF BILL

CAUCUS FAILS TO AGREE ON REPORT

New Meeting Set for Tomorrow to Seek Settlement

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Final action by the Senate on the compromise $2,122,000,000 unemployment relief bill was delayed today for 24 hours at least when a caucus of Democratic Senators failed to reach an agreement on supporting the conference report.

The Democrats met for an hour, discussing all phases of the relief situation. They adjourned just before noon, announcing that another conference would be held tomorrow. Meanwhile, no action will be taken by the Senate on the relief bill.

Minority Leader Robinson (Dem.), of Arkansas, said:

"No definite decision was reached as to action on the bill. We will meet again tomorrow."

ACTION SURPRISES

Failure of the Democratic Senators to agree on supporting the bill occasioned much surprise. In the House the bill was supported by virtually the entire Democratic membership after Speaker Garner clashed with President Hoover over the inclusion of a provision authorizing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to private corporations and individuals.

There was so much opposition from Democratic senators to the "individual relief" clause that a committee was named to confer with Garner in hopes of compromising the controversy between the Speaker and President Hoover. Senators Robinson, Wagner, New York, and Bulkley, Ohio, were named to confer with Garner.

WAGNER, GARNER MEET

Wagner and Garner met shortly after noon. If Garner should agree to eliminate the individual aid clause, the conference report would be rejected by the Senate. Then, a new conference would be ordered at which the bill would be modified to meet Mr. Hoover's objections.

One reason prompting Democratic senators to intervene in the Hoover-Garner controversy was their desire to speed adjournment of Congress. If the bill should be enacted in its present form, they argued, the President will veto it and indefinitely prolong the present session. They said the veto could be sustained in the House, giving Congress the choice of enacting a new bill conforming with the President's views or adjourning without passing relief legislation.

FUGITIVES FACE LINDY QUIZ

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP.)—Two escaped convicts whose penchant for gold led to their recapture are to be questioned about the Lindbergh kidnaping.

Thomas Holden and Francis L. Keating, who were captured yesterday in Kansas City after a long watch by federal officers upon golf courses in different sections of the country, are to be asked about their movements around March 1.

The two men were arrested as they left a public golf course in Kansas City. A watch had been kept upon golf courses because of the liking the men were known to have for the game.

EARLY RATE CUT BLOCKED

DELAY GRANTED

The first conference was held two weeks ago, but Duquesne Light officials asked further time to consider the result of an investigation of the company's financial statement, made by auditors employed by the commission. It is expected the question of rates will come up today.

An investigation, if ordered by the Commission, it is held, would require months for testimony and a re-valuation of properties, which it is claimed, would be necessary to fix new rates.

Frank R. Phillips, chairman of the board of the Duquesne Light Company, said he would be gratified because of decreasing revenues if Pittsburgh councilmen would definitely reject the new rate schedule offered this week. Gov. Pinchot yesterday assailed that proposed reduction as "just another dime a month offer to a majority of the Duquesne Light Company customers."

He contends the reduction is grossly inadequate and represents only about 11 per cent of the $6,000,000 excessive profit which he contends the company takes from its customers annually.

Waldschmidt Told To Seek Further Cut

Dissatisfied with the Duquesne Light Company's new rate reduction offer, City Council today had ordered Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to continue negotiations for a larger slash. The new offer would mean a saving of $700,000 to domestic consumers, Council discovered, but consumers with seven rooms or less would only save 10 cents a month.

The decision to continue negotiations was reached at a closed conference late yesterday in the City Council chamber. Present were Waldschmidt, his assistant, Charles P. Lang, and Councilmen Clifford B. Connelley, William Y. English, President John S. Herron, William J. Soost and P. J. McArdle. After the meeting McArdle said:

"Council appears satisfied with the offer as it affects rooms and homes above the seven-room class. But the small home owner does not get a break. His cut of only 10 cents per month is no better than that offered by the company last February."

A resolution by Councilman English, chairman of the Finance Committee, that the Governor, Public Service Commission and Legislature be asked to take a hand in fixing rate structures and that steps be taken to prevent utilities companies from cutting service in the event of litigation, was not discussed at the conference.

Whipping 'Willie' Splits Lords, Commons

LONDON, July 8.—(AP.)—While the world was worrying about disarmament, reparations and depression, the British House of Lords and House of Commons took time out to fight a round in their old scrap over the question of whipping little Willie.

The issue concerns juvenile offenders, and whether policemen should birch them if magistrates order them to do so.

The government's children's bill contained no such clause, but the House of Lords inserted one after several peers had testified that birching had done them good in their youth.

Last week, the House of Commons eliminated the whipping clause and returned it to the peers, who promptly put it back. The bill now goes back to Commons.

DISARM PARLEY IN TREATY ROW

GENEVA, July 8.—(INS.)—Germany's desire to invalidate the military clauses of the Versailles treaty today placed a new stumbling block in the way of success for the disarmament conference.

German delegates announced they wished suppression of Part V of the treaty, replacing them with the findings of the disarmament conference. French opposition to any tampering with the Versailles treaty was inevitable.

The general committee of the conference met for an hour and a half this afternoon. Representatives of nine nations spoke in praise of the Hoover disarmament proposal.

Negotiations will proceed over the weekend, with hopes that a draft resolution may be completed by Monday or Tuesday and submitted to the steering committee.

The draft resolution drawn up by Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, outlining the British views, was confidentially circulated among the various delegations. It was learned the American delegation considered it "A sound basis for negotiations, although requiring certain modifications to comply with the views of the United States."

FIGHT FOR BEER DELAYED IN SENATE

Jersey Senator Seeks To Force Record Repeal Vote

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The battle over legalizing beer was sidetracked temporarily in the Senate early this afternoon when Senator Barbour (Rep.), of New Jersey, started a move to force a record vote on the issue of submitting repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the people.

Barbour moved to discharge the Senate Judiciary Committee from further consideration of his repeal resolution. This would provide an indirect vote on the issue of repeal.

NORRIS WILLING

Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, chairman of the committee, announced he had no objection to his committee being discharged. There was every indication, however, that Democratic senators would defeat the motion even though their platform called for repeal of the amendment.

The Barbour proposal would substitute a new amendment for the Eighteenth, retaining constitutional prohibition for those states which desire it, but permitting wet states to regulate their own liquor traffic. It would be based upon the old states' rights doctrine.

In the House, the petition of 76 wet Republicans to Speaker John N. Garner, asking for a vote on beer before Congress adjourns, was presented from the floor by Representative LaGuardia, of New York, secretary of the Republican wet bloc.

REPLY BALKED

He read the petition to Representative Woodrum (Dem.), of Virginia, who was temporarily in the chair while Garner was holding a conference in his office.

Pennsylvania representatives signing the petition were Stokes, Douthrich, Brumm, Connolly, Ransley, Sullivan, Campbell, Wolfenden, Golder, Erk, Watson, Coyle, Estep and Darrow.

U. S. Willing to Study Debt Proposals

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP.)—State Department officials said today the United States will gladly receive any proposals which European debtors of this country may care to make for reconsideration of war debts settlements.

Department officials are gratified that the Lausanne conference has finally reached a definite compromise on the tangled problem of reparations.

It was said this government now stands ready to fulfill its promise that it would consider a revision of the debt arrangements as soon as European powers reached an agreement on the reparations problem.

Crowd Boos Drys At Raid in Erie

ERIE, Pa., July 8.—(AP.)—As prohibition agents raided the old Holland House last night, an angry crowd of 500 gathered and booed, slashed the agents' automobile tires and put sand in the radiators.

The raiders seized ale, liquor and bar fixtures. Louis Leonetti, 31, was arrested as the alleged proprietor.

BONUS BRIGADE REDS DROP MARCH

Abandon Parade After Being Denied Entry To Capitol

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP.)—A refusal by Capitol authorities to permit their entrance into the grounds today caused the Communist wing of the bonus marchers' army to cancel their march up Pennsylvania avenue.

Several hundred men had assembled at Washington Monument for the march when the plans were changed.

DRAFT PROTEST

A committee was selected to draft a "protest" to Congress against the refusal. Speakers urged the men to go individually or in small groups to the Capitol.

Other speakers attacked the "dictatorship" of Walter W. Waters, the commander-in-chief of the bonus army.

FARES UP TO HOOVER

Whether the thousands of bonus marchers in the capital can borrow enough money for the federal government to pay their railroad fare home is up to President Hoover—and he asked Congress for legislation to that end.

The House and Senate late yesterday approved and sent to the White House a bill to appropriate $100,000 for railroad fare and subsistence allowances of 75 cents a day to honorably discharged veterans encamped here. The money must be repaid or deducted from the bonus when it becomes due.

Bonus Recruiting Station Opened

A recruiting station for the bonus army was opened today at the north end of the Sixth Street Bridge, in a national drive to swell the ranks at Camp Marks, Washington.

Jack McDuffy and H. E. Funk, 1213 Arch street, North Side, who led a contingent from West Park two weeks ago, are directing recruiting, under orders from Camp Adjutant W. F. Ormsby. McDuffy will sign recruits and give information, while Funk will seek donations of food, clothing and transportation. Donors are requested to telephone Fairfax 0280, and arrangements will be made to collect donations.

CRASH IN MUD

According to all indications, it would have been a happy landing except for the fact that in the darkness they picked out a sticky bog for a landing field. Their plane crumpled as the undercarriage caught in the mud and the airmen were pitched about in their seats, sustaining injuries which were not believed to be serious.

Griffin and Mattern had completed about half of the distance between Berlin and Moscow when they landed. They took off from the Templehof Aerodrome, Berlin, at 4 p. m. (Pittsburgh time) Wednesday, and had planned to reach Moscow in 7 hours or less.

Wives Proud, Elated Over Fliers' Safety

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Bennett Griffin, when told this morning that her husband and Jimmy Mattern had wrecked their plane near Borisov on their proposed round-the-world flight, said:

FORT WORTH Tex., July 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jimmie Mattern heard with mingled relief and disappointment this morning that her husband and Bennett Griffin had been forced down in Russia. She admitted she had been "a little anxious."

World Fliers' Crash Regretted by Post

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8.—(AP.)—Wiley Post, whose 8½-day round-the-world record Bennett Griffin and Jimmie Mattern were trying to beat, was almost as disappointed as anyone because the fliers wrecked their plane in a Russian peat bog. He said:

"They were making wonderful time and it is too bad they had to crash."

such to be a "thing of the past."

A phrase relegating reparations to the limbo of things past and gone will be included in the preamble of the treaty. Henceforth, reparations are to be known as Germany's "contribution to European reconstruction."

TREATY IGNORED

The treaty of Versailles will not be mentioned in the document, Von Papen backing down in his demand that the new agreement formally included abrogation of the reparations clauses of the Versailles document.

The figure contrasts with the sum of approximately $125,000,000,000 originally demanded of Germany by the former Allied nations in the form of reparations.

Under the terms of the agreement, reparations bonds will be issued at 90 for 3,000,000,000 marks, cutting the cash value of the reparations payment to 2,700,000,000 marks.

The bonds will not be issued for three years. If they are not put on the market within 15 years, the issue will automatically be nullified.

They will carry interest of 5 per cent and a 37-year period of amortization.

Under the terms of the agreement, Germany's annual payments of $6,250,000 to the United States to cover costs of the American Army of Occupation will continue.

Grover W. Curry, 40, was found dead in a houseboat on the Monongahela River at the foot of Hazelwood avenue today. Police said Curry had been living there several days. Cause of death was not determined.

ORDERS JURGES TO FACE GIRL

CHICAGO, July 8.—(AP.)—Judge John Sbarbaro today warned Bill Jurges, Chicago Cub shortstop, that he would issue a subpena to bring him to court if he persisted in his refusal to appear against Violet Valli, who shot the ball player and herself Wednesday.

Miss Valli was unable to appear in court today when her case was called. She was charged with assault with intent to kill and the hearing set for July 15. Her bond was set at $7,500. Judge Sbarbaro said:

"I understand Mr. Jurges doesn't want to prosecute, but you, Mr. Officer, you bring him to court or I'll issue a subpena for him."

Jurges, who was shot in the right side and left hand by the young divorcee Wednesday, was reported recovering rapidly today. Miss Valli, transferred to the Bridewell Hospital, was suffering from a bullet wound in the wrist, inflicted when Jurges struggled with her for the revolver.

Moratorium Urged For Shipping Lines

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP.)—Chairman T. V. O'Connor, of the Shipping Board, told newspapermen at the White House today he had sought the backing of President Hoover for a moratorium on the repayment of loans to shipping lines from the board's $250,000,000 revolving fund.

Nick Cullop Faces Arrest for Alimony

MINNEAPOLIS, July 8.—(AP.)—A bench warrant was issued today for Henry N. (Nick) Cullop, baseball player now with Columbus, of the American Association. It charged contempt of court resulting from alleged non-payment of alimony.

Chaplin Richest of Stars; Mary and Doug Next

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 8.—(AP.)—Three of Hollywood's most famous figures—Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, all of whom were pioneers in the film industry—are indicated as the screen colony's three wealthiest individuals in tax assessment rolls published today.

Chaplin listed taxable stocks and bonds at prices prevalent on March 1, of $7,687,570. Cash and solvent credits amounting to $295,000 also were listed by the film comedian.

Second to Chaplin on the tax rolls is Mary Pickford, with stocks worth $2,316,940, interests in foreign trusts amounting to $176,190 and real estate valued at $192,260.

Mary's husband, Douglas Fairbanks, ranks third with stocks worth $1,384,690, interests in foreign trusts of $236,760, and real estate assessed at $75,480, in addition to his home, listed at $70,170.

How much wealth the stars have in non-taxable securities was a matter of conjecture.

Harold Lloyd carries most of his taxable wealth in real estate, his home being assessed at $190,480, its furniture at $40,750, and other property at $152,780. He has $174,450 invested in taxable stocks.

Greta Garbo's automobile is taxed only $220.

John Barrymore's bird aviary has an assessed valuation of $500.

Uncle Bob, Betty on Farm But Comics Still Go On

Uncle Bob and Betty are going to forget the broadcasting studio for two weeks, and expect to get a lot of rest and recreation on Uncle Tobias' farm in Westmoreland County.

Little Betty has had this trip on her mind several weeks, and has made unusual preparations for her first visit to her uncle and his big farm.

Last night she shyly showed Uncle Bob three sets of gorgeous beach pajamas which she will wear in the country. He remarked:

"I'm afraid of those red pajamas. The papa cows don't like them. They are liable to chase you off the farm."

Well, anyway Uncle Bob and Betty made their last pre-vacation broadcast of the Sun-Telegraph comics over WCAE last night. For two weeks they'll be missed by thousands of youngsters and grown-ups, all of whom wish Uncle Bob and particularly little Betty, a happy vacation.

This popular team of fun makers on the radio will surely get a big welcome when they come back to WCAE at the end of their visit with Uncle Tobias.

In the meantime, however, the Sun-Telegraph comics will be read by Uncle Bumpus and Billy every Tuesday and Thursday night at six o'clock and Sunday at 12:30 noon, until Uncle Bob and Betty return from the farm.

OIL KING SEES NATION ARISE FROM SLUMP

Golf, Family Dinner Feature Birthday Celebration

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller, who has lived through seven major depressions and has reached the conclusion that worry poisons the system, is 93 years old today. He says:

"Prosperity has always returned and will again."

CONFIDENCE IN NATION

At his 8,000-acre estate at Tarrytown today, Mr. Rockefeller assiduously applied himself to the business of living to be 100 and maybe more. He has been at it since he gave up, 21 years ago, control of about seven-eighths of the oil industry of the country.

The retired oil king's annual birthday statement said:

"I desire to reaffirm my belief in the fundamental principles upon which this country has been founded—liberty, unselfish devotion to the common good and belief in God."

Mr. Rockefeller spent his birthday as he spends most of his days now, in a quiet, leisurely manner with his family.

FAMILY DINNER TONIGHT

He rose at 8 o'clock (daylight time), had a light breakfast of fruit juice and cereal, and then took a slow stroll about the lawn adjacent to the mansion at Pocantico Hills, receiving the greetings of his employes.

Later he played a few holes of golf on his private course, staying out until 11:30 because of the fine cool day.

Tonight there will be an informal family dinner at which Mr. Rockefeller's son, John D., Jr., and the latter's children, will be the only guests.

John D.'s Daughter Takes Cheaper Home

CHICAGO, July 8.—(INS.)—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick today "celebrated" the ninety-third birthday of her father, John D., Sr., by moving from her palatial Lake Shore home into a hotel suite.

Mrs. McCormick has four rooms in the hotel. All her possessions, including a famous gold dinner service, have been packed for removal from her mansion. Reduced income was given as the reason.

Weather Conditions.

The low pressure that caused the local storms over this section yesterday afternoon is now centered over Quebec, and the weather has become settled nearly everywhere from the Atlantic coast to the central plains. The showers and thunderstorms were general between the Atlantic coast and the Mississippi River. The rainfall was mostly light, but generous, and in some localities moderately heavy. A ridge of high pressure, with its crest over the Gulf of Mexico extends northwestward over the plains states. Temperature changes were slight, but towards cooler, generally over the lake region, the Ohio Valley and Mississippi Valley states.

River Conditions.

Generous rains occurred again yesterday afternoon over the entire river district. The effect on the rivers was merely to check the fall, except in the Upper Ohio, where there was still a slight rise yesterday morning, a further slight rise occurred. Stage at Franklin is 1.4 feet; Lock No. 7 (Mon.), 18.5; Pittsburgh, 13.4; Dam No. 4, 10.6; No. 6, 10.3; No. 10, 9.1, and No. 12, 11.3. The dams are up.

YANCEY, FLIER, FEARED LOST

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 8.—(INS.)—Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, famous New York-to-Rome flier, was feared to be the victim of an accident today after he had failed to reach the Cheyenne airport on an autogiro flight from Rapid City, S. D.

Capt. Yancey left Rapid City early yesterday. He landed at a ranch near Newcastle, Wyo., 250 miles north of here, and took off from there at 4:30 p. m. Since that time no word has been received of his whereabouts.

Reports reaching here said that Capt. Yancey was suffering from a broken hand sustained while flying near Salt Lake City more than a week ago and that he was handling the plane with a wire attached to the splints on the hand.

Cermak Improved, Will Keep on Job

CHICAGO, July 8.—(AP.)—Dr. Frank J. Jirka, son-in-law, and physician to Mayor Anton J. Cermak, who was sent to a hospital yesterday for a rest, said his patient was "much improved, more relaxed and resting comfortably" today.

The Mayor's condition caused several city officials to suggest an acting mayor be named in his place, but there were indications today that Cermak would keep his finger in municipal affairs.

Commons Passes Irish Goods Levy

LONDON, July 8.—(AP.)—By a vote of 222 to 30, the House of Commons today passed on third reading a measure empowering the government to levy a duty up to 100 per cent on all imports from the Irish Free State.

The bill was approved at the request of J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, who described it as the only means of retaliation for the Free State's refusal to meet installments on the Irish land annuities.

BOHN KIDNAPING ARRESTS SEEN

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 8.—(INS.)—Supplied with clues furnished by the victim, police today were confident they were nearing the end of the trail in the hunt for the abductors of Haskell Bohn.

While the 20-year-old son of the manufacturer, Gebhard C. Bohn, recuperated at home from the fatigue and anxiety of his six-day captivity, St. Paul and Ramsey County authorities co-operated in their efforts to capture the kidnapers.

Whatever clues the authorities possess, they revealed, were given by young Bohn during several hours of questioning after the youth had been released by his captors on a lonely road near Lake Minnetonka.

Turnkey Killed Examining Pistol

PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—(AP.)—Policeman Joseph Mears, 47, was accidentally shot and killed while examining the pistol of another policeman last night in the station where he was a turnkey.

Prince Asks Divorce From American Wife

NICE, July 8.—(INS.)—Prince Ludovici Pignatelli D'Aragon, member of an old and aristocratic Italian family, filed suit today for divorce from the former Ruth Morgan Waters, of Philadelphia. Papers in the suit were served upon the American-born princess at her hotel in Cannes.

Prince Pignatelli, who is in the automobile business in Nice, said his suit also was aimed at depriving his wife of her title of nobility.

HUTTON JUDGE THREATENED; GETS GUARD

Nurse Screams for Opportunity to Defend Name

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—(AP.)—Additional deputy sheriffs were ordered today to guard the courtroom where Myrtle Joan St. Pierre's $200,000 breach of promise suit against David Hutton is nearing an end.

Superior Judge Lester Roth asked for the guard after finding a threatening letter in his chambers. He said the letter, printed roughly in pencil and having suspended from one corner a bullet, demanded he instruct the jury to return a verdict in favor of the husband of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist.

The note read:

"Dear Judge, please see the jury gets instructions for a Hutton verdict. If you don't, through no fault of ours, that blackmailing schemer gets one of these. You save bloodshed, if you follow instructions."

CASE NEAR JURY

With testimony completed, arguments in the case were to be made today. The case was expected to reach the jury by tomorrow.

Miss St. Pierre became hysterical when she testified in rebuttal yesterday in an attempt to show Hutton betrayed her under promise of marriage before he married the evangelist. She shouted:

"Please give me a chance to tell the real situation."

In the corridors of the courthouse there was a disturbance between Roy Watkins, Hutton's private investigator, and one of a number of women claiming to be associated with Angelus Temple.

DON'T BELIEVE DAVE

The women, who recently presented Miss St. Pierre a basket of flowers, sought entrance to the courtroom and were blocked by Watkins. One of the group, Mrs. Orma Lawrence, screamed:

"He says I don't belong to Angelus Temple, just because I gave Miss St. Pierre flowers and believe her instead of Dave."

Aimee Declares Her Belief in Dave

ARROWHEAD HOT SPRINGS, Cal., July 8.—(AP.)—From a wheel chair, cushioned with pillows, Aimee McPherson Hutton denounced rumors that all was not well between herself and her husband, Dave Hutton. She said:

"I believe David is in the right. Nothing has marred our devotion. I am so tired of people's prying."

Brief Service Held For Ex-King Manuel

LONDON, July 8.—(AP.)—Brief funeral services were held today for former King Manuel of Portugal, at St. Charles Roman Catholic Church in Weybridge, Surrey.

The body will remain in a crypt in the church until Thursday, when there will be a requiem mass.

SECRET INQUEST IN DEATH OF REYNOLDS

'Torch Singer' Sobs at Grave; Called as Witness

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 8.—(AP.)—Dr. W. N. Dalton, county coroner, today ordered an inquest into the death of Smith Reynolds and set it for late this afternoon.

Dalton, who had said he would officially record the death of young Reynolds as a suicide, summoned a jury of six men today, took it to the Reynolds estate to view the body and then ordered the inquest.

He summoned as witnesses the several house guests of the Reynolds' as well as the members of a dinner party at the home earlier on the night of the shooting.

LIBBY SUMMONED

Among the witnesses called were Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds, the widow; C. G. Hill, in whose honor the dinner party was held; Miss Blanche Yurka, New York actress, a guest in the home; Ab Walker, the first man to reach Reynolds after he was shot and Roy Kranrer, of Flushing, N. Y., Reynolds' tutor.

The Coroner said he would bar newspapermen from the inquest.

The first major development in the investigation of the mysterious shooting of the young tobacco heir at his palatial home here Wednesday, came a short time after simple funeral services for Reynolds were held this morning.

Mrs. Reynolds, "torch singing" star of many New York revues, who collapsed upon learning of her husband's death, came out of seclusion for the first time since the shooting to attend the services.

The former Libby Holman sat beside her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Holman, and wept silently throughout the services at the home.

SINGER COLLAPSES

As the party left for the cemetery, Mrs. Reynolds leaned heavily upon the arm of her father as she walked to an automobile. After being assisted in, she appeared to collapse on Holman's shoulder.

Apparently she was badly shaken during the brief commital service at the grave, sitting with her head on her father's shoulder and with her mother's arm around her.

Then she was almost carried back to the automobile and driven to the Reynolds estate.

The services were in charge of Dr. D. Clay Lilly, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Reynolda village. He spoke briefly of young Reynolds' sturdy personality and daring as an aviator.

Clady in deep black, Mrs. Reynolds began to weep as the clergyman referred to her husband's qualities and praised his daring in attempting to circle the globe before reaching his majority.

In the ride of several miles from the estate to Salem Cemetery, Mrs. Reynolds and her parents occupied a car immediately behind the hearse.

'What a Man' Again At Home With 'Ma'

HERMOSA BEACH, Cal., July 8.—(AP.)—In the seaside cottage where they spent their honeymoon, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy-Hudson and Guy Edward Hudson, are together again. Mrs. Hudson said there is no thought of divorce now, or even further separation. She added:

"We won't be separated any more unless Mr. Hudson should find a job that takes him away from home. I won't let anything stand in the way of a job for him."

Beadling Building Destroyed by Fire

Lighting up the countryside for miles, fire early today destroyed the one-story frame building of the Mt. Lebanon Brick and Supply Company, in Beadling, causing damage estimated at $14,000. Mt. Lebanon and Bridgeville firemen extinguished the blaze.

Guest at Fatal Party

MISS BLANCHE YURKA . . . GUEST OF THE SMITH REYNOLDS'

Miss Yurka, revealed as one of the guests at the gay house party in the Zachary Smith Reynolds mansion at Winston-Salem, N. C., climaxed by the suicide of the host within earshot of his famed wife, throaty Libby Holman, young Broadway torch-singer.

TWO MEN HELD IN VETS' DEATHS

As World War veterans today paid a last military tribute to a comrade killed Tuesday in an argument over patriotism, a Coroner's jury held a suspect in the slaying on Flag Day of another McKeesport district ex-soldier killed in a dispute over the flag.

Harry Padrewski, 42, of 309 Sarah street, McKeesport, was recommended held for grand jury in the death of Frank Kaminsky, 38, of Long Run road, Versailles Township. Witnesses testified Padrewski hit Kaminsky with a wagon tongue, causing fatal injuries.

McKeesport American Legion post members held a military funeral for Tony Apostalides, 42. The body lay in state at the Burt Foster Post home until the time of the services. Police are holding George Eraklis, of McKeesport, for the fatal shooting.

Two Hurt in Plane Fall Die Within Hour

RIDGWAY, Pa., July 8.—(AP.)—Injured when their plane crashed on a highway, two youthful fliers died within an hour of each other in a hospital here last night.

The victims, Joseph Klingle, 23, the pilot, and Walter Sundell, 30, both of Ridway, suffered broken arms and legs in the wreck, Wednesday.

REBELS IN PERU SEIZE CITY

LIMA, Peru, July 8.—(AP.)—The important commercial city of Trujillo was seized by civilian rebels today after a long and bloody battle with loyalist troops, and the Congress declared a state of seige as the government sent reinforcements to the scene.

"A number of persons" were known to have been killed in the movement at Trujillo, as well as in skirmishes between revolting civilians and police at Puerto Chicama and Paijan.

The first outbreak occurred at Trujillo early yesterday, when 400 civilians attacked the small forces of the first artillery troops and police units. There followed looting and burning, but the extent of the pillage was unknown.

The rebels were described by the government as Communists. Other sources said they were members of the Aprista, which is a group of revolutionaries who deny contact with Moscow.

New Chile President Swears in Cabinet

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 8.—(AP.)—Carlos G. Davila, who became acting president of Chile yesterday when two members of his governing junta resigned, today swore in a reorganized cabinet and announced the junta was at an end.

SALVAGE SHIPS SEEK TO REACH SUNKEN SUB

No Sound From Phone Buoy; Censorship Established

BULLETIN

LONDON, July 8.—(INS.)—A censorship was established on news from Cherbourg tonight following reports that Commander Du Mesnil of the submarine Promethee had committed suicide. Admiral Ledo, commander of the Cherborug naval base, acted after denying officially the suicide report.

CHERBOURG, France, July 8.—(AP.)—Salvage vessels hovering above the spot where the submarine Promethee went down yesterday reported air bubbles on the surface this afternoon.

They also found the Promethee's telephone buoy, but there was no sound from the other end of the wire.

The submarine, with more than 60 men aboard, lay in 245 feet of water, seven miles north of Cape Levi.

It is a bad spot, with treacherous currents and an uneven bottom. The prevailing impression ashore was that raising her would be an almost impossible task.

SALVAGE SHIP CALLED

Nevertheless the first thing the authorities did this morning when the hull was located was to call for help from the Italian salvage vessel Artiglio II which left Brest for Cherbourg immediately. The Italian ship recently raised $5,000,000 in gold from the sunken steamer Egypt.

In the meantime the navy concentrated on the rescue, the complete power of its own resources. Three tugs, two submarines and four seaplanes took up the quest over the spot where the Promethee went down suddenly yesterday during tests which were being made to correct irregularities in its mechanism.

SURVIVOR JOINS RESCUE

With Admiral Malavoye, chief of the rescue crew, was Lieut. Couespel Du Mesnil, commander of the ill-fated submarine, who was saved, with six others, when the ship went down yesterday by being hurled into the sea.

Throughout the night searchers for the hull were hampered by the fact that the buoy, to which Lieut. Du Mesnil and his colleagues had clung until they were rescued by a fishing craft, had sunk, but it was again visible as the tide fell.

Officials of the maritime prefecture said they were still unable to form any definite opinion as to the cause of the sudden sinking of the submarine. They said they knew nothing of reports it was sunk by an explosion, but a trawler, which crossed the spot, reported a large spot of oil over the place soon after the ship went down.

MYSTERY CAUSE

The seven survivors knew nothing of an explosion, they said. All they could say was they were on the deck at the time and felt the submarine sink abruptly under them, as if it had sprung a sudden leak. A moment later they found themselves struggling in the sea, without a suspicion of what had caused the tragedy. Naval authorities said that, with no evidence of what happened inside the ship, they could not even conjecture the cause.

Lieut. Du Mesnil said he was not able to explain the accident. He said:

"I heard a noise on the deck, and thinking a man was overboard, I sprang up the ladder. I was dumfounded to see the deck awash, and as I climbed out the hatch I felt the ship sink under me and I was thrown into the sea. It is impossible to explain how it happened."

NEW SUBMARINE

It was estimated 49 members of the crew and 17 others, including engineers and workmen, went down with the ship. The correspondent of the Paris newspaper Le Matin, however, estimated the number at 70.

All the rescue operations, and the hope of the navy that at least some of the men might have survived within the ship, were based upon the theory that they might have found time to close the water-tight hatches before the seas rushed into the hold, after which the ship sank like a flash.

Athlete Risks Title To Save Sweetheart

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 8.—(AP.)—Goyless Hill, of Tulane, national intercollegiate heavyweight boxing champion, has risked his chances for an Olympic title in an effort to help save the life of his sweetheart.

The boxer gave a pint of blood to Miss Peggy O'Neal, 21, whom he has admitted he hopes to marry, after physicians pronounced her in a critical condition from sunstroke suffered on a yachting party.

Court to Sentence Curtis on Monday

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 8.—(INS.)—John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk (Va.) shipbuilder, convicted of obstructing investigation into the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, will be sentenced by County Judge Robbins Monday.

Only if his lawyers succeeded at the last moment in obtaining a certificate of reasonable doubt preparatory to an appeal for a new trial, was there to be delay in imposing sentence.

Gibbons on Air Tonight From Speeding Train

BOSTON, July 8.—For the first time in his varied career, Floyd Gibbons, headline hunter and famed radio broadcaster, will speak from a moving train in a special broadcast arranged through the National Broadcasting Company by the Boston Evening American tonight.

Floyd, en route to Boston for a theater engagement, will extend his greetings to this city from the Boston and Maine's "Minute Man," running from Troy, N. Y., in the vicinity of Fitchburg, Mass.

The broadcast will start at 6:30 p. m. and last 14 minutes, over Station WBZ in Boston and WBZA in Springfield, NBC's New England stations.

The Boston and Maine will add a special car to the "Minute Man," which will be equipped with radio short-wave antennae and the necessary broadcasting appliances.

Gibbons has just returned from the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, which he covered for Universal Service and International News Service.

BUTLER SHUNS G.O.P. TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Dry Republican Puts Faith in Repealist Democrats

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., retired, ardent dry and recent candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate from Pennsylvania, announces that he will support Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner in the presidential campaign.

In the following signed article Gen. Butler gives his reasons for deserting the Republican leadership and supporting the Democratic candidates.

By MAJ. GEN. SMEDLEY D. BUTLER

U. S. Marine Corps, Retired.

(Copyright by N. Y. American and Universal Service, Inc. All rights reserved.)

As long as there has been a Republican party, the members of my family have been Republican voters. Shortly after he was mustered out of the Union Army, following service in the Civil War, my grandfather, Samuel Butler, was elected by the Republicans of his district (Chester County, Pennsylvania), to represent them in the State Legislature.

Maj. Gen. Butler

Since that time, a Republican Butler has served my native state, without interruption, as an elected official. My great uncle, William Butler, was elected to the bench of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania about that same time, and there has been a Republican Butler on the bench of Pennsylvania from that day to this. My father, Thomas S. Butler, was sent to Congress by the Republicans of his district for 16 consecutive terms, serving for 32 years in the national House of Representatives.

Always Republican

I have voted the Republican ticket regularly since I cast my first vote. I have cast ballots for Roosevelt, Taft, Hughes, Harding and Coolidge and only my absence in China in 1928 prevented me for voting for Hoover. I was a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate from Pennsylvania at the primary election this year.

But, in November, I shall vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner—Democrats.

I am a dry. I had a dry plank in my platform in my campaign for the Senate.

But, in November, I shall cast my vote for Roosevelt and Garner—repealists.

To a Butler and to a Marine, it was not easy to reach a decision to leave, if only temporarily, a mooring of such long standing. This year, however, it is not a question of party, but a question of men; not a question of platform planks, but a question of principles; it is not a question of re-submission or repeal, but a question of economic rehabilitation.

It is not a question of political affiliation—it is purely a question of who is the man to lead our nation's forces to victory in this war against depression and discontent and demoralization.

Believes in Ticket

My vote will be cast for Roosevelt and Garner—not because they are Democrats, but because I believe the Democratic standard bearers and the principles for which they stand will avert a possible national catastrophe; because I believe they will make every sincere effort to restore the government of our nation to the people themselves.

I am not casting aside my Republicanism in thus voting the Democratic ticket this year. I am still a Republican, but I am distrustful of the present leadership of that party.

In my platform for the United States Senate I had a dry plank; my opponent was a wet. Yet, because I am not a fanatic on the subject, I appealed for wet votes as well as dry votes (and received them) because I felt then, as I now feel, that prohibition is not the vital issue of the day.

Economic rehabilitation is the only true issue, and rehabilitation must start, as Franklin Roosvelt has said, at the bottom of the pyramid with the "forgotten man."

G. O. P. 'Evasive'

As a matter of fact, there is little for a dry to choose between the craftily worded, evasive, re-submission plank of the Republican leadership and the frank, repeal plank of the Democrats.

Neither bodes well for the drys. It was evident, to all experienced observers at the Republican national convention, that the delegates there assembled were preponderantly for repeal, as were the delegates to the Democratic convention. Yet, the Republican delegates were steam-rollered into voting for a re-submission plank.

Both platforms now favor submission to the people of the liquor question. But party platforms do not change constitutions; Presidents and Vice Presidents do not change constitutions. It will be the members of Congress who will determine whether the people shall vote on the question; and then the people, themselves, will decide to continue prohibition or not.

Big Issue

Honest drys, like all other Americans, must submerge, for the moment, their family squabbles and personal beliefs on this and other minor issues, because, transcending in importance, is the economic question. The drys must not obscure the main issue. Those industrialists and capitalists seeking to shift the burden of taxation from their own shoulders to that of the working class, have attempted to make the dry question the chief issue, and the wet press, partly for the same reason, has aided them in their efforts. If the vote of the drys in the presidential election is guided exclusively by this question, they will have fallen into the trap set by the millionaire wets—they will indeed be fanatics.

I have known Franklin Roosevelt for almost 20 years. In 1916, when I was a major in the Marines, serving in Haiti, I came to know Gov. Roosevelt intimately. About my own age, Mr. Roosevelt was then Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the first aide of that great wartime Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels. Mr. Roosevelt visited Haiti at that time and was my guest during his stay. We toured the island together, lived together and worked together. Later, when I was in Washington, or stationed at Quantico, and Mr. Roosevelt was in virtual charge of the Marine Corps while Mr. Daniels gave all of his attention to the Navy during these stirring days, I renewed my acquaintance with him. I came to know him as a dear friend, as an able executive, as a liberal thinker, as a man of broad vision, as a fighter and a doer, and most of all, as a great humanitarian.

'Jack' Garner

When "Jack" Garner came to Washington for his first term in Congress, my father, who had been there for some years, took a great liking to him, which continued until my father's death a few years ago. Although on opposite sides of the political fence, there was no man serving in Congress for whom my father, a great judge of men, had greater regard and affection than John Garner.

My vote, therefore, will be cast for the men I consider best able to lead us in this war against depression. Today, purged of the Smith-Raskob-Wall street influence, the Democratic party is the liberal or progressive party of our nation.

The present leadership of the great Republican party has led it back to Toryism.

PLANNING HER DEFENSE

Miss Mulhern, actress and former wife of Film Actor Jack Pickford, pictured in her New York apartment telling the reasons why she shouldn't pay back rent of $2,150 plus interest for which she's used. She says she never occupied the apartment, cancelled the lease. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

Mr. Hoover Obstructs Progress and Prosperity

long as the incompetent Hoover administration remains in office.

The solvency and borrowing capacity of the government is the essential point and that solvency is complete and unquestioned.

MR. HOOVER'S viewpoint is the viewpoint of a bank president who benefits by the deflation, not of a president of the United States patriotically anxious to lead his people out of the depression and back to the promised land of prosperity.

So under pressure by Mr. Hoover to please the bankers and the special interests, the $1,200,000,000 for public works originally suggested in the Garner bill and passed by the House of Representatives, has dwindled to a mere drop in the bucket.

Make no mistake about the meaning of this ignoble compromise. It means that in time of maximum depression and unemployment, the wise economic plan once advocated by Mr. Hoover himself that public works be expanded in times of depression, will be utterly abandoned.

SINCE THEREFORE a reactionary and dully obstinate president is determined to oppose all efforts to relieve the depression, the selection and substitution of a liberal and progressive executive becomes absolutely necessary to lead in the rebuilding of American prosperity.

Fortunately there will be an opportunity for the voters of the United States next November to change their president.

Fortunately, too, the situation affords a selection which will solve our problem, because Gov. Roosevelt earnestly advocates extension of public works as a means of alleviating unemployment and believes strongly in modern ideas concerning industrial planning and economic co-ordination.

MILLION WOMEN PLEDGED TO ROOSEVELT

Anti-Dry Group Led By Mrs. Sabin Votes To Oppose G. O. P.

International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A million women's votes were today pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for President, in the November election.

The Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, headed by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, former Republican national committeewoman, by vote of its executive board, decided 51 to 19 to support the Democratic nominee because of his party's outspoken prohibition repeal plank.

Prominent Republican and Democratic woman from throughout the country are numbered among the organization's membership, which totals 1,000,000.

SOME DISSENSION

Though the vote on supporting for Congress and other offices only those who wholeheartedly espoused the wet cause was unanimous, there was some dissenssion when the vote to work for the election of Roosevelt and John N. Garner, his running mate, came up.

Led by the Massachusetts delegation of three, Mrs. Roger W. Cutler, Mrs. Robert W. Lovett and Mrs. Roger Lowell Putnam, some of the women insisted desertion of President Hoover at this time would be unfair, since in his acceptance speech he might clarify his stand on prohibition.

At the meeting, at which Mrs. Henry B. Joy, of Detroit, presided, were 50 women from 23 states and the District of Columbia.

ROOSEVELT TO REST

ALBANY, N. Y., July 8.—(INS.)—Confident that all elements in the Democratic party have rallied to his banner since he was nominated for the presidency a week ago, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was scheduled to leave late today on the first leg of a week's vacation in which he will cruise up the New England coast on a 40-foot yawl.

The Governor will spend tonight and tomorrow night at his country home at Hyde Park. He will motor to his New York home Sunday for a round of political conferences and early Monday morning, with his four sons, will embark from Long Island for a leisurely sail to Portsmouth, N. H.

He believes a week's cruise will put him in tip-top shape for the long and intensive presidential campaign.

There is a strong possibility he may leave the latter part of this month for the Pacific Coast to attend the Olympic games, although he insists he has not yet made any definite plans for such a trip.

UPSHAW URGES BORAH TO RUN

INDIANAPOLIS, July 8.—(AP.)—Leaders of the Prohibition party formulated plans today for a national campaign in behalf of its nominees for President and Vice President — plans subject to change if the national dry organizations succeed in persuading Senator William E. Borah or another outstanding figure to become a candidate.

William D. Upshaw, of Georgia, who served four terms in the House of Representatives as a Democrat, was nominated for the presidency at the Prohibition party's convention, which ended here yesterday. Frank S. Regan, of Rockford, Ill., became the vice presidential nominee.

Both agreed to withdraw if there should be an alignment of dry groups to form a large third party. Upshaw telegraph Borah:

"Our leaders devoutly hope that you will accept nomination of forthcoming nation-wide gathering of the moral forces of the country. If you do accept, my nomination will be gladly laid at your feet."

American Bishops Received by Pope

VATICAN CITY, July 8.—(INS.)—Bishop Gallagher, of Detroit, and Bishop Schrembs, of Cleveland, were received in audience by Pope Pius XI today.

The Pontiff granted each a half hour's audience, congratulating them on the progress of their dioceses and inquiring about economic conditions in the United States. The Pope expressed his hopes for an early return of prosperity.

Clearfield Bank Plans to Liquidate

CLEARFIELD, Pa., July 8.—(AP.—The Clearfield National Bank today placed its affairs in the hands of the Comptroller of Currency for liquidation. Frozen assets were given as the reason for the action.

The Clearfield Trust Company and the Clearfield County National Bank announced plans to cash certificates of deposit for patrons of the closed institution.

Mortimer Schiff's Widow Dies at 54

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Adele G. Schiff, philanthropist and widow of Mortimer L. Schiff, is dead in her fifty-fourth year. She succumbed last night at the Schiff country home here.

OUSTED POLICE AND FIREMEN ORGANIZING

Although both Council and the Civil Service Commission were scheduled to meet today, action was not expected on charges by dismissed police and firemen that politics caused the shakeup that ousted 260 men.

Representatives of the deposed officers charged that while a few of those dismissed had questionable records, many still on duty have records that would not bear scrutiny. They declared charges for which policemen still on the force were hailed before the trial board include:

Another for attacking young girl in an automobile.
Several in "third-degree" cases.
A number for driving machines while drunk.
Three implicated in stolen machine ring.
Several for abusing their families.
A number for drinking while on duty, and failure to report violations.
Scores in vote frauds.
Three in conspiracy cases.

Leaders in the fight for reinstatement were satisfied to "let things ride" for a time until their ranks are organized. Fred W. Baer, president of the International Association of Fire Fighters, here to help John Heinz, head of the firemen's protective group, was still in the city as efforts were being made to line up the Fraternal Order of Police for the fight.

Baer and Heinz, who have just returned from Erie, where they consulted Edward Allen, grand president of the F. O. P., spent several hours yesterday with Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay. It was said no announcement would be made until Harry Hyer, grand secretary of the F. O. P., had been consulted.

SUSPECTS HELD IN HOLDUPS

Three Lawrenceville youths, suspected of robberies in Shaler Township and vicinity, were in jail today as county detectives began a roundup of victims in an effort to identify them.

They were captured yesterday after an exchange of shots in which a bullet-proof vest saved the life of Chief of Police Joseph Steelnecht, of Shaler Township. They are suspected, detectives say, of participating in the holdup of the gatekeeper at Merlich's Grove, July 4, and of numerous "petting party" holdups.

The three are listed as Frank Miller, 20, of 145 Forty-fifth street; John Cadonic, 17, of 4829 Hatfield street, and Joseph Stanford, 19, of 3436 Butler street. They denied committing robberies.

RAIL LOITERERS HELD NOT 'VAGS'

The police charge "vagabond" assumes a new meaning in times like these, Magistrate J. J. Sweeney ruled today in Mt. Washington Police Court, when he dismissed 32 men arrested for loitering under the P. & L. E. Railroad tracks at West Carson street.

Sweeney ordered the turnkey to bring out six of the men. He said:

"What I say to them goes for the rest."

"I can't sentence these gentlemen for three reasons: First, because they are not 'vags,' they are unemployed; second, because there is no room in the county jail or workhouse, and third, because they had no other place to go. Case dismissed."

Robber on Bridge Stabs Man in Back

Police today were looking for a Negro who shortly after midnight stabbed Herbert Greenberg, 20, of New York, in the back and robbed him of $15 on the Pennsylvania Railroad Bridge spanning the Allegheny River at Eleventh street. Greenberg was treated at Allegheny General Hospital and given lodging in North Side Police Station.

E. V. Bogardus, 5517 Sunnyside street, reported to Oakland police a young white man held him up in his parked car near the Schenley Oval and robbed a young woman companion of a purse containing $2.50.

Ruling Allows Vets To Renew Insurance

Five-year term government insurance policies are renewable for five months from date of expiration, according to a ruling received today by E. R. Benke, manager of the Pittsburgh office, United States Veterans' Bureau. This form policy expiration began last Friday. The veterans may convert the policies into regular insurance or renew without a physical examination at the attained age for another five years, Benke said.

Man Asks for Stale Bread, Robs Store

A young "customer" who asked for stale bread, whipped out an automatic pistol, cowed Ralph Brant, manager of the A. & P. store at Jacksonia and Buena Vista streets and rifled the cash register of $20. Brant was alone and when he went to the rear of the store for the bread, the robber followed and ordered him to remain there for five minutes.

INDIAN MISSION WORKER BACK

India will be freed from the British Empire only when its 150,000,000 Hindus and 80,000,000 Moslems forget their political differences and agree, Dr. M. Yusuf Khan, missionary to Pittsburgh from India, said today.

Dr. Khan

Returned from a five-month trip to India where he attended the Ahmadi Moslem conference, he declared 50,000 political prisoners are in jails there.

Dr. Khan's mission is at 2222 Webster avenue, where he says he has 300 Negro converts. The Ahmadi Moslems differ from the orthodox in that they recognize all the prophets, while the others maintain Mohammed was the last one, he said.

KLINE APPEAL POINTS LISTED

Approximately 150 reasons have been sent Judge Thomas D. Finletter, Philadelphia, setting forth why there should be an arrest of judgment or the verdicts set aside, in the cases of Mayor Charles H. Kline and his deposed Director of Supplies, B. L. Succop, convicted of malfeasance in office.

Of these, 117 reasons have been assigned in Succop's case and the remainder for Kline. The latter was convicted on one count and Succop on 29 out of 46. Judge Finletter will be in Butler next Friday to hear arguments.

Orangemen Plan Outing Tuesday

The annual Orangemen's celebration will be held at Kennywood Park Tuesday. The committee in charge of the outing, which marks the two hundred and forty-second anniversary of the order founding, includes John M. Huston, chairman; John A. H. Thompson, Alexander Moore, John Adams and Thomas Lees.

You'll Find "Million Dollar" Smartness in this

Dresses

More than 1,000 lovely Summer Frocks, representing practically every Dress Section of our entire Fashion Floor are involved in this sweeping Clearance, which has been carefully timed to the convenience of Saturday shoppers. Earlier $7.95 to $12.75 fashions at the first price, and those that were originally $15 to $29.50 at the second. You'll find thrilling opportunities tomorrow, at both prices.

—Town and Veranda Frocks of plain and printed sheers and crepes, washable white and pastel crepes, the loveliest of cottons and linens; with or without jackets.

—Active Sports Frocks of imported lama silk and yacht crepe, superior silks which will wash.

—Afternoon and Informal Dinner Dresses of chiffon, triple sheers and lace.

Broken assortments, of course, but in such a large and varied collection there will be types and sizes for everybody.

1500 Silk Crepe Costume Slips

Just when you need several new costume slips for your vacation wardrobe and for those popular sheer summer dresses—we plan a sale of the finest, softest unweighted French silk crepe slips at a most unexpected price.

We secured these from a maker who has never made a slip that sold for less than $2.95. We persuaded him to lower his price... but retain his high standards of quality.

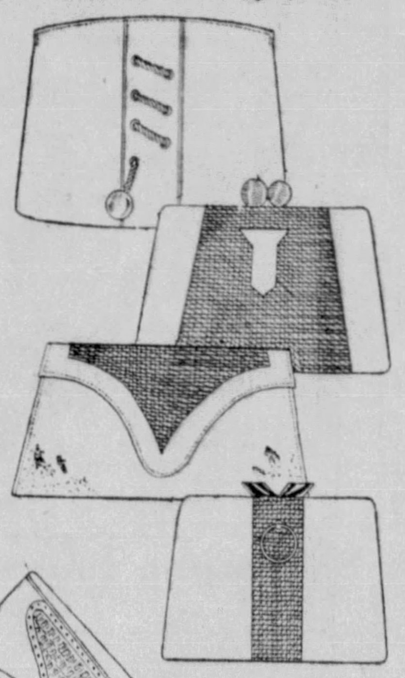
Two styles—a bias-cut and a silhouette model—may be chosen in white or pink. Both styles are trimmed with lovely Alencon laces at yoke and hem.

... Horne's, Second Floor ...

White Handbags

Scores of Styles—Qualities Formerly $1.95

$1.00



Every summer costume will find its complement in this selection—in the many lovely and new fabrics ... in the soft white leathers, the combination of fabric with leather, in the sportive pig grains, morocco and calf.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

White Shoes

$5.25

White shoes in such a variety of models and leathers, and this new low price, make it possible for every woman to have these tremendously smart white shoes for every type of costume. For sports clothes—there's soft buckskin in punched oxfords and pumps—for dressy frocks there's white kid in the various sandal-type models—and for those oft-appearing cottons and sheers, the correct styles in Marcelle cloth and the mesh-like Vasu.

... Horne's, Fourth Floor ...

Summer Coats

Women's and Misses'—Were $25

$10

The chance to have a medium-weight coat for all summer and early fall wear, at less than half its original price! ... Semi-dressy coats in dark blue, black, and brown, chiefly one of a kind. Wear-Weave coats of tweed, for general wear and travel. And a very few polo coats, for misses.

... Horne's, Second Floor ...

Kid Gloves

Formerly $1.95 to $2.95

85c

Novelty one-clasp styles with appliqued or fancy stitched cuffs—broken assortments, of course, but in many shades to accompany various types of costumes.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

Silk Lingerie

Half Price

Here's your opportunity to indulge in the loveliest of silk underthings at exactly half their former prices. Panties, chemises, gowns and pajamas ... most of them trimmed with lovely laces ... many of them hand made ... are in this selection.

... Horne's, Second Floor ...

Imported Girdles

Formerly $6.50 to $10.00

$2.95

Fine French web elastic girdles ... a medium length and weight that are ideally suited for summer wear. All step-in styles—which prevent the side-bulges that mar the appearance of your sheer summery frocks.

... Horne's, Second Floor ...

Tots' Wash Togs

Were $1.95 to $5.95

50c and $1.00

Practically our entire stock of finer wash dresses and suits ... for dress or play hours ... has been re-grouped at these prices. Dresses include linens, broadcloths, and sheer cottons—and most of them have panties. The suits are fine broadcloths and linens in plain colors and combinations. Sizes from 2 to 6 are included ... but assortments are incomplete.

... Horne's, Third Floor ...

Children's Sox

4 Pairs 50c

Pure silk anklets and half-socks—all with lisle soles and heels to make them extra serviceable. Not every color is represented in every size, but plenty of light shades can be selected in all sizes for 3-to-14-year olds. Get a season's supply at this low price.

... Horne's, Third Floor ...

Girls' Shoes

Formerly up to $7.00

$3.65 Pair

New shoes for all summer occasions—street, dress or sports at this saving! Calf, elk, patent and combination leathers may be selected in styles featuring low or medium heels. The sizes range from 3½ to 8, but the assortments are not complete in any size.

... Horne's, Third Floor ...

TRUCK DRIVERS GET AWARDS

Forty-nine truck fleets and more than 3,000 drivers were given awards for safe driving last night at the rally in Moose temple, marking the end of the fifth interfleet truck safety contest of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and the Better Traffic Committee. A new low record for accidents was reported by the 4,019 drivers participating, 54 accidents for each 100,000 hours of driving. Five years ago when the safety competition started the accident rate was 48.6, Thomas Fitzgerald, president of the Safety Council, pointed out.

Dates for Voters To Qualify for November Polls

Here are the dates on which residents of Allegheny County may qualify to vote for President and other offices at the November election:

September 7—Last day to be assessed for payment of poll taxes, a tax receipt being necessary to register.

September 8—First registration day in second and third class cities, including Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

September 20—Second registration day.

October 8—Third and last registration day, also last day to pay poll taxes.

September 6 and 7—Register assessors will sit at polling places in boroughs and townships to list those who may have been omitted in house-to-house canvass.

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs of Fat

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., "P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents.

When reducing, attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat.

To take off fat harmlessly and safely, take one teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any druggists in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why, money back.

Contrast on Sports Frock

Pattern 2372

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

STEP-BY-STEP INSTRUCTION DIAGRAMS INCLUDED WITH THIS PATTERN

By ANNE ADAMS

Here's one of the darlingest sport dresses we've seen. It features all the style points of the season. Cap sleeves give broad shoulders, the lines of the skirt give slender hips and last, but not least, the large crisp bow that pulls through the surplice bodice gives all the pep and verve of youth. Then, too, contrast of material and color is so smart. Long sleeves are included with pattern.

Pattern 2372 may be ordered only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 42. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 36-inch fabric, ⅜ yard contrasting.

Send 15 CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

Our beautiful 32-page FASHION CATALOG offers you an opportunity to choose delightful morning, afternoon and evening models suitable for wear right now and all through the summer. Featuring styles personally chosen by Anne Adams, this catalog is an accurate guide to summer chic. Lovely lingerie and pajama patterns and adorable kiddie models are included in this fascinating book. SEND FOR YOUR COPY TODAY. PRICE OF CATALOG, 15 CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER, 25 CENTS. Address all mail orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.
5.—Address your request to the

SEABURY TO AID BONDHOLDERS

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—Formation of a general protective committee for holders of more than $3,000,000,000 in real estate bonds in default throughout the United States was announced today. Samuel Seabury, counsel of the Hofstader committee, will be its chief counsel.

The committee is made up of Dr. R. A. Seligman, professor emeritus of political economy at Columbia University; Herbert Bayard Swope, former executive editor of the New York World; A. M. Austin, executive vice president of the Harriman National Bank and Trust Company; Matthew G. Ely, president of the real estate firm of Horace S. Ely & Co., and Louis M. Comstock, vice president of the Merchants' Association of New York and chairman of the board of L. K. Comstock & Co., contracting electrical engineers.

Maurice Epstein, secretary to the committee, said Seabury would be actively in charge of its investigation and legal procedures. A formal announcement of the committee's purposes and plans will be made Monday, Epstein said. Invitations will be extended to bondholders to deposit their securities with the committee. The bondholders will then become clients of the committee, which will act in their behalf.

Senate Nominee Seeks Dry Repeal

PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—(INS.)—Declaring himself "dripping wet," Assistant District Attorney Harry Shapiro today was nominated unanimously as Republican candidate in the Seventh District to fill the vacancy caused by the death of State Senator Augustus F. Daix, Jr.

After being named, Shapiro issued a statement saying he would work for the repeal of the Snyder act for state enforcement of prohibition.

Flood Threatens Mississippi Farms

BATESVILLE, Miss., July 8.—(AP.)—The Tallahatchie River, chief source of last winter's flood that covered a vast area and made thousands homeless, is on a rampage again.

It went over its banks a short distance south of here today and inundated thousands of fertile farm acres. The river gauge here measured 14.8 feet, nearly a foot and a half above flood stage.

$800,000 CITY AID BILL SIGNED

Mayor Charles H. Kline today signed the $800,000 emergency bond issue ordinance, part of the $3,000,000 voted at the April primaries for direct relief of destitute families.

The money, expected to be available in several weeks, will be expended by the Allegheny County Emergency Association and the City Department of Welfare. The bonds, expiring in 20 years, bear 4¼ per cent interest. Relief funds from the state under the Talbot Act are exhausted and the next installment is not due until September.

Kills Mother of 5, Then Ends Own Life

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—(INS.)—Mrs. Nora L. Admire, 32, mother of five young children, was shot and killed here today by her estranged husband, William F. Admire, unemployed plasterer. Admire then shot himself to death.

Bandits Terrorize Town, Loot Church

CHILDERSBURG, Ala., July 8.—(AP.)—Six bandits terrorized this town, abducted a night marshal and robbed a church and four stores of more than $1,000 early today.

Girl, 17, Feared Held by Kidnapers

KITTANNING, Pa., July 8.—(INS.)—Police in three counties today were searching for Martha R. Shearer, 17, of Elders Ridge, whose disappearance is feared to have been caused by kidnapers.

The girl has been missing since Wednesday midnight. She weighs 140 pounds, has blue eyes and a fair complexion with brown hair.

MANIAC FIRES ORPHAN HOME

SAGINAW, Mich., July 8.—(INS.)—Lives of 35 orphans and 15 nurses and attendants in the children's home of Saginaw were endangered today when a maniac crept into the institution and kindled a fire in an unoccupied room.

The flames had partly consumed a mattress and were eating at walls of the room when Mrs. Bertha Shears, night nurse, saw smoke rolling from the room.

She pulled the blazing mattress to a marble floor in a corridor and with the aid of other nurses put out the fire. None of the 35 small boys and girls in the orphanage was aroused.

Threatens Woman, Then Ends Life

NEWARK, O., July 8.—Frank W. Herring, 47, Portsmouth molder, is dead today, a suicide, police said, after threatening to kill Mrs. Ella Stemm, his sweetheart. He leaves seven children in Portsmouth. Mrs. Stemm said he was out of work and despondent.

Katzman, Jewish Actor, Dies at 67

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—Jacob Katzman, 67, for many years prominent on the Jewish stage, died yesterday at his home after a brief illness from heart disease.

In addition to playing on the Jewish stage, he appeared in several Broadway productions. The last time was about a year ago with Edward G. Robinson in "The Kibitzer."

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

People are beginning to arrive in town for the most important wedding here on Saturday, that of charming Anne Pierson Forsyth, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Henry H. Forsyth and the late Mrs. Forsyth, and Dr. Alexander N. Winchell, of Madison, Wis.

The marriage, I'll repeat, is to take place at high noon in her father's church, the Sixth Presbyterian Church, with her father as officiant.

Dr. and Mrs. U. S. Grant and their daughter, Lois, of Chicago, will be here for the wedding, the Clifton S. Corbetts, of New York, and A. N. Winchell, father of the bridegroom, of Madison, Wis. Mrs. Corbett is a sister of the bridegroom.

Others here from out-of-town will include Horace Winchell, of Madison, who'll be his brother's best man. * * *

Teas for recent brides are now arriving to divert the social set. One such entertainment was a bridge-tea for 80 guests which Mrs. Harold H. Meanor, of Coraopolis, gave Wednesday in the Edgeworth Club for her new daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold H. Meanor, Jr., whose marriage was made known in June.

Tea for Bride

Among the aides were Mrs. H. W. Wickenhiser, Mrs. Charles Yon, Mrs. W. J. Stewart and Mrs. Marion Zimmerman. Pouring were Mrs. George Calvin, Mrs. E. D. Pool, Mrs. L. A. Way and Mrs. O. J. Zimmerman.

Pittsburgh guests included Mrs. Robert Wright, Betty Dupka, Dorothy Clarke, Louise Clark, Betty Neyhart, Mrs. Emil Freyer, Madelyn Freyer, Mrs. C. H. Stratford and Mrs. B. J. Losa. From out-of-town were Mrs. Loren Stevens, of New York, and Mrs. H. C. Eaton, of Butler.

* * *

Winifred Glass, of Des Moines, Ia., is visiting in town. And she's the house guest of Virginia Niemann.

* * *

Carolyn-Clare Snow, daughter of the L. Blaine Snows, of Kinsman road, entertained yesterday with a luncheon in honor of her house guest, Marjorie Merritt, of Larchmont, N. Y. Bridge followed.

Gen. Logan Honored At Birthday Dinner

About 150 friends and comrades-at-arms of Gen. A. J. Logan, former commander of the Eighteenth Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, tendered him a testimonial dinner on his seventy-fifth birthday at the Schenley Hotel last night.

Speakers included Thomas A. Dunn, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Councilmen Robert Garland and Clifford B. Connelly, Col. E. L. Kearns, Col. Eric Fisher Wood, County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and County Controller Robert G. Woodside. Maj. E. Lowry Humes was toastmaster.

Nearly Starved, Says Wife, Wins Divorce

Charlotte Garrett, 20, of 166 Auburn street, and her baby were nearly starved by her husband and she had to leave him, she testified before being granted a divorce from William Garrett, Rural street, by Judge Thomas M. Marshall.

Divorce suits were filed by Charles H. Berger against Fannie Berger, John A. Bigger against Esther J. Bigger, Ruth McC. Myers against Ralph Myers and by Mary P. Shallenberger against John M. Shallenberger.

Congress of Clubs members are writing down Wednesday, August 10, on their engagement books, for that's the date set for the second bridge breakfast at the clubhouse. The first, held yesterday, brought out sufficient players to fill 35 tables, all of whom pronounced the event a decided success. Attractive decorations of flowers from Mrs. J. E. White's Brookside Farms garden were on the tables, which occupied the lounge, the McCahill dining room and the auditorium. The table favors were guest towels.

Betty M. Saunier Names July 27 For Wedding

Miss Betty M. Saunier, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Saunier, of Dormont, formerly of Mt. Washington, has chosen July 27 as the date for her marriage to Eugene William Luttig, also of Dormont. The ceremony will take place in St. Mary's of the Mount Church at 9 o'clock that morning.

Miss Marie A. Luttig, sister of the bridegroom-elect, will be maid of honor, and Miss Kay Conway, bridesmaid. Carl Saunier, brother of the bride-elect, will be best man. * * *

UNIQUE TREND IN SLEEVE TREATMENT

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 8.—Sleeves are important matters these days. Many of the new Paris dresses depend entirely upon their sleeves for silhouette. There is a general tendency in all the fashion houses to keep dress lines simple and flowing and to leave all accents of width or narrowness to the sleeves.

* * *

AMONG those who favor widened shoulders, many are following new means of obtaining width. Newer dresses avoid the obvious lines of extra gathers at the shoulder lines, or rolls of padding or ruffles at the shoulder seams. Newer methods are to put fullness into the sleeve just below the shoulder line, by cutting, draping and incrustations.

* * *

* * *

THE SCARF collar in the sketch is of printed chiffon, patterned with white, pink and black flowers. It is easily detachable and may be replaced by other scarfs in white or color.

Free Sunday Movies Conneaut Feature

CONNEAUT LAKE, July 8.—Free Sunday evening moving pictures will be a new feature of the Conneaut Lake Park entertainment program, beginning Sunday, R. J. MacDonald, managing director, announced today. A double parachute jump into the lake also is scheduled by Capt. Walter J. Criswell.

Dance Marathoners Near 750-Hour Mark

Fourteen couples were still shuffling in the dance marathon at Motor Square Garden as they approached the 750-hour mark today. Contestants napped on cots last night as the crowd watched. Margery McDonald had six teeth pulled to relieve neuralgia, but continued in the contest, the management announced.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN WAKE OF WIND AND HAILSTORM

URGE CITY CUT BIG FORCE OF INSPECTORS

Economy Field Seen In Overlapping Of Services

Duplication and overlapping in the city's numerous inspection forces is believed to be a real field for economy by civic groups which have been studying the budget preparatory to assisting Council in its financial problems in the fall.

The state covers Allegheny County thoroughly in food inspection with three inspectors and a chemist.

On the city payroll are eight dairy inspectors, eight meat inspectors, 13 milk and food inspectors, and three chemists.

RARELY PROSECUTES

The state has prosecuted in numerous instances where the pure food laws were violated The city rarely prosecutes, according to Dr. C. B. Maits, director of the Department of Health, for the reason the city seeks to obtain its results by "co-operation."

The eight city dairy inspectors examine the farms from which comes the milk sold to citizens here. This inspection at the source is considered highly important by Dr. Maits, and a type of service vital to community health.

The service by 21 meat and food inspectors of the city seems to be for the most part duplication and enlargement of that offered by the state, according to well-informed sources. This does not include special duties, such as restaurant inspection, which it is believed could be performed with smaller forces.

OUTSIDE TESTING

The Department of Health also includes 34 housing and sanitary inspectors, 12 plumbers, 12 weight, and four smoke inspectors.

Although the city maintains a well-equipped laboratory for testing foods, it is rare any bought by the City Department of Supplies is tested there. The testing of city-purchased food is largely done by outside concerns.

Asked if it would be possible to test food purchases in the city's own laboratory, Dr. Maits declared some of the work could be done. One of the three city chemists, he explained, is employed largely testing liquor samples confiscated by police.

The growth of inspection services has been general throughout the city payroll. Separate inspection forces examine the police boxes, the fire alarm boxes and the traffic signals.

LITTLE WORK TO DO

Building inspectors have been reduced this year from 19 to 16. There are, however, 11 electric wiring, three elevator and three warm air heating inspectors, one sign inspector, one plastering inspector and one inspector of explosives.

With the building industry at considerably less than half of its 1926 volume, organizations which have been studying the budget believe some of the inspection services could be reduced or combined without seriously affecting results.

As for inspectors in the Department of Public Works there is little work for them at present with few new projects under construction.

Some of the inspection forces have been brought about by state legislation. Others have been expanded to meet the demands of groups of citizens from various localities.

Refinery Workman Collapses and Dies

Patrick Comer, 62, of 29 Third street, Sharpsburg, a laborer at the Atlantic Refining Company plant, Fifty-seventh and Butler streets, collapsed and died at the plant last night. At St. Francis Hospitaf it was said death was caused by heart disease.

Imbedded

ELIZABETH LEVKULICH

Miss Elizabeth, 9, 104 Fourth street, McKeesport, rescued by Murray Firestone, 27, when she fell from a retaining wall, became imbedded head-first in the mud of the Youghiogheny's bottom. He located her by air bubbles, dove, rescued her.

'WILL ROGERS' FACES QUIZ

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8.—(AP.)—Investigation of a country school master's use of the name Will Rogers in the race for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large in Tuesday's Oklahoma primary was begun today by E. B. Howard, of Tulsa, who was one of the also rans.

Howard said he would contest the filing of the leading candidate's name if the investigation warranted such action.

Rogers filed under the name Will Rogers and Oklahoma voters—possibly having in mind the famous cowboy humorist of Claremore, not a relative of the candidate—gave him first place. Mrs. Mabel Bassett, commissioner of charities and corrections, ran second and the two will contest for the nomination in the July 26 run-off primary.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

VERNON, Tex., July 8.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

No papers away out here on the prairie where I am, so I don't know what has happened. By golly, to people away out on farms and ranches, where people make a living off what you are supposed to make it off of, the market could have "closed strong," or closed forever. It wouldn't matter to a big bunch of Americans. It sure is a lot prettier sight to look at thousands of white-faced cattle, than thousands of bald-faced delegates in one corral howling like mad, and milling for nothing. They brand the cattle so you can tell 'em, and have to put badges on the delegates, so there's not much difference after all. Yours, WILL.

BOWSER AGAIN FACES QUIZ ON TRUCK HIRE

Grilled for Third Day Before Grand Jury On Hauling Job

Watson Bowser, contractor, was back in the grand jury room this morning answering questions of M. E. Conick about his $200,000 hauling job at the county airport. This was Bowser's third day of grilling.

First Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, who had Bowser summoned with his books before the jury after Bowser had refused to answer questions of the Controller in the probe of expenditures, said Bowser would have to come back for at least part of a day next week. By this time it is expected Conick will have finished examining Bowser's books and be ready to testify as to their contents when the grand jury reassembles the following Monday.

Langfitt refused to say what has been learned from the audit, but declared signaficance may be attached to the fact that Bowser's examination has lasted for three days, when it was expected this would take less than a day.

BANDIT ROUTED BY WOMAN

While a young bandit was rifling the cash drawer in the bakery Mrs. Loew whispered in his ear:

"You're being watched by someone across the street."

"Thanks."

Pickets Attack Miners; 2 Injured

ST. CLAIRSVILE, O., July 8.—Two miners were injured seriously and 10 cars stoned when pickets attacked men en route to Providence mine this morning. Pickets mounted a railroad trestle on the Cleveland-Marietta Highway dropped rocks through tops of automobiles.

Over 300 pickets congregated at the mine. Eight arrests were made. Hersh Saffell and Henry Johnson, injured by rocks at the trestle, were unconscious when taken to a doctor's office.

Wales 'Plane in Cup Race Around Britain

LONDON, July 8.—(AP.)—Forty-two airplanes, including the Prince of Wales' fast monoplane, piloted by his personal pilot, Lieut. E. H. Fielden, began today the race around Great Britain for the King's cup.

The program calls for 728 miles today and 495 tomorrow. The Prince's plane is a favorite to win. Women fliers are represented by Winifred Brown, who won the race in 1930, and Winifred Spooner.

Laundryman Routed, War Vet Fined $10

E. V. Grant, 35, World War veteran, 200 South Fairmount avenue, alleged to have chased a Chinese laundryman in Second avenue yesterday, was fined $10 or 30 days in the workhouse by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today. Grant testified the laundryman couldn't find his shirts.

WOMAN ROBBED BY FAKE AGENT

Police today sought a bogus real estate agent who yesterday robbed Mrs. Elizabeth Usinger of her watch and $14 as she was showing him her home, at 250 Watsonia boulevard, which he said he could sell for her.

While Mrs. Usinger was ushering him through the house, the stranger stole the money and watch from her purse, which was on a bureau, police were told.

Women's wearing apparel, valued at $200, was stolen from the second-floor stockroom of McCrory's five and ten-cent store, Penn avenue, East Liberty, yesterday, according to police report.

Woman Uses Gas In Death Attempt

Mrs. Fannie Gumoski, 34, of 32 Welsford street, was recovering in Homeopathic Hospital today from effects of gas inhaled in her home last night. She was found unconscious by Mrs. Helen B. Dolotoski, a neighbor, who summoned police. The victim was revived with an inhalator.

Police said the woman told them she opened the jet of a gas stove in her sleeping room.

War on Rabbits Feasting on Gardens

Distressing news, this, for Pittsburgh's rabbits which have been banqueting in flower beds and gardens. It wasn't so bad when they ate lunches, but when they got to making a full course dinner, things came back at them.

A. L. Budd, chief of the Bureau of Protection of the State Game Commission, has recommended to the commission that it lift the restriction against killing rabbits until such time as the bunny population has been eliminated to the extent that folks can plant gardens in safety.

Democrats Calm; G. O. P. Split Like Salt Mackerel

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Senator Borah and his western Progressives insist on being a small but refined minority. The Senator is even tougher than Jesse James. Jesse had a hoss so he could run away once in a while.

Borah and Hoover are that way. But not about each other. The western Progressives are broadcasting hate on a low wave length.

It seems that a Progressive is a man who joins a party just for the pleasure of bolting it.

In the meantime Mr. Hoover should send Senator Moses to spy out the land of the Canaanites to discover whether Mr. Borah wants a harbor or a postoffice.

Japan to Protest Arrests by Soviet

TOKIO, July 8.—(AP.)—Officials of the Japanse Fisheries Bureau said today they probably would ask the Foreign Office to protest to Moscow against the imprisonment of 400 Japanese fishermen employed at a Russian crab-canning plant on Ptchichi Island, off the west coast of Kamchatka.

The trouble appeared to have arisen as a result of a strike of the Japanese workmen, who charged harsh treatment at the hands of their employers.

HOSTESS CLASS HEAD COLLAPSES

Mary Conway, 38, who was held yesterday in Central Police Court in connection with an alleged hostess school she was conducting in a downtown hotel, was in the Allegheny General Hospital today following her collapse last night in the bureau of detectives.

Police said she was suffering from a headache and took an overdose of tablets to cure it. The hospital will release her tomorrow, they said.

She was arrested by city detectives working in conjunction with the Better Business Bureau. Two women testified they paid for the courses. It was testified the accused woman had no means of supplying the employment she guaranteed her patrons.

N. S. Businessmen Plan Annual Picnic

In planning this year's picnic efforts are being made by the committees of the Businessmen's Association of the East North Side to break last year's record of the largest crowd of the season at West View Park. The annual outing is scheduled for Wednesday, July 20. Band concerts will feature the afternoon and evening program. Water sports athletic games and other sports are also scheduled. W. S. Kuhl, general chairman this year, and P. A. Freyvogel, president, are co-operating for a record breaking attendance.

Baptists to Hold Convention Here

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 8.—(AP.)—Pittsburgh was chosen by the Baptist Young People's Union of America yesterday for its 1934 convention.

No invitation has been issued for the 1933 convention under a decision to test a plan for biennial meetings.

RAID 'BOOKIES' AFTER HOLDUP

Three men arrested in a raid on William Penn way, near Liberty avenue, late yesterday after two gunmen had held up the place, admitted in Central Police Court today placing bets on horse races there. They were held for court charged wtih conducting a gambling house.

They gave their names as George Schoen, 1212 Voskamp street, alleged proprietor; Harry Mack, 412 East Diamond street, and John Sloan, 1433 Penn avenue, clerks.

Two men, who earlier had put up $1 on a race, drew guns as the place was about to close, held up the three in charge and fled with $200 down William Penn way to Tenth street. Hundreds saw police and detectives in a futile chase.

Man Seeks Shelter, Collapses of Hunger

Staggering into the West Homestead Police Station during yesterday's storm and asking shelter, John Smith, 28, of Hagerstown, Md., was permitted to sleep in the basement of the building. A short time later police found him unconscious.

After being revived, he told police he had not eaten for four days. He had been walking for several days, police say. He was taken to the Homestead Hospital.

Coppersmith Plant Damaged by Flames

Damage estimated at $1,500 resulted when fire raged through the first floor of a three-story brick building at 2932 Smallman street, occupied by the Stender Coppersmith Company, early today. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Railroad Policeman Killed by Train

Homer Elder, 38, of 609 Avery street, a Pennsylvania Railroad police sergeant, was killed last night when a train he was patroling on the Panhandle tracks below Duquesne Heights struck him. He died instantly.

2 MEN KILLED AS CARS HIT IN GALE

Crops Leveled Over Wide Area, Traffic Snarled Hours

Scores of communities in Western Pennsylvania today were recovering from the terrific storm which late yesterday caused the death of two persons, tore down houses, poles and trees, and disrupted traffic for hours.

The dead were Col. E. H. Williams, president of the Vulcan Mould and Iron Company, of Latrobe, and William E. Lindsay, 10, of Muse, near Canonsburg. Williams was killed when his automobile was blown into the path of another car near Latrobe, wrecking both cars, fatally injuring him and seriously injuring C. N. Arnn and Rudy Jackson, both of Cleveland, who were in the other car. The Lindsay boy was crushed to death under a tree blown down near his home.

Lawrence Haigs, of Manor avenue, Swissvale, was swimming in Sandy Creek, along the new Allegheny River boulevard, when the hail storm struck the vicinity. The heavy stones struck Haigs and rendered him unconscious. He was dragged ashore by friends.

Twenty thousand baseball fans, including more than 6,000 women, were marooned at Forbes Field.

AIRPLANE WRECKED

An airplane at the County Airport was carried across the field. One of the wings and the tail were smashed. It had been flown

BURY TUBE CITY GIRL AS PAUPER

CLEVELAND, July 8.—(INS.)—Burial in Potter's Field today was to be the fate of Margaret Rurska, 21, formerly of McKeesport, Pa., who came to Cleveland for fame and fortune and found only tragedy and death.

Mrs. L. Julia Rurska, the girl's mother, arrived here from McKeesport last night and identified the body of her daughter, who was shot to death in a Woodland avenue rooming house last Monday. She said she did not have sufficient funds to take the body back to Pennsylvania.

Peter Christos, 51, alleged sweetheart of the slain girl, faces arraignment on a first degree murder charge in connection with the killing. Police said he admitted firing two of the six shots which entered the girl's body during a quarrel which ensued when he told her he planned to leave her. The other four bullets were self-inflicted, he told police.

First of 30 Freed In Harlan Slaying

HARLAN, Ky., July 8.—(AP.)—Chester Poore was acquitted of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Jim Daniels in the Evarts labor clash of May, 1931, by a jury which deliberated two and a half hours here today.

Poore was the first of 30 defendants indicted to be freed of the charges resulting from a fight between deputies and striking coal miners and sympathizers in which at least four men were shot to death.

Smithfield Bridge Repairs Financed

Council's Finance Committee today approved a $300,000 councilmanic bond issue for reconstruction and repair of the Smithfield Street Bridge. The work will start in about a month, upon completion of the new South Tenth Street Bridge, Engineer Tom M. Reed said. Thirty years will be added to the life of the structure, he asserted.

WIND AND HAIL STORM CAUSES HEAVY LOSS

to Pittsburgh by Billy Brook, noted flier. A metal mail rack was torn loose, blown across the field and twisted into a useless mass.

Edward Haney, 23, of 11 Tecumseh street, proprietor of a confectionery store at 67 Vespucius street, was cut and bruised when stones from a chimney were blown through the window of his store.

Many users of electricity, among them radio station WJAS, were without service for hours after lightning struck the Duquesne Light Company's Campbell's Run station.

20-DEGREE DROP

In Pittsburgh the storm caused a 20-degree drop in temperature.

Spokane street, Carrick, was blocked for hours by seven trees felled by the gale.

An iron stack on the Einstein Apartment Building in Brookline boulevard and a pole at Pioneer avenue and Fordham street were knocked down.

Lightning struck the roof of St. Basil's Church, Brownsville road, Carrick, tearing off a portion of the roof. A tree in the yard of Howard Lothrop, 314 Carrick avenue, was torn from its roots and carried 300 yards.

Water backed up in the sewers at Center avenue and Reed street, flooding the street and halting traffic. Another delay from high water occurred in Seventh avenue at Bigelow boulevard.

BARGES TORN LOOSE

Rivermen at Oakmont experienced a half hour of difficulty when several barges were torn from a towboat of the Wheeling Steel Corporation. They were recovered a mile down stream. The rain washed dirt into the tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, halting service on the Oakmont-Verona line.

The home of John L. Blakeley, near Elizabeth, was unroofed, and a tipple at an abandoned mine on the McKeesport road just outside Elizabeth was blown down.

The clubhouse at the Sycamore Rifle Range, Trafford City, was destroyed by wind and rain. Several trees and poles were blown across the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and traffic halted.

Street car traffic in Homestead and Glassport was delayed more than an hour when trees uprooted by the wind were thrown across trolley wires.

LIGHTS GO OUT

Light service in Coal Valley, Dravosburg, Clairton and McKeesport was reported impaired by the Duquesne Light Company, due to poles being struck by lightning and trees blown into wires.

A 65-foot observation tower atop the Rainbow Gardens in Lincoln way, Versailles Township, was toppled by high winds, as were two smaller lifeguard towers at the swimming pool.

Traffic in McKeesport boulevard, near Lincoln Place, Versailles Township, was tied up nearly an hour when a tree fell across the highway.

EXTINGUISH BLAZE

Braddock firemen were called to extinguish a small blaze when a tree fell across light wires, causing a short circuit in a dwelling in Mills avenue.

The roof of the Keystone Ornamental Works at 118 Sixth avenue, Homestead, was destroyed, as was the roof on the plant of the Homestead Ice Company at Seventh avenue and Hays street. Several garages and buildings in the town were unroofed.

DAMAGE AT GREENSBURG

At Greensburg trees were uprooted, windows blown in and wires torn down. A 25-foot brick stack of the Griener Baking Company was struck by lightning.

A team of horses driven by J. King, of Coraopolis, was killed when a high voltage wire fell across their backs. King was uninjured.

STORMS KILL 2, INJURE 20

CLEVELAND, July 8.—(AP.)—Tornadic winds, lightning and heavy rainfall, which swept over parts of Ohio and Indiana late yesterday, killed two persons, injured more than 20 others and did heavy damage to property.

Lightning killed Wallace Hall, 35, of Amherst, O., while he was plowing near that town, and at Cincinnati, John Stover, 7, was killed when lightning struck a tree beneath which he and other children were playing.

About 20 persons suffered injuries at Vernon, Ind., when a tornado wrecked the business district and damaged more than 100 residences.

ARSON SUSPECT TO RETURN

Police Chief Michael Jordan, of Rankin, was en route to New Orleans today to obtain custody of Vincent Prato, alleged head of an arson ring, who is under arrest there.

When Prato is returned, Chief County Detective George W. Murren will, he said, prefer charges of arson and conspiracy. Prato is accused as the leader of a ring said to be responsible for numerous fires in Rankin and Braddock. Ten persons have been arrested in connection with its alleged activities.

Estate of $27,500 Bequeathed to Widow

An estate valued at $27,500 was left by the will of Jacob M. Levine, 5708 Phillips avenue, to his widow, Ida Levine, named executrix in his will, probated yesterday.

JOBLESS PARTY ASKS MEMBERS

A county-wide canvass is to begin immediately, by 1,000 men and women, to gain members for the Jobless-Liberty party, of which Father James R. Cox, of Old St. Patrick's Church, is one of the founders. Working under the direction of Attorney Austin Staley, national committeeman, the campaigners will visit homes and business houses.

According to Staley, similar drives will be under way in every large city in the country within two weeks.

Party leaders are completing plans for the convention in St. Louis, beginning August 17. At this two-day meeting it is expected close to 1,000,000 persons will be present to select candidates for President and Vice President.

Girl Out of Work Wins Story Prize

Miss Edith Cohen, a stenographer, of 5850 Beacon street, Squirrel Hill, has been out of work for nearly a year, but she has made good use of her time, by writing short stories. Her "Shattered Dream," was awarded first prize in a story contest, bringing her $500.

Miss Cohen

Asked what she planned doing with the money, Miss Cohen said:

"I'll put it away for luck. I shall keep on writing while I am looking for employment."

WIDER POWERS FOR PLANNING BODY SOUGHT

The County Planning Commission will be a planning body instead of an approving body if E. R. Crawford, one of its newest members, has his way about it.

"Heretofore the Planning Commission has been a political joke. Now we've got to be visionary, to visualize completed projects. Cleveland, Boston, New York, San Francisco and other cities have given their planning commission authority and power to act.

"There has been proposed for Allegheny County a step in this development which is entirely logical and which, if pushed forward with vision and courage, will result in an outstanding, successful organization. The design of projects immediately materializing will come under the same directing head under whom the plan originates, and if this idea is carried out in its entirety the actual construction will be handled similarly."

Crawford submitted an organization plan putting an executive engineer at the head of the commission. A sub-committee composed of Crawford, Gen. A. J. Logan and Fred G. Lillo was named to confer with the County Commissioners.

A list of 49 employes suggested by the County Commissioners for the newly-organized Planning Commission was submitted. The submission of the list brought the question from Crawford:

"This organization has been sent to us. Are they supposed to be working for the commission or the commissioners? Have we any voice in the matter? As we stand we have no working organization. It's my idea that if you are going into business of any kind you must first have a working organization."

The motion was then made to have the committee confer with the commissioners.

HORNE OUTING TOMORROW

A special fleet of taxicabs will transport employes and their families to the annual picnic of the Joseph Horne Company tomorrow afternoon and evening at Camp Horne, near Emsworth. The employes wil leave at 5 o'clock. The camp wil be open in the afternoon to their families and friends.

Dinner will be served as soon as the cabs arrive at the camp. There will follow a sports program including mushball, tennis, horseshoe pitching and chidren's games. There also will be an aquatic meet, featured by exhibitions by John Carik and Genevieve Vogel. At night there will be dancing. A. H. Burchfield, Sr., is honorary chairman of the committee.

OBITUARY

Loomis Funeral.

Funeral services for Charles M. Loomis, 85, of 7454 McClure avenue, Swissvale, who died Thursday, will be held tomorrow afternoon in his home. Mr. Loomis, a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh, six years ago retired from the Homestead Steel Company works. For the last few months he had been an attendant at Memorial Hall. During the Civil War he served with Company F, 193rd Pennsylvania Volunteers. He was a member of the Abe Patterson Post No. 88, G. A. R., and the Second Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Eliza Dickson Loomis; a son, Charles L., of Swissvale, and four daughters, Mrs. Charles R. Beall, Edgewood; Mrs. Kenneth Wayman, Wilkinsburg; Mrs. Stanley P. Carter and Miss Marjorie D. Loomis, at home, and three grandchildren.

Boy Firebugs Cause $60,000 Damage

SIOUX CITY, Ia.—(INS.)—Four youths, "seeking a thrill," confessed to authorities that they started three incendiary fires which caused $60,000 damages here in one day. Only furious work by the city's entire fire fighting forces prevented complete destruction of all the establishments, worth more than $1,000,000.

UTILITY FIRM ON WATER DECISION

Insistence by the South Pittsburgh Water Company that the Pittsburgh Coal Company take water from the former, instead of the coal company's private water plant, has resulted in the refusal of the South Pittsburgh Water Company to extend water lines to Library, it became known today.

Public Service Commissioner Samuel Walker yesterday was to have heard the complaint of A. Kramer, of Library, Snowden Township, against the water company for refusal to extend its lines. The water company claims that the cost would not justify the return. A continuance of the case for 30 days was granted.

Attorney E. A. Keizler, Homestead, representing the complainant, said:

"About 125 or 130 consumers around Library wish to patronize the South Pittsburgh Water Company, but they refuse to extend their lines because the Pittsburgh Coal Company will not take water from them. The coal company has its own water plant and naturally has refused to scrap its private plant. We asked for a continuance of the case in order to give us opportunity to obtain additional witnesses."

Cost Accountants Plan Nine Meetings

The program for nine meetings to be held by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants was outlined to the board of directors of the chapter by James Clarke, director of programs, at a meeting last night. He said the subjects would concern the application of standard costs and budgetary control.

HEARING ON END OF DELINQUENT TAX JOB

By MARK SHIELDS
Political Editor.

HARRISBURG, July 8.—Hearing on the Mansfield bill to abolish the fee office of delinquent tax collector in Allegheny County has been set for next Tuesday at 3 p. m., probably in the Senate chamber.

Representatives of civic organizations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County are expected to attend the hearing and press for passage of the measure as a step toward economy. Mansfield and Senator Frank J. Harris, who reported the bill from committee this week, are also expected to urge its passage.

Senator James J. Coyne and Republican organization leaders with whom County Treasurer Robert Cain is affiliated, will oppose the bill, and have in their corner at least six of the seven senators from Philadelphia.

In a sharp interchange Wednesday, when Mansfield claimed Coyne was trying to bury the bill by sending it back to the committee without a hearing, the charge was made that fees of this office totaled $100,000 a year. This is a substantial sum in these days of depressed political incomes, and the Coyne-Kline organization is not willing to give it up without a struggle.

Common gossip in Pittsburgh is that the delinquent tax collector in the present administration, a subordinate of Cain, retains only a minimum portion of the fees, and that the bulk goes to other politicians for the support of campaigns in behalf of the organization.

Coyne charged in the Senate this week that Mansfield wished to abolish the office so that he, as a County Commissioner and member of the county salary board, could name the salary of the tax collector if the fees were taken away. Feeling between the two was sharp, and the hearing next week should provide fireworks.

Irish Islanders Give Pipe to Premier

BELFAST.—On the occasion of his recent visit to Gallon Island, Upper Lough Ern, Lord Craigavon, the Premier, was presented by the islanders with a pipe and tobacco pouch in token of their appreciation of his efforts to have a new bridge built, linking the island with the mainland.

Despite the fact that the island folk are politically opposed to Lord Craigavon, they gave him and Lady Craigavon a great welcome, and when they left it was amid cheers and cries of "long life to you."

'Jazz King' Opens New WCAE Series; Novel Programs on Air

Switching from NBC's WJZ network to the WEAF chain, Paul Whiteman, dean of modern music, and his world famous orchestra, inaugurate a new series of jazz, rhythmic and symphonic shows, sponsored by the recently organized Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales Company, over WCAE tonight at 10.

On each of the programs, to be presented each Friday night over the same facilities, Whiteman will present a group of the celebrated artists, including Mildred Bailey, Jack Fulton, the Rhythm Boys, Red McKenzie, Roy Bargy, Ramona and Jane Vance, whom he first introduced to radio listeners and who now form a part of his organization. Tonight's stars are Miss Bailey, Fulton and the Rhythm Boys.

Another double bill featuring an open air broadcast is scheduled on WCAE, sponsored by Frank and Seder's, tonight and tomorrow. The first, a musical program featuring a 10-piece dance band under the direction of Dave Levin and Lois Miller, the singing organist, is heard tonight from 6:45 to 7. Personal appearances by Ford Miller, Cyrilla Tuite and Alice Abbott mark the second broadcast tomorrow morning, originating in the lobby of the store and presented over the air from 8:30 to 9.

Mr. Miller

"Human Hearts," Hal Reid's famous old tear-jerker and heart-throbber of the ten-twent'-thirt' melodrama days, with a cast composed of NBC's page boys, executives, stenographers, elevator operators and announcers, is presented over an NBC network including KDKA tonight at 10.

The presentation : the "ever so often" production that those who serve broadcasting behind the scenes have to get out of their systems once in a while. The last, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was given two years ago.

Demonstrating how it thinks a fight should be broadcast, the Hearst Radio Service restages the Sullivan-Kilrain championship battle, with Ford Frick and Bill Corum, noted sports writers of the Hearst Newspapers, at the microphone, from WINS (1180 kilocycles) tonight at 7:45. The broadcast marks the anniversary of the Sullivan-Kilrain fight, which went to 75 rounds and was the last bare-knuckle championship.

Program Pointers

A dramatic program depicting the life of La Fontaine, celebrated French writer, and one or more of the famous fables that came from his pen, is presented on KDKA tonight at 8:30, marking the three hundred and eleventh anniversary of La Fontaine's birth. Raymond Knight, radio writer and actor, who prepared the dramatization, is heard in the role of La Fontaine. Seventeenth Century music by a string orchestra under the direction of Robert Armbruster is included on the program.

Mr. Knight

Max Pantelieieff, Russian operatic basso and artistic director of the Russian Grand Opera Company, and his orchestra present a half-hour of classical and semi-classical music over WCAE at 10:30.

Carlos Estrada's Central American Marimba Band is heard as the guest feature of Nat Shilkret's Week-End Hour, with Thelma Kessler, soprano, a concert orchestra and a male quartet, over WJAS tonight at 9.

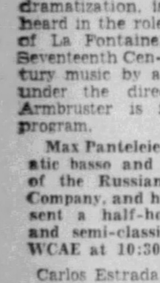
Leo Reisman repeats a new number he introduced over the air recently, "Bananas," during his program on WCAE tonight at 9:30. "Adios," a rumba, and "Is It All a Dream?" the beggar waltz from "The Band Wagon," also are heard.

A novel arrangement of selections from the musical success, "Show Boat," and a delicate Debussy composition, are high spots of the first of a new series of piano recitals by Jacques Fray and Mario Bragiotti, piano duo, over WJAS tonight at 9:45.

Fan Fare

Fannie Brice is promised radio listeners for the fall. . . . A recent radio poll names Ruth Etting as "Queen of Radio," Rudy Vallee as the "most popular orchestra leader" and Baby Rose Marie as the "Princess of the Air" . . . The tallest woman heard over the networks is Ramona, the pianist with Paul Whiteman's Band . . . Mme. Sylvia, NBC beauty expert, has leased a penthouse where she may exercise in the open air and yet be within walking distance of the studios.



Fannie Brice

Ralph Kirbery is an expert marksman . . . Jolly Bill Steinke loves to simulate animal sounds on or off the air . . . Frank Crumit thinks eggs fried by himself the finest delicacy ever concocted.

Jane Froman counted all the windows in the University Hospital when she was initiated into the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority at the University of Missouri.

Wallace Butterworth and Jean Paul King are dividing honors announcing the Farm and Home hour while Everett Mitchell is spending two weeks in the Maine woods.

Their hobbies: Countess Olga Albani loves to write . . . She is the author of the radio skit, "In Old Madrid," which was broadcast by NBC several years ago . . . Wilfred Glenn, the basso, goes in for deep sea fishing . . . so does Craig McDonnell . . . Pete Bontsema, of Al and Pete, is a ping pong addict . . . Aileen Clark is a wizard at checkers . . . James Melton retreats to his yacht for relaxation . . . Lowell Patton reads travel literature.

Long's Sport Talk Among Highlights

Activities, both local and national, in the world of sports, are discussed on WCAE tonight at 7, when James J. Long, sports columnist of the Sun-Telegraph, gives his weekly sports review.

An entertaining and educational program for children is presented during the Sun-Telegraph Family broadcast today from 4:45 to 5:15.

News broadcasts by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, are heard on WCAE at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m., and 6:30 p. m.

A special program for boys of all ages is presented in the Sun-Telegraph Boys' Club on WCAE tomorrow morning at 11:45.

DOW'S TO OPEN NEW STORE

The Dow Drug Company will observe the formal opening of its new store, one of the largest and most modern in Pittsburgh, in the Chamber of Commerce Building, Seventh avenue and Smithfield street, tomorrow.

Experts in drug store layout, equipment, management and merchandising were consulted in planning the store, two features of which will be large cigar and soda fountain departments.

Man and Girl Found Shot Dead in Camp

FORT SMITH, Ark., July 8.—(AP.)—Walter Ferguson, 46, Fort Smith construction worker, and Genevieve Folden, 20, of Crawford County, Ark., were found slain yesterday at their roadside camp, near Wister, Okla., 35 miles southwest of this city.

Joe Foster, of Poteau, Okla., deputy county attorney, said he believed the man shot the girl and then himself.

Wings

Since it is over who am I to cry
My blasphemies against the pranks of fate?
No oath of mine will dull the last goodbye—
Or raise the latch that bars the heavy gate.
Since it is over what is there to gain
In cringing back to view the flowered past?
Oh, better lads than I have faced the rain,

But there are taverns I have yet to know—
And nights to pass in warm and friendly talk;
Who cares, today, if once I loved you so?
Not one! And some gay morning I will walk
Along a strange and yet uncharted trail,
And you will race to catch me, dear, and fail!

—Don Wahn.

Betty Bialk argues:

"No wonder the moon never got over that mountain with Kate Smith standing in the way!"

He Needs a Benefit

New York, as someone once observed, is a place where a person can starve to death—and not be disturbed.

But the panhandler at Fiftieth street and Seventh avenue finds it tougher than that.

"Howya doin'?" we asked him.

Quiteso, Quiteso

And Charlton Andrews, after listening to all that oratory from Chicago, came to the conclusion that too much was said about the length and breadth of the land—and not enough about the thickness.

Slanguage

One who signs his contrib "Circus Performer" offers this glossary on circus slang: "Corn" is small change .... "Spoiled water" is lemonade. . . A "wren" is a young girl . . . A "peacock" is an up-stage or ritzy performer . . . A "squirmer" is a cooch dancer and when you take out a blonde you're "toting a bale of straw."

The Best Version

It remained for Judge to add a twist to the timeworn squelch:

"May all your chidren be radio announcers!"

The snapper being:

"And may all your children have to listen to 'em!"

Sotto Voce

Ide Gruber and Phil Stack: Irvin Cobb may have written it for a magazine in 1931, but we wrote it in a column in 1928.

Nifty

And I. Hoffman passes along the word that Noel Coward is sending local ladies postcards of the armless Venus de Milo on which he inscribes:

Trap

They say that the same ruse was used in the old days during the draft to catch fellows who were trying to evade army service. Last week a mendicant who was arrested for begging without a license pleaded "deafness" to the court. Hizzoner's sympathy was aroused and the beggar was released.

As he ankled away from the bar, a court attendant followed and dropped four dimes at his toes. The "deaf" chump immediately turned and looked at the coins, whereupon he was brought back and is now on the second lap of a month's holiday.

In Case You Didn't Know

Nick, the Greek, the best-known "nothing ventured, nothing gained" man in the land, sums it up this way:

"The gambler bets. The sucker calls!"

What Luck!

Among other things you won't see in the news columns is that tale about an orgy in the shack of a locally prominent physician, whose neighbors complained to the cop on the beat about the noise.

The officer went into the place to urge them to put on the soft pedal and at the same time interrupted a strip poker party that had progressed delightfully. The participants were all members of the so-called Best Set—all of whom contributed to a collection for the cop, who went away about $400 richer.

Meow!

Two chorus girls, who were bitter enemies for a whole season while on tour, encountered each other for the first time in a month the other afternoon.

"You look," said the first, "as though you hadn't had a dinner since since I saw you last."

"Yeah?" replied the other, as she sized her up and down, "and you dearie, look as if you had been at dinner ever since."

The N. V. A. claimed the body.

Observation

And Izzy Elinson says things might have been a lot worse for those movie stars who lost their money in that Beverly Hills bank bust-up.

Public Favors Clive Brook Career

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 8.

Amidst all the skyrocket careers of Hollywood, credit Clive Brook with being a steady favorite. After seven years at Paramount, he has his pen poised to sign a new long-term contract.

Clive Brook

It is a rather remarkable record. Any star will tell you a star is lucky to manage three good years. Especially if he, as in Brook's case, has not had any sensational pictures to bolster up public interest.

The English actor, you'll recall, was featured in "Interference," one of the most intelligent of the early talkies. Since then he's had some worth-while pictures but also a good many insignificant ones. Yet despite this, he's kept his public interest.

All in all, it's rather a snub to the cynics and a vindication of the conscientious screen craftsman.

Something new in kibitzing is related by Al Jolson.

Several weeks ago, a stranger was looking on at a bridge game at one of the local beach clubs. Soon, he began to tip off one of the players' hands to the opposition.

"Look here," he said, "you've helped me a lot. I want to split this $400 with you."

The kibitizer shook his head.

"You don't owe me anything," he said, "I'm just onery that way."

BOULEVARD TALK

All the rush at the Fox studio on "Jubilo" is to insure the picture being finished by September 4. Will Rogers' contract is up on that date, and the studio wants to be able to bargain for new terms. Will's salary is a headache these days.... It was Douglas Fairbanks behind that Thompson machine gun which roused Beverly Hills autoists on the Fourth. Doug took the weapon to the South Seas for his film, but didn't get to try it out. He and George M. Cohan shot 1,000 rounds (blanks) to celebrate the holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Mack Brown, the Countess de Frasso and other Pickfair guests added to the hullabaloo by firing sawed-off shotguns and ancient but well-oiled 45s from the Fairbanks collection of frontier relics .... One of the few Hollywood casualties over the holiday was Robert Montgomery, who was thrown from his polo pony. To the great relief of the studio, he was able to report Tuesday on the Marion Davies set.

Reports still filter in of many gay parties. The Paul Bern wedding reception drew many of the stay-at-homers over the weekend. It overflowed into the beautiful gardens of Paul's home which he has deeded over to his bride. The large sycamore trees reminded Rouben Mamoulian of women—"They're generous," he explained. "But just a bit sloppy," flipped Karen Morley.

Doug Fairbanks

Many of the film colony were at the Santa Barbara Biltmore. Joseph Schenck took a party to Ensenada on "The Invader," Buster Keaton broke in his new yacht with a trip to Catalina.

CELEBRITIES DANCE

The local dancing places got their play, too. Saw Marie Prevost and Buster Collier at the Frolics. Also Sally Blane and Phillip Ormsby, Estelle Taylor and Felix Feist and Ted Fio Rito with a pretty blonde named Alice Dahl.

Something to watch with interest. The Westside Asthma and Riding Club has voted Jack Warner, the Hollywood producer, with the greatest sense of humor, and has invited him to be present at the next meeting.

One of the local sports editors draws the ire of Ernst Lubitsch by upholding the Sharkey-Schmeling fight decision after looking at motion pictures of the bout.

"Angles, distance of camera from subject, dozens of things, prevent it. I have seen the most terrific fights on the set turn out to be duds on the screen. You have to fake them to make them appear dramatic."

So, there.

Love Drama In Fulton

By JAMES A. BAUBIE

Impelling forces of humanity pass in review and leave a trail of tears and throat-lumps in their wake, in "The Strange Case of Clara Deane," which opened in the Fulton yesterday. A mother's love was never tested to a greater degree than in this screen story taken from the play by Arthur Brilant.

The most hardened movie-goer must be impressed by Wynne Gibson's worthy acting in the role of Clara Deane, the girl who is sent to prison because of her husband's criminality, picking up the broken threads of her life 20 years later.

As to plot, it is an old one, but one that never fails to intrigue, touching upon the melodramatic at times. Miss Gibson is a successful designer in 1912, marries Franke Deane, made capably hateful by Pat O'Brien, and is soon sent to prison, contrary to the rules of all good juries.

Meanwhile, Nancy Deane, their child, is secretly adopted by a policeman. Miss Gibson leaves prison to resume her dress-making work, always searching for her daughter. Dudley Digges, as the officer now risen to inspector, warns her to cease her search on the ground that the girl's life would be ruined. (Of course, she is about to marry a millionaire.)

Following the rule of melodramas to the letter, the mother finds her daughter, in fact, is assigned to make a dress in her very house. But she does not disclose her identity.

The father also is released from prison, but his bad habits follow him. He sees an opportunity to blackmail his own daughter.

Things move fast, then, and the picture utilizes some good psychology in the final scene by permitting the audience to conjecture its own ultimate ending.

50 AUTOMOBILES will be given away as prizes in the famous JIG SAW PRESIDENTIAL GAME that will start next Sunday in the SUNDAY SUN-TELEGRAPH

and other Hearst Sunday Newspapers

Instructive, absorbing, a game that all your family can enjoy and play to win one of these 50 automobiles (this year's models) that will be given to the winners.

Make Up a Family Team—and Win a Family Car!

The Jig-saw Presidential Game is not a game of luck or chance. It is a simple test of your knowledge of United States geography—not too hard for a schoolboy and not too easy for his father. It is also a test of your knowledge of the political conditions in the various States that will enable you to predict which of the two Presidential candidates will receive the votes of each State and thus enable you to forecast the outcome of the Presidential Election.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

In Which the Customers Do the Work

"DEAR MARK:" writes Freddie Allen, No. 25807 in the Jackson (Mich.) prison. "Consider the Smith family when anyone insists that truth isn't stranger than fiction. Mr. Smth was of the middle-class. A merchant who struggled along without the tender and understanding companionship of a wife. Mr. Smith was a widower with three children.

"Smith wasn't a brilliant man by any means. He hadn't been born to set the world afire by his genius. The average man, he was content to struggle along in his plodding manner. When his wife died, Smith was 35, his oldest girl was 12, his youngest 8, and the boy 10. Relatives had been more than willing to parcel out the children among themselves, but Smith curtly refused.

"Too uncertain as to the outcome of a new business venture to add any extra expense, he refused to hire a housekeeper. With the help of his eldest daughter, he himself managed the household duties. The years passed, and if he held in his heart a yearning for wifely companionship none knew it but he. His love and affection was all lavished on his children.

"Through 10 years of prosperity and thrift, Smith managed to enlarge his business, to build a home in the best section of the suburbs and to send his children to college. If he made sacrifices, he didn't deem them such. He felt it was his life's duty to make certain they had the opportunities that he had missed.

Now that the children were all at the State University, Smith felt sadly alone. The house was quiet and dull. Letters from his children grew less bulky, even as their requests for money grew larger. But he would always send the money and find pleasure in the thought that the best was none to good for his children.

"Nevertheless, Smith was worried. Ready money was becoming harder to get. The economic depression was being felt in all walks of life. The tradesman was compelled to increase his credit to the limit as well as to extend credit to his customers in order to continue in business. Smith realized that outstanding debts were eating up his assets, while borrowed money paid his bills in order to keep an established credit . . .

"On a spring night, which brings us to the present year, Smith sat in his office. He was sorting a bundle of papers that he had taken from his safe. The first four were stock certificates that had so depreciated as to make their value negligible. The next five were life insurance policies; three for the children and two for himself.

"Setting the other policies aside, he opened one that bore his name and began to read. His brow became puckered as though he were trying to concentrate entirely upon the document before him. Then, when he finished, the paper rested quietly upon the desk, his open palm upon it. His eyes held a faraway look, as though he was seeking outside of himself for an answer to an unspoken question.

"He nodded. Slowly he gathered the papers together, snapped a rubber band around them and carried the bundle to the safe. Closing the safe, he put on his hat and left the building.

"Outside the night was clear and cool. The stars shone brightly in the sky. The moon, a saffron ball, seemed suspended between heaven and earth. Pausing before entering his car, Smith looked up at the sky; the same pucker between his eyes, the same questioning look in his eyes. Then, stepping into the car, he started toward home.

"Twenty minutes' driving brought him to the outskirts of the city, and as he sped along the well-paved road, he watched for the sign he had passed so many times with but a casual glance. The sign took shape before his eyes as the car leaped forward to take the curve ahead. The front wheels swung to the right, and the next instant there was a crashing sound as the car plunged through the guard rail and rolled down a 60-foot embankment.

"As the car came to rest near some trees, a beam of moonlight filtered through the leaves and shone upon the face of Smith. No longer was there a pucker between his brows. No longer did his eyes hold a questioning look. . . .

"Had Smith opened three of the letters that were on his desk before going for his last ride he would have learned that his son and youngest daughter had been asked to leave the University—while his eldest girl had eloped to Chicago with a notorious confidence man."...

THRONGS VIEW COACH WORK

Crowds are thronging Carnegie Museum halls this week to view the exhibit of Napoleonic coach models which boys of Pennsylvania have entered in the $75,000 competition of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild.

The display consists of some 180 coaches, resplendent in red, blue and gold, built to the plans furnished last fall by the Guild, and now being judged to decide the numerous state winners. The judges work with templates and gauges, and record some 230 measurements in checking each entry.

William L. Brown, in charge of the judging, is a teacher of vocational education in Detroit public schools. Edgar L. Phillips is in similar work here and Arthur Paulsen, the third official, is in local Boy Scout work.

The judging will last until July 19.

Akron Drops Search For Missing Ketch

LAKEHURST, N. J., July 8.—(INS.)—The huge naval dirigible Akron was back at her hangar today after a futile cruise to Bermuda to aid in the search of the missing ketch Curley with six men aboard. Commander A. H. Dresel, who guided the airship on its two-day voyage, said no trace of the lost vessel was found.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

George S. Kaufmann, playwright, who is a former Pittsburgh boy, is collaborating with Edna Ferber in the writing of a play at his Long Island home. The information comes by way of Conneaut Lake, where Mr. Kaufmann's father was a caller at the cottage of Bill Grundish on the Fourth.

* * *

"The Last Mile," grim play by John Wexley that was one of the hits of its season in New York, will go into film production in Hollywood at once, with Preston Foster in the leading role and Howard Phillips and Ralph Theadore in the same parts they acted on the stage.

* * *

John Mack Brown has been cast to play an All-American half-back in "10,000 Witnesses," a mystery dramatic film that also will have Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan and Charles Ruggles in the cast.

With "Merrily," etc., still jingling in the mind, we learn that Elissa Landi's newest picture has been titled "A Passport to Hell." Paul Lukas, Alexander Kirkland and Warner Oland are in it.

ASK '33 BUDGET BE PREPARED

Immediate preparation of 1933 budget estimates for all city departments, to be in Council's hands by September 15, was advocated today by the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board.

This, a communication to Council said, would give plenty of opportunity to study the budget.

The board requested Council call this to Mayor Charles H. Kline's attention and that he instruct department heads to submit their 1933 estimates to him by August 15. The letter was prompted by announcement that Council will declare a summer recess in the next few days.

Loots Vacant House, Slain by Owner

EASTON, Pa., July 8.—(INS.)—Caught in the act of looting a vacant dwelling at Redington, near here, early today, one of two brothers was shot and killed by the owner of the house. The other was being sought by police.

Walter Pyle, 29, who was killed, was accompanied by his wife and three small children on the fatal trip. They were detained pending capture of the missing man, Charles Pyle, 24.

HORSEMEN WIN AUCTION TITLE

CLEVELAND, July 8.—(AP.)—Led by the spectacular playing of Willard Karn, a revised line-up of the "Four Horsemen" from the Deal, N. J., bridge club, last night successfully defended their All-American team-of-four championship in auction bridge.

The winning team was composed of Karn, P. Hal Sims, David Burnstine and Baron Waldeman von Zedtwitz, the latter substituting for Howard Schenken, who was unable to remain for the close of the American Whist League's annual congress.

After taking eight out of 12 matches yesterday afternoon, the Horsemen came forward with a rush in the evening round, winning 10½ out of 12 for a final score of 18½.

The previous night, with Schenken in the line-up, the team won the All-American team-of-four championship in contract.

Fruits Contain Ingredients Required by Body

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It is difficult to keep comfortable during the summer when the temperature is high and the humidity great. Some persons manage to stand the heat better than others. I have often noticed that the individual who partakes freely of fruit juices and fruits seems cheerful, healthy and comfortable.

Fruits are beneficial during the winter as well as in the summer. The fruit juices are more popular during the summer months when they are in great demand as refreshing beverages. Fruit juices are wholesome.

At one time fruits and fruit juices were mainly used for their taste. It was not known that they had a definite food value. Today, advances made in the study of nutrition show that fruits are of vital importance in maintaining good health and nutrition. Fruits contain essential vitamins, valuable mineral substances and other ingredients required by the body.

PREVENTS DISEASES

For many centuries fruits have been known to have laxative properties. Fresh fruits supply a certain amount of roughage necessary for proper intestinal action. The mineral salts and fruit juices neutralize many poisons that accumulate within the body and in this manner aid in the elimination of waste matter.

Fruit juices aid in preventing many constitutional diseases. These diseases are often spoken of as "vitamin deficiency" diseases, caused by a lack of certain vitamins in the diet. Scurvy is an example. It is caused when there is a lack of vitamin C. This vitamin is abundantly found in fresh oranges and lemons.

Aside from the valuable vitamins and important minerals found in fruits and fruit juices, it should be clearly understood that they do not add calories to the diet. They are not heat or energy producing foods, but their value lies in that they are refreshing in their effect. They are valuable, too, because they contribute to the diet certain elements which are not found in other foods.

STRENGTHEN TEETH

Another advantage these foods possess is that they contribute in making and keeping the teeth strong and healthy. Raw fruits cleanse the teeth and stimulate circulation of the gums through chewing.

Recent experiments show that fruit juices have been used advantageously in the treatment of simple anemia. It has been found that in certain cases fruit juices, as lemon, orange and grapefruit, increase the number of red blood cells and the coloring material of the blood. The next time you drink a fresh orange juice or another fruit juice, be assured that in addition to being a thirst quenching drink, it is beneficial to your health.

MICHIGAN BAKED BEANS
(Makes 10 to 12 servings)

Three cups pea beans, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 small onion, ½ pound salt pork, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon mustard, ¼ cup sugar.

Soak the beans in cold water over night. Cover with fresh cold water, bring to the boiling point, and simmer for 30 minutes. Drain the beans and return them to the kettle. Add the chopped onion. Scrape the rind of the pork and cut it through at half-inch intervals. Add to the beans and cover with boiling water. Cover, and boil gently until the beans are soft. Turn the beans, with the liquid, into a shallow baking dish, add the seasonings, and place the pork in the center with only the rind exposed. Bake in a moderate oven for about two hours, or until the beans are quite dry and browned on top.

GERMAN POTATO SALAD
(Serves six persons)

Six medium-sized potatoes, 3 or 4 slices bacon, salt, pepper, ¼ cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

Cook the potatoes in boiling, salted water until tender, but not too soft. Cool, remove skins, and cut the potatoes in very thin slices. Place in a shallow dish, season with salt and pepper, and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Cut the bacon into small pieces and cook until crisp and brown. Add the vinegar to the bacon fat, mix well, and pour over the potatoes. Serve warm.

* * *

APRICOT CREAM ROLL—Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla or lemon extract, 1 cup cake or pastry flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, apricot preserves, custard filling.

Beat the eggs until light, add the sugar gradually and continue beating. Add the flavoring, the flour sifted with the baking powder and salt, and the boiling water. Stir in the shortening. Bake in a shallow pan. Turn out onto a damp cloth and cut off the edges of the cake. Spread quickly with custard filling, then add a layer of preserves and roll like a jelly roll. Serve in slices with a garnish of whipped cream. Serves 6 to 8 persons.

Don't Drag Honeymoon Into Husband's Office

She's just crazy about her brand new husband—and to prove it, she calls him up at the office every time she turns around.

Does he like it? Well, of course it's wonderful to hear her coo "I love you, honey," but—

The boss is beginning to look cross-eyed every time someone sings out "Call for you, Jim!" And Jim's beginning to suspect that maybe the office isn't the best place for torch songs.

"But, how can I tell her?" he moans. "I don't want to hurt her feelings, and she would be hurt, if I tried to explain."

Is that a picture of you, girlie?

Do you think work is a sort of picnic that the big boy can leave every time you need a spool of thread, or just want to hear his voice on the wire?

INTERRUPTING CALLS

"Dear Miss Martin—

"Maybe you'll think this is a fool question, but it's got my goat, and I don't know what to do, so here goes.

"What'll I do about my wife phoning the office three or four times a day?

"We haven't been married very long, and we are deeply in love with each other. My wife is very young and has never worked, so she really doesn't know that work is serious and that the higher-ups object to having it interrupted.

"And, as a matter of fact, I object myself. I'll just get thoroughly busy on some job, when someone will sing out 'Call for you, Jim!' and there she is on the phone again, and my concentration all knocked to smithereens. It makes it hard to get things done.

"She gets nervous about little things. If a faucet leaks, she calls me up to ask what she should do about it. She calls to find out whether she should buy pork chops or steak for supper, or to tell me to buy a spool of thread on my way home, if she happens to be too busy to come downtown.

BOSS DISPLEASED

"I liked it at first, I'll admit. I thought 'Gosh! She surely does depend on me and try to please me! And she likes to hear my voice!' But it's getting to going too strong now, and I've seen the boss scowling several times lately when calls came in.

"When that happened I cut the talk as short as I could, and she was offended. She seemed to think I didn't want to talk to her. I don't want to hurt her feelings, but it has me worried. The rest of the office force grin when a call comes for me, and make wisecracks about me being a 'henpecked husband' and her 'keeping tabs' on me.

"I'm afraid the boss will think I'm not attending to business, and I can't afford to lose my job. How can I make her understand, without hurting her and making her think I don't want to talk to her?

"JIM."

How'll you make her understand?

Why, tell her exactly how things are, son. Explain to her that when you're working the boss expects you to work, and that he gets peeved when your time is broken into, which is, after all, no more than his right. He pays you for staying on the job, and he hasn't any time for your personal affairs during business hours.

APPEAL TO PRIDE

Nor should she expect you to plan her meals for her. That's her job, and it's her job to run her house, leaking faucets and all, without calling on you. You do your part when you trot down town and bring her home the bacon.

But don't get mad at her because she doesn't do it now. It's all new to her, and she has to feel her way around. Kid her out of running to you with every trivial trouble. Appeal to her pride in being smart enough to run things on her own. Jolly her into learning to be a partner and a teammate, instead of a leaner.

And if she doesn't take these loving tips? If she still insists on dragging the honeymoon into the office? Then what?

Then tell her about it, Jim; for if she still holds out she's either a sap or a selfish, stubborn human who wants to have her own way, regardless of the established status quo. And if she's like that, the sooner you snap her out of it, the better.

-:- The Beauty Box -:-

By HELEN FOLLETT

Hair dressing professors and professoresses aren't urging the cash customer to get their locks platinumized. To attain the silvery-gold the hair must be bleached white, and that much bleaching is a strain on the shafts. Not so bad at that if it weren't for the touchup that must be included in the beauty calendar every five or six weeks.

When the beautiful heroine in the movie awakens in the morning she looks as slick as a whistle. You see her with her lovely head on the pillow, every curl and waveline in perfect order. Must have had a marcel while she slept. Her ruby lips have retained their Cupid's bow outline which, plainly, was laid there by the carmine lip stick. Wonderful, indeed! But not natural. When the movies go in for realism they'll show the beauteous creature with her back hair standing on end, her face nicely basted with cold cream and her bleaching-packed paddies encased in No. 8 white cotton gloves.

Be suspicious of old man Sun. His warm rays put you on your toes, but they'll skin your nose and neck and arms, if you don't watch out! The medical profession warns against sunburn and the beauty specialist knows how tough a job it is to remove red-brown stains due to over exposure to Mr. Sun's ardent caresses. Hold him at a distance. Take your sunnings in small portions. Anoint the skin surface with a good cream before going out of doors and directly after coming in. The reckoning comes in the red-and-yellow autumn time when mottled skin is reason for tears and lamentations.

Unless legs and arms are over-sized, they don't need special exercise. During the day's activities they are pretty much on the move. Exercise that every woman needs, those that aid digestion and so make complexions clearer and rosier, that act upon the intestinal tract, the liver and even the lungs, are movements that pull on the muscles of the torso. They're good. You bend, you twist at the waistline, you up and kick, you lie on the floor and flounce your legs over your head. Thus is acquired the graceful silhouette, free of fat, that carries off sartorial glories, looks nifty and can prance down the street feeling grand and stylish.

Calling Card

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Not so long ago you answered a question about calling cards. I am 17 years old and wish you would send me the name of the engraving you suggested and said would be the best for young people.

2. Also, will you please give me your opinion on how they would look the best engraved, Dorothy May Hastings or Dorothy Mae Hastings. My birthday is in May and my aunt's name is Mae. She insists that I write it with an "e." Which do you really think would look the best with the rest of my name?

READER.

1. There is, in my opinion, a charming youthfulness and grace about shaded antique Roman. And this style of engraving now is one of the most popular, perhaps the most popular. Ask your stationer or jeweler to show you this engraving style, and I am sure that you will agree with me.

The other style of engraving that is especially charming and appropriate for our visiting cards is script. Script is always correct, always in fashion, and is much less expensive than any other style of engraving.

I suggest that you avoid Old English, for it has been overdone and is certainly not particularly youthful-looking. It had a tremendous vogue for many years, but its popularity is distinctly dying down.

2. I'm afraid that I'm not the unbiased adviser that I should be about this, for the spelling of Mae has always been an eyesore to me. May is a charming word; the month is a charming month; and I can see no reason why the spelling should have been changed. If you were named after the month, why not spell your name as the month spells its name? But if you were named after your aunt, perhaps you should adhere to the spelling that she prefers.

As to the better appearance of the cards, there is no question about this, for the fact that the bottom part of the y extends below the line makes a better balance to the engraving. This would give two y's and a g to extend below the line.

And remember to have the Miss engraved before your name.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Collapses Under Mental Strain

Harry Underwood was the first of us to speak as the purring motors came up the farmyard driveway.

"Lil, for a cert!" he said, and dashed toward the door. Dicky and I were promptly at his heels, and reached the side veranda just in time to see Roland spring from one car and Bob Trevellan from the other, and pull open the doors for the feminine members of the party.

I had time to remark only that Bob was chauffing a big car which held Lillian, Mary and Carolyn, while Roland had only Marion beside him in a cosy two-seater. But that glimpse gave me a better insight into Lillian's heart than an hour's conversation with her could have done.

I knew how afraid she had been that "Old Man Propinquity," as her husband expressed it, would be responsible for strengthening the budding romance between Marion and Ronald, and how she had maneuvered to keep them apart as much as possible when the two families were living near each other. Yet here she had permitted Roland to drive Marion down in the little car, unaccompanied by anyone else.

She was deliberately throwing them together, I saw, and suspected that it was a frantic gesture, born of some secret fear concerning her child. I found that fear reflected in her troubled eyes and her strained face, pathetic in its brave attempt at cheeriness.

But it was only for a second that I caught that vision. Then it was blotted out against her big husband's shoulder, as he reached the car and, oblivious of everything else, took her in his arms.

RUSH FOR DRESSES

That debonair sophomore and man-of-the-world, Bob Trevellan, who had opened the door for Lillian with a flourish, found himself not exactly elbowed out of the way, but distinctly on the sidelines. He cocked a humorous eye in Mr. Underwood's direction and then, going to the other side of the car where Mary and Carolyn had already alighted, busied himself with handing out various pieces of apparently fragile, small luggage, topped by three filmy gowns on hangers, which had been suspended from the roof of the tonneau.

"Where'll I park these?" he asked, and with three simultaneous shrieks Mary, Carolyn and Marion, whom Ronald had helped down from the other car, rushed at Bob, who was holding the gowns high above his head, but standing perilously near to the dusty fenders of the car.

"Guess I'll have to deliver the keys to the city to you, Ron," Dicky said. "Everybody else seems to be absorbed."

"They'll be all right in a minute, sir," Ronald's tone was ludicrously apologetic, as he looked at Marion. "They've been fussing about those dresses, for some reason, ever since they started. Said they never knew what might be doing at the farm, and they might not have time to press anything after they got here, and they wanted to make sure of one unwrinkled dress apiece. Excuse me, please!"

BELATED GREETINGS

The last words were a hurried accompaniment to a cleverly executed sidestep, which took him away from us just as the three girls, holding the suspended gowns high above their heads, came up to us with belated, apologetic greetings.

"We're just beastly rude, Auntie Madge," Marion said, with the exaggeration which every school girl seems impelled to put into her simplest observation, "and we're afraid even to kiss or be kissed because of these pesky things. But we're awfully glad to get back home again, although we've had the most marvelous time. Mayn't we put these things upstairs and then come down and say 'How do you do' properly?"

"My mother told me to say 'I've had a very nice time,'" Carolyn interpolated, grinning widely; then added, as if as an afterthought, "No, that comes when you're going home. But we'll have all our speeches thought out when we come back. You'll see!"

They were moving away, laughing, when I halted them.

"I'll consider all the pretty things said," I told them smiling. "You needn't come back. I shall be very busy during the next few minutes."

For I had seen, what their absorbed eyes had not, that Lillian was being held up bodily by her husband's strong arms, and that she was perilously near swooning.

Household Hints

Pastry made with too much water is tough and hard. Use only enough water to hold the ingredients together, mix quickly, roll and handle as little as possible.

If your husband is the sort who would rather spend his early morning minutes in bed rather than bother with eating breakfast and it worries you to have him go out without having eaten, serve him a tray on his bedroom dresser with orange juice, a glass of milk and a cup of coffee. He will have plenty of nourishment until lunch time with this liquid breakfast.

Enameled stoves have become quite colorful and decorative objects in the modern kitchen. A bright, cheery kitchen was discovered to have a green and yellow enamel stove, which colors had been carried out in the selection of enamel kitchen utensils. These enameled gas ranges are easily kept clean, but it is wise to take the precaution of allowing them to cool before washing in order to prevent a cracking of the surface. The range should be wiped off every day with a soapy cloth, and if there are any stubborn discolorations, a little baking soad added to the water is a help.

Neglect of the Baby's First Teeth Causes Trouble Later

When teething time comes every mother is greatly concerned about her baby. Many mothers are unduly alarmed because of delayed teething, while others endure much anxiety because of painful teething, and I receive numerous letters asking for information about the baby's teeth.

Dr. Copeland

Every child has a right to strong, healthy teeth, yet many an ailment in later life comes from weak and neglected teeth in childhood. Diseases such as arthritis, rheumatism and heart, kidney and lung diseases have been traced to diseased teeth. Most cases of these diseases could have been prevented by proper care of the teeth during infancy and childhood.

During the first half year the baby is provided with all the necessary food elements required to form strong and healthy teeth, in mother's milk. When it becomes necessary to resort to bottle feeding, adequate measures should be taken to insure a sufficient supply of lime and the important vitamins in the baby's food.

Within recent years there has been a great advance in the artificial feeding of infants. Most mothers have been taught the value and importance of orange juice, tomato juice and cod liver oil, as well as sunshine, as a means of stimulating the growth and development of strong and durable teeth.

The child has two sets of teeth. The first, or temporary set, consists of 20 teeth. The cutting of these usually begins at the age of six months and continues until the child is about 30 months old. Some children cut teeth earlier than others.

If no teeth have appeared by the ninth or tenth month, there is no need for alarm, but the physician should be consulted. Delayed teething is frequently a sign that the baby is not getting the proper food, but it may be something else that interferes with normal development of the teeth.

Contrary to a common and false belief, the temporary teeth require the same care and attention that should be given to permanent teeth. Hard and dry foods should be included in the baby's diet after the first year. Dry toast, dry bread, crackers and other foods which require chewing, aid in the development of healthy teeth and strong jaws.

The temporary teeth should be cleansed every evening before bedtime with a soft camel's hair brush dipped in water or salt water solution. As the baby grows older, it should be encouraged to form the habit of brushing the teeth.

The temporary teeth may be quite firm and loosened with difficulty. This delays cutting the permanent teeth, and is an important factor in producing irregular and disfigured teeth. These cases require treatment by a dentist.

Every child ought to be taken to a dentist at least once a year, but if cavities and other signs of decay appear they should receive immediate treatment. Do not think this attention is unnecessary because the teeth are temporary. Giving temporary teeth proper dental care helps a lot to insure strong and healthy permanent teeth, and strong teeth promote good digestion, appetite and vigorous health.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Thus Far and No Farther

The almost undiscernable line that divides the Slam hand from the one that will merely produce game is crossed by many players because they do not take into consideration the fact that Slams should not be bid unless the possibility of losing too many tricks to adversely held Aces has at least been discounted and provided for. While a wealth of playing-tricks is essential to the making of a Slam, playing-tricks alone are not the stuff that Slams are made of. Thus, when partner has made an opening bid, and the responding hand decides that the proper course is to raise that bid, raises should be given to the full limit of the hand, but a Slam should not be bid without taking into consideration the factor of honor-tricks in the opponents' hands. Nor should the holder of a minimum hand rebid if the Responding Hand raises the contract above game and suggests the possibility of a Slam.

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

	♠ K 8 7 5 4 3 2 ♡ A 9 6 5 4 ◇ — ♣ Q
♠ J ♡ K 10 3 ◇ A K 9 5 2 ♣ A 9 8 2		♠ — ♡ J 7 2 ◇ 10 8 7 4 3 ♣ J 10 7 4 3
	♠ A Q 10 9 6 ♡ Q 8 ◇ Q J 6 ♣ K 6 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠ (1)	Double (2)	5 ♠ (3)	Pass
Pass	Double (4)	Redble (5)	Pass
Pass	Pass

(2) West has 3½ honor-tricks and is fairly prepared for a weak heart response from partner. This is a better bid than a mere Overcall.

(3) In support of partner's bid, North holds more than 8 playing-tricks. However, the possibility of losing tricks in hearts and clubs still remains, and he, therefore, should bid only four spades, suggesting that his partner bid a Slam, if he holds other honor-tricks not shown by his Opening bid, but refusing to do so in case his hand is a minimum.

(4) A very bad Double. Even though the hand contains 3½ honor-tricks, North's Raise to five spades, in view of West's strong hand, clearly indicates a freakish distribution. No other type of hand could justify North's bid, in view of the fact that South, vulnerable, opened the bidding, and West holds the cards he does.

(5) Naturally.

The student of Bridge will be interested to know that East and West could accept a very small paying penalty by defending the hand in six diamonds. However, the bidding has reached such heights that they are unable to exchange information that would disclose their safe refuge.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

What should South lead, holding:

♠ K 7 6 4 ♡ 8 7 ◇ K Q 4 ♣ K 10 8 2

Answer: Eight of hearts. The tenace positions must be retained and the short suit lead is indicated.

PIRATES, GIANTS END SERIES

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

BUCS STANDOUTS AS YOUNGEST CLUB

THE FACT THAT the pair of youngsters at the Pirate midway kicked in with a couple of errors yesterday, Tony Piet's fumble causing the loss of the game, doesn't necessarily mean that there's any danger of a cracking in that sector because of inexperience. Errors are part of baseball. Older players might have foozled under the same circumstances. Floyd Vaughan swung a double play in the first inning that would have done credit to any veteran. Both he and Piet have been remarkably steady, considering age, experience and the heat of the pennant race. One bad day doesn't mean anything.

Floyd Vaughan

Occasional slips of that nature must be expected on such a youthful team fighting under a first-place strain. It's surprising that the Bucs haven't made more of them. The club is the youngest in either major league barring the Tigers and Browns, who rate at the same figure. With Vaughan 21, Piet 24, Grace and Suhr 25, Lloyd Waner and Barbee 26, Paul Waner 29 and Traynor 32, the average age of the regular Buc lineup is only 26 years. Of their last 40 games they have won 28. Of their last 16 they have lost only three. That they have held up so well thus far holds out plenty of hope for the future.

THEY MAKE FUN of Frank Hogan on account of his bulk and his slowness of foot, but it's got to be admitted that he's a valuable ball player. The big fellow is one of the work-horses of the majors. He's back there catching day after day, and in no season since he joined the Giants in 1928 has he failed to appear in more than 100 games. In his first New York season he was in 131 contests.

Hogan's bat has been one of the few Giant weapons to click up to normal in the series here this week. Frank is always formidable at the plate. He has never finished below the .300 mark in hitting in his four years with New York, and it is not due to any fault of his that the Giants are not higher in the present race.

HOGAN, BY THE way, holds the National League record for catching percentage. He was behind the bat for the Giants in 113 games last year, and out of a total of 525 fielding chances he missed only two. He wound up the season with 469 putouts and 54 assists against only two errors for an average of .996.

That's the mark at which Earl Grace will have to shoot this year to set a new record for National League catching excellence. The Pirate backstop still boasts a perfect record. In 60 games up to today, he had 180 putouts and 32 assists, without an error.

BROOKLYN WILL BE the second of the Eastern clubs to visit Pittsburgh in the present home stay of the Pirates. Max Carey's troupe is to follow the Giants for a series here, starting tomorrow. The Bucs and Dodgers will go to Brooklyn tomorrow night for a Sunday game, returning for contests at Forbes Field Monday and Tuesday. Brooklyn is the only club in the league with which the Corsairs have not been forced to arrange a doubleheader this season. There hasn't been a single interruption in the nine games scheduled up to date. Four have been played here and five in Brooklyn, the Pirates holding an edge of five victories against the Dodgers' four.

Dick Bartell

BASEBALL MEN WHO are picking the Pirates, Cubs, Braves and Cardinals as the clubs to fight it out for the National League pennant are overlooking another real contender, in the opinion of Dick Bartell, Quaker shortstop. He insists that the Phils are in it despite their present slip.

"I never was more serious in my life than I am in claiming that we've got a pennant chance," said the former Pirate. "Show me another club with two hitters as good as Chuck Klein and Don Hurst. G'wan, show me. Why don't you say something? We've shown we can win at home. Every club that has come into the Philadelphia park has had its ears pinned back properly. Our pitchers have been good enough to win, with Klein, Hurst, Lee and Whitney killing the ball.

"ME? I'M JUST a shortstop," Bartell continued. "Those big, strong fellows are going to win the pennant for us. If we can play .500 ball on the road, and I think we can, we're sure to be up there.

"If we start our home stand in September within striking distance of the lead, I think we'll be in. We've proved this last month that we can do better than any other Eastern club at home. And the Eastern teams finish at home this year."

ANOTHER ATHLETE FROM the local college ranks is to go in for coaching. Kermit Ewing, of Coraopolis, former halfback on the Carnegie Tech football team, has accepted an offer to become football and basketball coach at Northampton High School, near Allentown, and will enter upon his new duties in the fall. Ewing was on Carnegie's varsity squad for three years, and concluded his college playing career with the ending of the season of 1931. He was graduated last month and is at present in New York.

THOUGH EARLY INDICATIONS were that there would be no broadcasting of the Olympic Games, there is now a prospect that radio listeners throughout the country who cannot attend the carnival will be able to keep in touch with the big doings in Los Angeles.

The price asked for the broadcast rights was $100,000. It was set by the organizing committee of the games early in the year. For a long time there were no takers, but the Pacific Coast head of a national advertising agency has advised one of the country's biggest automobile concerns to purchase the privilege, and it is reported his suggestion will be adopted. If the deal is closed it will assure radio fans of the country a 16-day picture of the international classic.

"I DON'T PROFESS to be a prophet," writes Luke Carney, local boxing pilot, "but the present situation bears out what I said some time ago—that the promoters here were making a mistake in not giving the home boxers more of a chance. They've been going dizzy and getting headaches through their dealings with the prima donnas and high-financiers from out of town.

"The promoters are finally taking a tumble to themselves and will be turning to the local boys to pull them out of the rut. There is no outstanding big-timer like Harry Greb or Jack Zivic, but there are several up-and-coming lads who deserve a little thought and attention from the promoters. One club has shown wisdom in reducing its prices and giving the fans a break. Shows can be run at a profit at popular prices by giving the home boxers a chance and dropping some of the disappointing outsiders who have been getting high-flier guarantees."

H. Chandler Egan

IF YOU THINK Francis Ouimet deserves to be ranked as one of golf's most remarkable figures from the angle of age and durability, how about H. Chandler Egan? Ouimet has been termed an age marvel because he came back last year to win the United States amateur championship 17 years after a similar victory in 1914, and because he followed up last week by capturing the Massachusetts state open which he first won in 1915. Yet, compared with Egan, he is a mere youngster. Egan won the national amateur as far back as 1904, a mere matter of 28 years ago. And he is still winning championships, for only last Saturday he took the Pacific Northwest crown for the fifth time. Nor was it so very long ago that he fought his way well into the national amateur match play rounds.

VON ELM SLIPS, TAKES 78 FOR 148 TOTAL

OTTAWA, July 8. — (AP.) — Harry Cooper, of Chicago, who showed the way over the first 18 holes yesterday with a 69, shot a 75 today to hold his lead in the Canadian open golf championship with a 36-hole total of 144.

Lighthorse Cooper, after touring the outgoing nine in perfect figures with a 37, lost a stroke to par coming home, but his 36-hole total was good enough to hold the lead with about one-fourth of the field in.

Von Elm was off his putting stroke today, and it cost him strokes at almost every hole. On the ninth he had a disastrous 7, 2 over par, for out card of 40. Coming home he was over par on three holes, but on the eighteenth sank his first long putt of the day—a 10-footer.

Von Elm's card:

Out.. 5 4 5 5 2 5 5 2 7—40

Eleanor Holm Claims New Swim Record

RYE, N. Y., July 8.—(AP.)—Eleanor Holm, of the Women's Swimming Association, New York, and Katherine Rawls, Miami Beach, Fla., set up new records at an aquatic carnival here last night.

Miss Holm set up what was claimed to be a new world record for the 200-yard backstroke which she swan in 2 minutes 38 2-5 seconds.

Miss Rawls, appearing in a special record attempt, claimed a new American record for the 300-meter breaststroke, being clocked in 5 minutes 6 1-5 seconds.

Gusto Runs Against Equipoise Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 8.—(AP.)—A couple of three-year-olds, Gusto, winner of the American Derby, and Abe Bartelstein's Yonkel, will have a try at the one and only Equipoise in the $20,000 added Arlington Gold Cup here tomorrow.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: A PILL PRODIGY—Samuel Jessup, a pastoralist born in 1752, died at Heckington, England, June 17, 1817, at the age of 65. Into the last 21 years of his life Jessup crowded an astounding pill-taking record. His total intake within 21 years was 226,934 pills, which is equal to an average of more than 10,000 pills a year, or 29 pills a day for the period. Narrowing this curious achievement down to the last five years of his life, the average daily intake was 78 pills, while the annual total for 1814 reached the staggering quantity of 51,590 pills. An exact tally was kept by the apothecary at Bottesford, England, from whom Jessup drew his entire supply of pills. In addition to the pills, Jessup assimilated 40,000 bottles of "mixtures, juleps, and electuaries." The pill prodigy's vitality must have been of a tremendous caliber to begin with, since he was able to defy death for 21 years.

TOMORROW: IMPERVIOUS TO PAIN.

MURRAY MEETS SUTTER TODAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 8.—(AP.)—Dixie's prize crop of college net stars was thrown together in the semi-final matches of the men's singles in the Southern tennis tournament today.

Cliff Sutter, ruler of Southern and National intercollegiate tennis competition and captain of the Tulane University tennis team, was matched with Dan Murray, a former captain of the Tulane net squad. Both are from New Orleans.

FAVORITES ADVANCE

MINNEAPOLIS, July 8.—(AP.)—With all eyes centered on him, Lester Stoefen, 18-year-old rangy Los Angeles star, faced today a quarter-final singles match with Earl Reynolds, of Vicksburg, Miss., in the Minneapolis invitational tournament. He kept step with the defending champion, John Hennessey, of Indianapolis, yesterday by a quick triumph over Paul Scherer, of Minneapolis, 6-4, 6-0.

The Californian's foe of today reached the quarter-finals by turning back Eligio Maglaya, of Minneapolis, 6-2, 6-0, while Hennessey was vanquishing Jay Cohn, of Santa Monica, Cal., 6-3, 6-2. Hennessey meets Bob Bryan today.

MERCUR BEATEN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 8.—(AP.)—Fritz Mercur, of Williamsport, Pa., a top favorite, was the victim of an upset yesterday in the quarter-final round of the Rhode Island singles championship, losing to Richard (Dick) Murphy, of Utica, N. Y., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1.

Nurmi Arrives; Stella To Run for Poland

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—Paavo Nurmi, as stolid and uncommunicative as ever, arrived with nine other Finnish track and field stars on the liner Mauretania today, intent on winning the Olympic marathon at Los Angeles and then hanging up his track shoes.

Interviewed as the big liner slowly felt her way up the bay through a light fog, Paavo said if his suspension was lifted by the International Athletic Federation and he won the long grind at Los Angeles he planned never to race again.

He declined to discuss his suspension by the I. A. A., which investigated charges of excessive expense accounts and failure to appear at scheduled meets, and answered most of the question put through an interpreter with a shake of the head or a nod.

They planned to go directly to Baker Field, Columbia University's athletic plant in Manhattan, to work off their sea legs. They will leave at noon tomorrow for Los Angeles.

101 BOXING ENTRIES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—(AP.)—A total of 101 entries from all sections of the country for the American Olympic team boxing trials here July 20, 21 and 23 was announced today by Al Sandell, Pacific Coast chairman of the Olympic committee.

Thirty-seven fights will be held the first night; 32 the second night and 24 as the wind-up.

Commissioner Sandell received word that Ben Levine, of New York; Albert Betchold, Cincinnati, and Charles Brennan, Detroit, had been named judges. Toby Irwin, Joe Gorman and Eddie Burns, of this city, were chosen as referees by Sandell.

CLEVELAND, July 8.—(AP.)—Stella Walsh, fastest of feminine track stars, today declined to accept naturalization as a citizen of the United States and will run under the colors of her native Poland in the coming Olympic games.

If she clings to her decision, the United States has lost virtually certain points in the women's dashes.

Miss Walsh announced her plans when she appeared in Federal Court this morning for a special hearing at which she was to have been granted her citizenship papers.

She exhibited a cablegram from Poland, written in Polish, which she refused to translate, but she said it contained information which "might affect my entire future life."

Sande to Invade French Race Tracks

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—Earl Sande, who rode to fame on some of America's greatest thoroughbreds, is packing his kit for an invasion of the French turf.

Finding it difficult to make the weight necessary to keep busy on American tracks, the popular little rider intends to sail for France within a fortnight.

Chilly Sauce

There was a laxity to the Pirate play in the latter part of the game that had not been in evidence in many battles. Perhaps it was a natural letdown.

The Giants, on the other hand, were quite frantic to win. They were like the groggy gent on the canvas who brings one up from the floor and lands.

Speaking in the ring vernacular, it is likely the Buccos will enjoy some punching tonight. Promoter John L. Hernon, of the Hickey Park Bowl, has invited the Pirates to the bouts scheduled for tonight.

The Knot Hole Gang will get their opportunity to see the Giants in action today as guests of the club.

Deacon Charles L. Philippe, oldtime pitching star, collapsed while entering the clubhouse shortly after yesterday's game and was treated by Trainer C. A. Jorgenson until Dr. Berg, club physician, was summoned. An examination by Dr. Berg revealed an abdominal displacement, but not of serious nature. After receiving medical aid, Phillippe was taken to his home. The Deacon is employed in the ticket department at Forbes Field.

WRESTLERS VIE FOR OLYMPICS

COLUMBUS, O., July 8.—(AP.)—Twenty-nine aspirants for places on the American Olympic wrestling team were eliminated here last night in the first and second rounds of the Olympic finals. The matches will continue today and tomorrow, when seven first place men and a like number of alternates will be selected.

One accident marred the opening program. In the last bout of the night, Charles McKinney, New York, suffered a broken right leg in his match with Jack Riley, of Northwestern University, all-America football tackle. McKinney last week was crowned national A. A. U. heavyweight champion.

From a field of 112 qualifiers, 98 reported for the first round. Sixty-nine will wrestle the third and fourth rounds today with the final selections tomorrow.

LEON CHAGNON OR KREMER TO TWIRL

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The Pirates and Giants will wind up their highly charged series this afternoon with a single game. The largest crowd of the season saw Bill Terry's band snap the winning streak of the Buccos yesterday in the only battle of what started out to be a doubleheader. A violent storm featuring hail, rain and wind prevented the second game.

About 16,000 paid customers and approximately 6,000 women folks witnessed the New York victory over the home club, which had won six games in a row. The Oaklanders were on the verge of a seventh success when their defense cracked and the invaders rode to a 4-to-3 triumph. The Pirates lost a full game in the first place fight to the victorious Cubs and Braves, who are two and one-half games from the top.

BEST GATE THIS SEASON

The rush of women and girls at game time indicated that almost half of the multitude was made up of the fair sex, but the official recount showed that there were almost three times as many paid patrons as there were free onlookers. The paid attendance was the best of the season, it exceeded opening day by a slight margin.

The big mixup around the free turnstiles gave observers an exaggerated view of the gratis patrons. The ladies must pay the government tax and the collection of same almost caused a young riot. Nothing more than fainting cases were reported by the police, however.

CHAGNON OR KREMER

Manager Gibson has Leon Chagnon and Remy Kremer ready for slab duty today. Gibson announced over WCAE Wednesday night that he might use Chagnon in the dual bill scheduled for yesterday and the Pittsburgh boss actually had the French-Canadian boy primed for the task when rain prevented the game. Leon has done such exemplary work in the relief role that Gibby concluded he deserved a chance to start. Kremer also is in shape for the slip. Carl Hubbell is due to work for the Giants.

The Buccos seemed to have relaxed as they tasted defeat yesterday. They were out in front with a three-run lead as late as the sixth inning and Heinie Meine was breezing along nicely when the letdown came. The invaders counted once in the sixth and they tied the score as a result of Piet's fumble of an easy chance in the seventh.

Giants were on first and third with two out in the seventh when Leslie batted for Fred Fitzsimmons. The pinch man rolled a tap to Piet, who took his eye off the ball to give the foe a tally. J. Moore followed with a lucky hit and the tying marker scored.

TERRY SCORES WINNING RUN

Manager Terry scored the winning run in the eighth. Bill singled and Ott beat out a tap on which Piet and Suhr turned in a great play. Vergez batted for Hogan and bunted. Meine's throw to third was wide and Terry tallied. Meine allowed no more runs, but the damage was done.

Waite Hoyt turned in an excellent bit of relief twirling to save the game for the Giants. Fitzsimmons opposed Meine through six rounds and Hoyt allowed only one hit in the three remaining frames. Dugas batted for Meine at the start of the ninth and singled. Comorosky ran for him, but Commy was left on the sacks.

The Buccos nicked Fitzsimmons for six hits in the first three rounds. They scored one run in the first and picked up the other two in the third.

YANKEES SUFFER THIRD STRAIGHT DEFEAT

GOMEZ FALTERS, BENGALS WIN OPENER

Associated Press.

The events of the next fortnight should tell pretty definitely how the land lies in the American League, whether the Yankees are to continue their headlong flight toward the championship or will be challenged by one or more of their more robust rivals.

With Bill Dickey, their slugging catcher, on the suspended list and Lefty Gomez pitching ragged ball for the first time this year, the Yanks find themselves shorn of two vital cogs. Too, they appear on the edge of that slump which every team, no matter how great, must expect sometime during the season. They dropped their third straight to Detroit yesterday in 10 innings, only the second time since the race began they have lost more than two in a row.

TIGERS WIN OPENER

The second place Tigers put on a rousing finish to capture their opener with the leaders, 8 to 5. They jumped on Gomez, who appeared in a relief role, for three runs in the ninth to knot the score and then routed the Castillian in the tenth with three more. Jonathan Stone, Tiger outfielder, knocked in two runs in each of the big innings. Gomez, losing his third game against 14 victories, walked four batters in the fatal tenth. The win placed the Tigers within six and one-half games of the top.

The Washington Senators, who put up a hot fight for the top early in the season, fell into the second division when they were beaten twice by Cleveland, 3 to 2, and 4 to 3. Jack Russell and Mel Harder went the route for the Indians.

MACKS SPLIT EVEN

The third place Athletics could get no better than an even break with Chicago, losing the first, 13 to 3, when they were held to six hits by the coast rookie, Pete Daglia, and winning the nightcap, 9 to 3, behind Rube Walberg. The St. Louis Browns broke a five-game losing streak by slugging three Boston pitchers for 17 hits and an 8-to-2 decision.

Pittsburgh's winning streak was snapped at six straight and its hold on the National League lead reduced to two and one-half games by the New York Giants, who profited by a pair of errors to win, 4 to 3.

Chicago and Boston remained in a virtual tie for second place. The Cubs easily scored over the Phillies, 7 to 0, as Pat Malone yielded only five hits, and the Braves put a couple of home runs in the right spots to nose out the Cardinals, 5 to 4. Red Hargrave hit one with a runner on in the second inning and the Great Art Shires belted another in the eighth with two aboard.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati were rained out.

Argentine Track Stars Arrive Today

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—(AP.)—Argentine's first concerted invasion of this mecca of athletics occurs today when a party of 26, including seven officials and coaches, 10 track and field stars, six boxers and two marksmen, arrives for the 1932 Olympics.

The South Americans will be greeted at the railroad station by two of their greatest stars, Alberto Zorilla, 1928 400-meters free-style swimming champion, and Juan Zabala, distance runner, who has broken two American records since he landed on United States soil.

Shortstop Vaughan's Speed Big Pirate Asset

INDEPENDENT GAMES

New York Black Yankees at Pittsburgh Crawfords.
Fineview at Frick Park.

The Dormont nine, with several new faces in the lineup, opens the second-half race of the City League at home this evening, meeting Reliance. Manager George Falconer, of the South Hills team, expects great work from his new material and is looking forward for the right to meet Books in the post-season clashes for the title.

Hank Daly's Homewood team crosses bats with the Frank Ferris aggregation in the other league joust. On Sunday, the Dalymen take on the J. L. Thomas club at Greenlee Field.

A torrential downpour late yesterday afternoon put the damper on the sandlotters. The Crawfords and the New York Black Yankees, scheduled to play at Greenlee Field, were rained out and the game will be part of a double-header on the Hill diamond this afternoon.

Due to a death in the Buch family, the Books' game with the Homestead Grays scheduled for tonight at Olympia Park, Mt. Washington, has been called off. A later date will be set for the game.

Frisch Is Voted 'Most Valuable'

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—(INS.)—Frankie Frisch, star Cardinal second baseman, has been chosen by the Baseball Writers' Association as the most valuable player in the National League in 1931, it was announced today.

Frisch will be presented a certificate formally announcing this honor at the Cardinal and Brooklyn doubleheader here July 17. A lamp for his home in New York also will be given Frisch by the writers.

JAMES J. LONG ON AIR

The weekly sports talk of James J. Long, sports commentator of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will be heard over WCAE at 7 o'clock this evening. It is an authoritative resume of the high spots of the sports whirl.

Jock Sutherland Off Tonight for Trip Abroad

Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, head football coach at Pitt, will leave for New York tonight on the first lap of a trip to the British Isles.

Jock will sail from New York tomorrow on the Caledonia, and will tour England, Scotland and Ireland for about three weeks. He will make his headquarters in Edinburgh, but will spend several days in Dublin.

Sutherland will return to Pittsburgh on August 27 or 28, well in advance of the opening of the Pitt football training camp.

Fight Results

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Senior racquet events at Stanton Heights and the Greensburg Country Club having been disposed of to the satisfaction of all concerned, the Pittsburgh Tennis Association officials in special conference yesterday definitely decided upon dates for the two premier district net conclaves for youngsters—the Western Pennsylvania and the Pittsburgh Center junior and boys' championships.

The West Penn contesting, certain to draw one of the largest and classiest fields in years, will get under way on Monday, July 18, and will be continued through Thursday, July 21, while the Center milling follows on July 27 and 28.

SITES NOT DETERMINED

Sites of action for the youths' debating have yet to be determined. The Western Pennsylvania affair was run off at Carnegie Tech last year, with the P. A. A. sponsoring the Center competition. It is hoped that both of these locations again will be made available. At any rate, announcement of exact plans will be forthcoming within a few days, according to P. T. A. President J. Phillips Davis, who also states that at the same time prospective contestants will be informed as to who will receive entries for each tourney.

DOUBLES MAY BE ADDED

It is possible that, in the West Penn play, doubles will be added to the customary singles divisions. Junior and boys' dual jousts have not been part of the program here since 1924, when such mixing was inaugurated at the request of Bill Tilden, who had brought Sandy Wiener, Donald Strachan, Wilcox Adsit and the Marsh brothers hither as portion of his entourage that stopped over for the Steel City feature of that campaign. Whether or not the twin-ply branch of the pastime will be revived in the impending meetings depends on facilities at hand, number of entries, and general interest displayed.

The following committee will care for the junior and boys' debating: Frank Broida, Don Dixon, Irvin Goodman, J. Howard Moore, William L. O'Loughlin, and H. M. Rinehart.

RAIN CHECKS AT RACE

Rain checks issued for the automobile race scheduled at the Arden Downs track, Washington, Pa., last Monday will be honored when the contest is run off tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock, Pittsburgh time. Three amateur boxing bouts have been added to the bill as an added attraction, with Jack Metz slated to referee them.

MRS. H. G. BOGGS WINS TOURNEY

By TOM BIRKS

Mrs. H. G. Boggs, of the Chartiers Heights Country Club, won the Western Pennsylvania Women's one-day tournament, played over the Montour Heights Country Club layout yesterday afternoon. The long-driving player from Chartiers carded an 85 to give her low gross honors. Her net 79 score tied Mrs. J. H. Huessner, of Stanton Heights, for the low net prize.

A good sized crowd turned out to play John Manley's layout. Miss Lindsay Boyd, of the home club, who recently broke the women's record at Shannopin, turned in an even 100, for a net of 87. The scores:

Mrs. B. R. Shriver	93	12—80
Mrs. J. Huessner	96	17—79
Miss Lindsay Boyd	100	13—87
Mrs. J. W. Kinnear, Jr	102	17—85
Mrs. J. F. Wallon	95	14—81
Mrs. S. J. Glass	106	26—80
Miss M. Davidson	116	23—93
Mrs. T. Davies	100	18—82
Mrs. W. C. Maxwell	112	22—90
Mrs. W. H. Duff	94	13—81
Mrs. F. N. Sloan	92	10—82
Mrs. Z. Trautman	93	10—83
Mrs. A. J. Mub, Jr	111	26—85
Mrs. H. G. Boggs	85	6—79
Mrs. G. Gally	102	13—89

W. W. Martin, president of the Churchill Valley Country Club, held an invitation tournament yesterday afternoon with 125 guests getting an opportunity to play over the new course. Scores were rather high for many of the players were caught in that terrific hailstorm that broke late in the afternoon. I. W. Danforth, popular Oakmont player, won the prize for the amateurs with a 70.

Dave McKay, of the Pittsburgh Country Club, won the low gross prize for the professionals. Dave had a 75. Joe Crawford and Freddie Weppner, two of the districts low handicap men, each had an 80. Other scores:

D. K. Ferree	89	13—76
C. L. Beares, Jr	85	8—77
Dr. Roy Smith	90	13—77
J. I. Crawford	80	3—77
F. D. Weppner	80	3—77
P. J. Herron	93	16—77
J. A. Ellen	82	5—77
L. M. Blair	95	15—80
Edward McHaugh	82	12—70
W. N. English	84	10—74

With no tournaments scheduled for today, golfers probably will sit back and await events at the Oakmont Country Club beginning Monday, when play starts for the state open championship. On Wednesday the state amateurs will swing into action for the amateur toga.

Felix Serafin, of Scranton, Pennsylvania state open champion, will defend his crown at Oakmont next Monday and Tuesday, he informed local golf officials today.

California, Penn, Columbia Victors

WORCESTER, Mass., July 8.—(AP.)—Five Olympic hopes died here yesterday as the undefeated oars of the University of California, the Penn A. C., Yale and the Columbia graduates swept to victories in the trial heats of the rowing tryouts over the 2,000-meter course on Lake Quinsigamond.

The Golden Bears pulled an easy victory over the Princeton Rowing Club. The Penn A. C. eight defeated the Syracuse huskies, while Columbia won over Harvard. Yale also turned a fine win, beating out the rangy Washington crew by a half length.

This afternoon California will oppose Columbia in the upper half semi-final, while Penn's crew matches strokes with Yale.

STACEY LOSES TO BANNEROT

BULLETIN.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 8.—Fred Bannerot was leading F. M. Crum, 1 up, after nine holes of their final round match in the West Virginia golf championship here today. Miss Fritzi Stifel was leading her mother, Mrs. E. W. Stifel, 5 up, after nine holes of their match for the West Virginia women's title.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 8.—(AP.)—Firing deadly golf shots, Fred Bannerot continued his victory march toward the state championship yesterday, upsetting Plamer Stacey, 1930 champ, 4 and 3.

A powerful adversary is lurking for Bannerot on today's trail, however, in the being of F. M. Crum, Huntington man, who quietly became a finalist by whipping Earle (Greasy) Neale, of Morgantown, 2 and 1.

Bannerot picked off pars until it became monotonous in yesterday's encounter with Stacey, while the latter "blew up" on the tenth hole after scoring a birdie on the seventh. Bannerot was out in 36 and Stacey in 37.

Crumm's match with Neale was a battle throughout with the former showing the greater class, as on the eleventh hole, when he sunk a 45-foot putt for a birdie 3.

R. M. Rownd and A. S. Chapman, both of Wheeling, won the amateur-professional best-ball event with a low of 66.

Mrs. S. M. Howard, of Bluefield, captured the approaching and putting contest. Yesterday's summary:

First flight—E. M. Payne, Jr., Beckley, defeated George Hewitt, Wheeling, 6 and 5. Second flight—H. H. Blackburn, Lewisburg, defeated P. E. Stevenson, Huntington, 1 up in 19 holes. J. Robert Horner, Clarksburg, defeated J. W. Long, Huntington, 3 and 2.

U. S. NET STARS GAIN FINAL

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 8.—(AP.)—Sidney B. Wood, Jr., and Gregory Mangin, American tennis players, today advanced to the final round of the all-Ireland championships.

Mangin defeated H. F. Cronin, of Ireland, in straight sets, and Wood lost only three games in defeating A. Jacobsen, of Denmark.

Sullivan-Kilrain Bout on Air Tonight

NEW YORK, July 8.—(INS.)—Today, the anniversary of the John L. Sullivan-Jake Kilrain 75-round bare knuckle heavyweight championship fight at Richburg, Miss., July 8, 1889, will bring a radio broadcast of the battle. The bout lasted two hours 16 minutes, but only the last half hour will be included in the program from Station WINS, in New York, with Ford Frick and Bill Corum, Hearst sports writers, handling the microphone.

The broadcast will begin at 7:45 o'clock and continue through to 8:15.

EMANUEL HORSE WINS

LINGFIELD, England, July 8.—(AP.)—Victor Emanuel's Totaig, at odds of 15 to 8, today won the Lingfield Park plate at one mile, by three lengths from Anthony De Rothchild's Gravelkind and four others.

O. S. U. GAMES ON AIR

COLUMBUS, O., July 8.—(AP.)—Ohio State University will continue to broadcast its home football games, Athletic Director L. W. St. John said today.

HEAVYWEIGHTS STAGE SHOW TONIGHT

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

George Panka vs. Pietro Corri and Frank Novak vs. Tiny Powell, 10 rounds each, and Lee Clements vs. Jack Kearns and Bill Gunther vs. Ray Jennings, 6 rounds each, Hickey Park, Millvale (postponed from last night).

Lou Terry vs. Tracy Cox, 10 rounds, St. Louis.

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor

Fifteen hundred and sixty-six pounds of manhood, represented by eight heavyweight boxers, is waiting for the signal to go into combat at Hickey Park, Millvale, tonight in a show postponed from last night, after the deluge let loose during the afternoon.

George Panka, of Homestead, came in at the trim weight of 188½ pounds at scaling time, 3 p. m., indicating that he is in fine condition for his 10-round tussle with Pietro Corri, of New York, who weighed 193½ pounds.

Dick (Tiny) Powell, of Akron, weighed 228 pounds and Frank Novak, of the North Side, 186½ for the other 10-round bout.

The show will be staged at the new prices of 75 cents, $1 and $2, including the federal tax.

GREENLEE FIELD BACK

Meanwhile the Greenlee Field Boxing Club has come back into the fold, after being idle this week, with plans for a show to be staged at popular prices next Wednesday night and featuring three 10-round bouts and two six-rounders. Charley Baxter, local lightweight, meets Sammy Dorfman, of New York, in the main bout, and Tiger Joe Randall and Davy Grove will be principals in one of the two other 10-rounders. The club will have 6,000 grandstand seats available at 55 cents, including tax, and the others at $1 and $2.

The work of reorganizing the Meyers Bowl club continues and no show will be held there next Monday night.

TOURNEY POSTPONED

SHARON, Pa., July 8.—A heavy downpour that fell shortly after the qualifying round was under way forced the postponement of the Warren, O., Grove City and Greenville women's golf tournament here yesterday. Mrs. E. E. Reagle, of Sharon, was leading the field when the rain fell.

ERNIE SCHAAF WINS

Damon Runyon Weds Spanish Actress

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—Damon Runyon, noted sports writer, was married here yesterday to Patricia A. De Grande, a native of Spain, who is known on the stage as Patricia Amita Gridier, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frayne. Mayor James Walker performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Frayne were best man and matron of honor.

Runyon, whose first wife died a year ago, gave his birth place as Manhattan, Kan., and his age as 48, and the bride is 25 years old.

RACING BILL OFFERED

HARRISBURG, July 8.—(AP.)—A bill to legalize horse racing for cash prizes and pari-mutuel machines in the state was introduced to the House of Representatives yesterday by Representative Peters, of Montgomery.

A commission to supervise horse racing and the betting machines, having no say over the county fairs or trotting races, also was a text of the bill.

The commission would have jurisdiction over licenses for pari-mutuel machines at these races, but betting would be restricted to machines on the racing grounds of the corporation conducting the racing. A license fee of $8,000 a day would be charged the corporation for each day of the racing and the commission would have the right to collect a percentage of the money bet on the pari-mutuel machines.

The money would be placed in the treasury in a special hospital fund to be alocated to various state-aided medical and surgical hospitals on the basis of $3 per day for each patient receiving free medical care.

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENT IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—The stock market refused to be jolted out of its narrow trading range of the past three weeks today by the Franco-German agreement on reparations, although further stimulus was imparted to bonds.

Stock traders, imbued with deep-dyed pessimism over the low state of corporate earnings, evidently felt that a settlement of the reparations question, vitally important as it may be over a period of time, could do little toward changing the immediate situation. The most encouraging aspect of the market was again its disinclination to break through its previous lows.

The list pushed up 1 to 2 points in the early dealings, but quickly relapsed under fresh selling pressure. Save for a few soft spots, however, the list failed to go under yesterday's close, and stiffened again by early afternoon. American Telephone was a soft spot, declining more than 2 points to a new low under 72, before recovering. First National Stores, Safeway Stores and Coca Cola dropped 2 to 3, and Detroit Edison 6. Eastman and International Harvester sagged a point to new lows. Several of the leaders, including American Can, United States Steel, Consolidated Gas and Standard of New Jersey showed small fractional gains by early afternoon.

The market has fluctuated in an extremely narrow range during the past three weeks, as measured by the averages, and some quarters in Wall street appear determined to prevent the list from breaking through into new low ground in a way which would precipitate another wave of selling of bank loan collateral. With a period of extremely slim earnings at hand, however, and further paring of dividends confidently expected, buyers have remained extremely cautious, despite such hopeful signs as the reparations agreement, a better tone in commodities, and completion of gold withdrawals. Some quarters, as a matter of fact, stubbornly remain extremely bearish.

International bankers said the reparations agreement should bring a check to the forced export of German goods, removing a source of pressure against prices, and should protect the large private credits to Germany, chiefly held by New York and London. The market received little stimulus from domestic news. The new chain store tax in Louisiana was mentioned as possibly bringing some selling into the merchandising issues, and Telephone was affected by private estimates of second quarter earnings. General Motors' June sales report, showing that consumers in the United States bought 56,987 cars, against 63,500 in May, was about as expected.

WHEAT PRICES REACTIONARY

CHICAGO, July 8.—Grain prices showed an early upward turn today, following announcement that an accord on war reparations had been reached at Lausanne. Liverpool wheat quotations showed a brisk rally in connection with the Lausanne news. Opening unchanged ¼c higher, wheat afterward rose all around. Corn started ¼-½c up, and subsequently held near the initial limits.

Setbacks after upturns in wheat were ascribed to unsettlement shown by securities at New York. Selling on account of stock market weakness, however, carried wheat down soon to below yesterday's finish. Corn and oats took their cue largely from the action of wheat.

Provisions went lower with cereals, despite the new upturns in the value of hogs.

N. Y. DISTRICT BANKS BOOST INVESTMENTS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Although reporting member banks as a whole have been continuing the blizzard of deflation through further declines in outstanding loans and investments, it is highly significant that the banks in the New York district, the financial center, which is more sensitive to changing conditions, have made an about face and have started to increase loans and investments.

Mr. Rukeyser

The New York banks, if not the best managed, are usually the most quickly responsive to fundamental shifts in the credit situation and also to major changes in policy by the Federal Reserve System. Accordingly, the reversal by the reporting New York banks may be the harbinger of a similar shift on the part of all reporting member banks, and may be the first signs of the end of the long and dismal period of destructive credit deflation.

SYSTEM INDICTED

The decline in loans and investments by banks outside New York was largely accounted for by the flurry in the Chicago district, where a number of neighborhood banks closed down. Loans and investments in banks outside of New York were down $128,000,000 for the week ended June 29, and of this decline $89,000,000 was accounted for in the Chicago district. Meantime, the New York banks showed an increase of loans and investments amounting to $63,000,000.

The midyear statements of the large New York banks showed a tendency toward further liquidity, as they increased their ratio of cash and government holdings to deposit liabilities. Furthermore, it was also the fashion further to write down assets in conformity with prevailing conditions.

Events of the last year or so have constituted a serious indictment against the traditional American system of scattered independent banks. Even the conservative National Industrial Conference Board, in its lucid new volume entitled "The Banking Situation in the United States," concludes that "the American banking system failed signally in recent years."

DEFLATION TRACED

"While the increase of security holdings represented perhaps a natural reaction of the banking system to rapid economic changes, it nevertheless was a reaction fraught with risks because of the already impaired liquidity of banks, and because in their security holdings, as contrasted with loan assets, banks hold no margin of protection. When the epidemic of bank failures began to exact a toll among larger banks at the end of 1930 and the beginning of 1931 and to threaten all banking institutions, many of the banks involved were found unprepared to deal with the unexpected turn of affairs. A mad scramble for the improvement of banking liquidity followed, but a declining bond market prevented the liquidation of bond assets without losses that banking institutions hesitated to assume. The alternative, credit restriction to customers, was therefore widely pursued, but only at the price of further contribution to the prevailing apprehension over banking liquidity, with the ultimate effect of inducing extensive withdrawals of cash from banks by depositors in every city and town of the country."

BROKERS LOANS AT NEW LOW

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City decreased $9,000,000 during the week ended July 6 to $333,000,000, a new record low. This compares with $342,000,000 last week, the previous low, and $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929, the record high total.

Federal Reserve Rate Same at N. Y.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Following today's meeting of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York no announcement was made concerning the re-dicount rate, which is 2½ per cent.

Forbes

If Hogs Can, Maybe Other Things Will

—By B. C. FORBES—

PIGS HAVE advanced more than 60 per cent in price in one month. Prices for shares have declined more than 50 per cent this year.

Mr. Forbes

If pigs can rebound so swiftly and sharply, is it not within the range of possibility that stocks, commodities, raw materials and other things now selling at absurdly low figures may also perform a sudden about-face?

A 50 per cent rise in many stocks, in a goodly number of bonds, in cotton, in rubber, in copper, in sugar, in lead, in silk, in hides, in zinc, in eggs, in butter, in rye, in corn, in silver would still leave them at relatively low levels.

Look what has happened in crude oil. It has advanced more than 200 per cent above its quotation at this time last year. Certain foreign bonds are up 50 per cent from their recent lows.

WE HAVE BECOME so accustomed to expect nothing but bad news, worse news, the worst news, that many have reached the conclusion that prices will never, never rebound. Such reasoning is unreasoning. Probably it will take spectacular recoveries in quite a number of directions before abject pessimism is appreciably modified.

Already there is some improvement in cotton, in beef, in coffee, in sugar. Bradstreet reports that its weekly food index "continued its upward trend of the last several weeks, rising more sharply than previously during the week ended July 5," bringing it to "the highest it has been since the end of April."

In the financial world the belief is expressed that the vacating of Washington by Congress and the "bonus army" will be celebrated at least mildly. Something less than the worst appears assured from Europe, another helpful influence. It is known that a great many corporations are actively formulating plans to go after business aggressively at the opening of fall. Unfortunately, many concerns have decided to put forth no vigorous business-getting activities during July and August.

The security markets, however, may not be content to wait until fall before reflecting expectations of business revival.

PRESIDENT LAMMOT DUPONT sends announcement that E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. has adopted trade acceptance in its business dealings. So have General Electric, General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Westinghouse, United States Rubber, American Rolling Mill, Campbell Soups, National Steel. This should help.

THE HEAD of one national organization tells me he has sounded out 125 of its employes about accepting half or more of their pay in cash and orders for merchandise for the balance. Every one agreed. He adds:

"All employes must realize that it is their responsibility now and not the responsibility of capitalists—that there can be no prosperity until those who are employed will spend more money, and that if they hold on to their money there will be less work for all."

He urges similar action throughout the country.

GENERAL MANAGER H. P. Liversidge, of the Philadelphia Electric Company, referring to the "vision" of what electricity will one day do for mankind, writes, in part:

"While our electrical wizards may be able to vision the time when 'it is not impossible that all power for the entire nation may be generated at a single mammoth central station,' the only reason for doing this would be for practical and economic considerations; and, speaking from the standpoint of an operating executive, it is my opinion that such a development is highly improbable."

Certainly there is no need for the public to become excited just yet!

LET CHINA have more of the Farm Board's white-elephant wheat. She sorely needs it. WE don't.

Chicago Exchange Bans Insull Securities

CHICAGO, July 8.—The Chicago Stock Exchange has removed from the list 5,383,985 shares of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., common stock; 60,000 shares of prior preferred and 450,000 shares second series preferred.

The exchange also removed from the list 2,517,189 shares Corporation Securities Company common stock and 741,421 shares optional preferred stock, 1929 series.

MORE RESERVE CREDIT OUT

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP.)—The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ending July 6, was $2,377,000,000.

This was an increase of $23,000,000 over the preceding week, $1,407,000,000 above the corresponding week in 1931.

On July 6, total Reserve Bank credit amounted to $2,408,000,000, an increase of $62,000,000 for the week. This increase corresponds with an increase of $126,000,000 in money in circulation and a decrease of $18,000,000 in Treasury currency. It was offset in part by decreases of $71,000,000 in member bank reserve balances and $9,000,000 in unexpended capital funds, non-member deposits, etc., and an increase of $2,000,000 in monetary gold stock.

Holdings of discounted bills declined $6,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and increased $10,000,000 at Cleveland, $8,000,000 at Atlanta, $7,000,000 at San Francisco, and $30,000,000 at all Federal Reserve banks.

The system's holdings of bills bought in open market increased $13,000,000, and of United States Treasury notes $7,000,000, while holdings of United States bonds decreased $6,000,000, and of Treasury certificates and bills $1,000,000.

'SPECIAL' SALES AID TRADE

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP.)—While post-holiday dullness characterized business in many sections, retail merchandising continued to run in fairly encouraging volume during the past week, the trade reviews said today.

"Special" sales stimulated demand for goods in various localities, resulting in generally improved business, Bradstreet's reported. This review also said wholesalers in southern states were doing a fair volume of business, but that transactions were largely in small quantities. The sharp rise in hog prices has been a helpful factor in farming communities.

Dun's said the retail movement of hardware contiues relatively good and that paints are mentioned among the active lines in rural districts.

BUSINESS

First Steel Merger Of Slump Nears Completion

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

THE FIRST OF THE depression steel mergers has been announced. The Corrigan, McKinney Steel Company is to acquire the Newton Steel Company if a sufficient proportion of the stockholders of the latter organization approve.

The world of finance and business was quite familiar with mergers in the days of prosperity, but mergers in the present lean period are surprising. The consolidation represents a new attempt to save on expenses. Most prosperity mergers were consummated in the belief that they would result in broader markets. The Corrigan, McKinney-Newton consolidation, it is believed, may represent the beginning of an entirely new trend in the steel industry. It may mark the origin of a series of mergers between smaller independent companies in an attempt to secure more complete integration of operations.

* * *

Consolidation Offers Mutual Advantage

THE NEWTON STEEL Company is a producer of full finished sheets such as are used in the automobile and other industries requiring high grade products. The Corrigan, McKinney Steel Company has a large capacity for the production of semi-finished steel of the kind required by Newton for its finishing mills. The proposed merger, if consummated, will assure the Newton Company of its supply of raw material and assure the Corrigan, McKinney Company of an outlet for a large share of its unfinished steel.

The plan will result in the development of a steel producing organization with more completely integrated operations from the refinement of pig iron to the development of specialized products. Neither of the companies to enter the merger has benefited from such advantages in the past.

* * *

Plan for Exchange Of Stock Proposed

AT PRESENT the Corrigan, McKinney Steel Company has outstanding no bonds or preferred stock, its entire capitalization being 2,500 shares of $100 par value common stock. In order to have a practical unit to offer Newton shareholders it is proposed that Corrigan, McKinney company amend its articles of incorporation to provide an authorized capital stock of 1,500,000 common shares, par value $1 each, consisting of 1,146,450 voting shares and 353,550 non-voting shares.

Under the plan Newton stockholders are offered an exchange of their stock on the basis of one voting and one non-voting share of Corrigan, McKinney for each share of Newton preferred stock, or 4-10 of a voting share and 1-10 of a non-voting share of Corrigan, McKinney for each one share of Newton common stock.

Stockholders of Newton are being advised that deposits are to be made with the Union Trust Company of Cleveland. The period for deposit expires August 15. To be effective, the plan requires the deposit of 67 per cent of each class of shares of the Newton company.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Curb market, like the big board, showed drooping tendencies after a firm opening today.

NEW YORK, July 8. (AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

'Wild Man' Roams Clarion Forests

CLARION, Pa., July 8.—(AP.)—The Reidsburg vicinity is excited by reports that a "wild man"—nude save for a pair of shoes and a handkerchief about his neck—is roaming the forest.

Seven people have reported seeing the man. They say he darts fleetly into the woods as soon as anyone approaches him.

Ann Dvorak Quits Over Film Salary

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 7.—(AP.)—Another insurrection of a film star over salary shook Hollywood today. Ann Dvorak, winsome brunette, who has had a spectacular rise to stardom, departed for New York on the S. S. Virginia, making an open break with Warner Brothers-First National studios.

Lynn Leaves City Without Telling Tom the Name Of Her Host

CHAPTER XXVI.

The next morning she went to the office as usual. Frank was not there. He had taken an unexpected vacation. His uncle was, however. The door of the private office shut upon Mara.

When she came out, she was very pale. She rode downstairs in the elevator, walked into the street and stood there, irresolute. The shadow of the skyscraper loomed over her.

She went back to the apartment and packed. She called a telephone number. "Bill," she said, and her voice was soft, "Bill, I'm coming home."

"She had to, don't you see? What else could she do? She probably spun a tall yarn to Houghton, thinking he'd say, 'Oh, goody, goody, let's all get divorced and change partners' Not that bird! He wasn't even in love with her. He got cold feet, I guess, and maybe spilled something to his uncle. So Mara's let out. And she goes back to Bill. It's all very simple."

In the end Lynn went off for her week-end without telling Tom the name of her host. She had not seen him since the night at the apartment except at the office; nor spoken to him save briefly over the telephone. This intangible estrangement on his part worried her while it bewildered her. She did not know of his awkward and embarrassed explanation to Rawlson: "Sorry, old man, I've thought it over and decided not to;" nor did she know of Rawlson's hot arguments and final, "Well, if you won't, you won't, but I think you're a fool!"

BECOMES GROUCHY

No man likes being thought a fool and that Rawlson did think it very sincerely, Tom was convinced. Now that he had it over, perhaps Lynn was right with her hairsplitting and her woman's scruples. But that didn't make it any easier for young Shepard, facing his friend.

The result was natural. A grouch. Tom, unable to forget that he had been adjudged an imbecile in the eyes of another man, and if not "dishonest" and "disloyal," at least an incompetent in the eyes of the only girl in the universe, took to rebuilding his radio as a man takes to strong drink, drowning his loss of self-esteem in summer static. Moreover, through Hank he had come to know one of the supervising engineers at U. B. C. and so spent his luncheon hours in the control room.

Hank said, one evening, "Why not break away from your blasted bank and come where your job will give you a kick? I think Noonan's quitting."

"Lynn would never stand for it," Tom told him gloomily. "She's set on my becoming a carbon copy of J. P. How much would I drag down to start with?"

"Forty-five. But you're not likely to become a millionaire," said Hank, while Slim, knocking the ashes from a rank pipe, said, "Not by a long shot. But then, neither will I. Public utilities only make the stockholders rich."

CONSIDERS CHANGE

"Wimmin!" said Hank. Slim said nothing. It has been weeks since he'd seen Jennie. She had given him the air. He'd been crazy about her, too. Crazy to think she'd look at him twice! And now here was Lynn, professing to care for his friend but blind to the urgencies of his nature—not all a man's needs had to do with women, after all. A man had to have a job he was keen about or he went empty-hearted all his life long, dissatisfied. He tried to tell Tom something of this.

"Future? What's the future in that dump of yours?" he wanted to know. "All you do is keep an engagement pad and run around and yes people."

"I'm supposed to be learning the business."

"Oh, yeah? And when you've learned it, what then?"

Tom didn't know. Between the 50 a week the Seacoast Company gave him, plus a Christmas bonus and a chance for modest investments, and the straight 45 of the U. B. C. there wasn't a lot of difference, he conceded, but if he went into radio the future would be even more nebulous than it was at the bank. And then, there was Lynn to consider.

"Put it up to her," advised Hank. "If she's the right kind of girl she'll see your point. You could serve your time on the checkerboard and perhaps get into the lab. You'd like that."

Research work, looking for something no other man had found, finding it, perhaps; or working to perfect the vague dream of someone who'd gone before. Lord, he'd love it! If only he didn't have to think of money.

"Wish someone would leave me a million!" he said.

Yes, he'd ask Lynn. He'd been an ass, sulking for these last few days; it wasn't, after all, her fault that he'd listened to Rawlson's suave schemes.

He telephoned her eventually, all set to say: "I have a proposition. May I come up and sell it to you?" It would be this: that she would agree to his leaving the bank and getting into the U. B. C. outfit; then, when the depression passed, and there was no question of her losing her job, they could marry and work, together. Because of his own dissatisfaction with his job and his longing to be doing something he believed to be important and constructive, he was beginning to understand Lynn's attachment to her own work.

But Lynn wasn't in; she was at Sarah's.

Saturday morning he saw her, not at breakfast, but later, in her office. Impossible to say much. Just, "Suppose I buzz up tonight?"

She said, "I'm sorry. I'm going away for the week-end."

"Week-end? You didn't tell me."

"I haven't talked to you—much," she reminded him.

"Where are you going?" he demanded.

She did the natural thing; told the truth, or half of it; hedged. She answered stiffly, "With Sarah. We'll be back in time for work, Monday."

That was that. He turned and left the room. She sat at her desk staring after him. She felt small, ashamed. Why hadn't she said, "We're going down to David Dwight's. It will be fun, I wish you were coming, darling?"

She hadn't said it, no matter why. Tom had been—different, since the night in her apartment. She had waited for him to come to her and say, "You were right. I've told Rawlson. Let's forget it," but he hadn't said it.

Synopsis

Lynn Harding, young and pretty clerk in the Sea Coast Bank and Trust Company, loves Tom Shepard, secretary to one of the bank's vice presidents. They cannot marry on Tom's salary, so Lynn plans to hold her position. She learns, however, that the bank does not want married women. She seeks the aid of David Dwight, prominent lawyer, whom she met through Sarah Dennet, her chief at the bank. Dwight had been Sarah's sweetheart years before, but gave her up to marry wealth. David, attracted by Lynn, offers her a position, but due to Tom's objection, Lynn rejects it. Later, Tom informs Lynn he has an opportunity to become rich by taking advantage of secret information relative to the bank's merger and buying stock. Lynn disapproves on the ground that it is dishonest and Tom reluctantly promises not to speculate. That night, Mara Burt's husband calls looking for his wife, who left him and is staying with Lynn. In spite of Lynn's protests, he comes in.

Now Go On

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

The members who attended the meeting of the Davis Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club Club Saturday were surprised to find a new manager greeting them as they entered the theater.

J. A. McDonald, who had presided at the meeting the week previous, was injured seriously in an automobile accident. Doctors at Mercy Hospital report that his condition is somewhat improved.

All the members, after J. Kenfield, who is taking "Mac's" place until he is able to return, stood with bowed head and silently offered a prayer for his quick and speedy recovery.

ROWLAND NEWS

Ruth Goewey went to Rock Springs Park Saturday, and she will be away about a week.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, go to any of the theaters listed below tomorrow and register with the manager. At the time of registration you'll be given a membership card and button.

Cleaner Financial Methods Will Restore Confidence

In view of the rise of the small investor as an increasingly important influence in American life, it was fitting for a great political party in its platform to consider his problems.

Turning its attention to the record of plunder and exploitation uncovered in recent Senate investigations, Plank 10 in the new platform of the Democratic party wisely provides for:

"Protection of the investing public by requiring to be filed with the government and carried in advertisements of all offerings of foreign and domestic stocks and bonds true information as to bonuses, commissions, principal invested and interests of sellers. Regulation to the full extent of federal power of:

Though it may not be possible to legislate suckers out of existence, it is possible to tend to protect intelligent outside investors by insisting on full and honest publicity concerning financial deals.

If the Democratic proposal had been in effect during the recent boom, numerous scandals might have been prevented.

For example, if the provision regarding full information concerning bonuses and commissions had been in effect, investors would doubtless have been saved from buying Peruvian bonds.

Under questioning by Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, a partner of the banking house in New York which underwrote the loan admitted recently before the Senate Committee on Finance, to having paid more than half a million dollars of investors' money to a group of financial racketeers. The son of the President of Peru alone received about $415,000 of these perverted funds.

If such leaks and dissipations of capital were disclosed in public statements, outside investors would be warned of the hazards of such frenzied finance.

The Hearst newspapers while heartily commending the Democratic recommendations would add to them the suggestion of William Z. Ripley, Harvard economist, who proposes that industrial and miscellaneous corporations should be required to file with a governmental agency periodic, uniform financial statements, just as the railroads now do.

In order to give the small investor the benefit of proper interpretation of such accounting data, we advocate the setting up of a peace time equivalent to the Capital Issues Committee, which would pass upon the eligibility for public sale of all new security offerings.

Business and employment in the United States are suffering greatly because the confidence of investors has been shattered. The way to restore faith is to assure the investors of the country that preventive medicine in finance will avert a repetition of the chicanery and skullduggery which were practiced in the past.

Electric Rates

Councilman English Suggests That Schedules of Light Charges Be Simplified.

The suggestions for changing electric light rate charges presented by Councilman W. Y. English are worthy of consideration. One of his most important proposals calls for the scrapping of the existing complicated system of charging domestic consumers for power and the substitution of a simple method, readily understandable by all.

The present schedule is so involved that an expert is needed to compute charges. The new rate which the company proposed to City Council this week, instead of clarifying the situation, is even more obscure to the average person.

It can be seen that a complex method of charging may be justified for large industrial consumers where the consumption of a single customer may require the installation of a large amount of equipment and may have a widespread effect on the rise and fall of the power company's load. But no such problem is involved in serving a large number of residential consumers whose individual demands are trifling.

That a proposal for simpler domestic rates is entirely practicable can be seen from the fact that readily understandable systems of charges are in use in Philadelphia, Cleveland and Washington. In these cities the power used is divided into blocks and the rate is on a sliding downward scale based on the amount consumed. The same rate applies to all residential users. Charges are not based upon any maze of computations involving the number of rooms or the number of outlets as in Pittsburgh.

In all probability the company would find its relations with customers improved by the use of a less confusing system, since disputes arising from misunderstandings would be reduced.

Boys as Craftsmen

"What men have done boys can do," may perhaps be a little strong as a statement of general truth, yet its accuracy is borne out to a considerable degree by the evidence that consists of 180 coach models, in Carnegie Museum, now being judged in a prize competition. They are entries from Pennsylvania in a competition held by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild for prizes totaling $75,000.

The model upon which these miniature replicas were built is the handsome state coach of Napoleon, a vehicle that required the highest of craftsmanship of men in that line to construct. What, then, can be said for the boys who have copied it in detail on a smaller scale? The boys were helped by patterns supplied to them without cost, and by instructions printed in this newspaper, but it was up to the young builders to obtain their own materials, all of which could be reclaimed from waste or used bits, wood, glass, metal and leather being required in addition to paint.

It was a work calling for not only skill but patient effort, and it is probable that many of the boys who began did not complete their coaches. That 180 were adept enough to turn out such artistic specimens as are in the exhibition is almost enough to cause us to believe that the opening words of this article are veritably true.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Every Woman's Rival

The Eternal Triangle is not half so often composed of a man and two women as it is of a man, a woman and a CLUB!

* * *

Nearly every wife is secretly and sub-consciously jealous — not of another woman, but of her husband's club, lodge or favorite "hang-out," which he seems to find so much more alluring than he does his home.

* * *

For instance, a club is always QUIET! It is a haven wherein a man may sit and doze or muse for hours, undisturbed. Where he can always find somebody with whom to chat or chum when he feels expansive; where he may be ALONE or in company at will, and where he may talk or keep SILENT, and nobody goes off and sniffles and wonders if his love is dead!

* * *

A club is a place where nobody censors a man's appetite, or looks reprovingly at the number of cigar stubs he has left in the ash tray; where he may eat all those things which disagree with him, drink whatever he can afford to pay for, and sit around with a grouch all evening, and nobody is afraid he is going to die, or offers to call the doctor.

* * *

Of course, no CLUB ever smelled of violet talcum and black narcissus, or told a man how wonderful he was, or called him "Sweetikins," or put the links in his shirt, or sweetened his coffee, or found his shoes.

But then, no club ever made him swallow a quinine tonic, made him spray the lawn, gargle his throat, put out the hall light or get up in the night to see what the noise was. And NO club ever used his handkerchiefs to wipe off the cold cream, or acted jealous if he looked at another club!

* * *

Perhaps that is why a man is always so eager to reach his club, and so reluctant to leave it. In a club he is his OWN guardian!

* * *

A man's house may be his castle—but his club is his sanctuary, where he can escape from the ubiquitous and omnipresent female of the species, consort with his own kind and be as atavistic and he-mannish as he pleases!

* * *

In fact, it is, in these days of co-educational barber shops, co-educational speakeasies and mixed smoking-cars, the ONLY place where a man can get away from WOMEN—and be alone!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 8.—Thoughts while strolling: What's become of the skinny hired man with the Adam's Apple? Those Broadway Sunday breakfasts from 11 a. m. until 4 p. m. An auto with a glass roof. Nobody can look so unconcerned as Hope Williams. Martha Wilchinski's flashing eyes.

An exhibit of match box labels. They say Garbo is a collector of them. That's twice I've passed through a swarm of gnats with the mouth open. Eva La Gallienne, a London, England, girl who made good in the city. How quickly Al Capone seems forgotten. Simile: "Squeaky as a French shoe."

One of those quick steppers who greets everybody with "Hello Charlie!" About time for Gene Markey to bring his bride to town. And has Al Jolson deserted for good? One word description of Irene Bordoni—actressy. Gov. James Rolph and Nick Longworth bear a strong resemblance.

They say John Ringling's favorite animal is Old Ma, the elephant beglamoured in Ryley Cooper's circus stories. Ted Cook, by the way, is a Chow enthusiast. Bide Dudley adores the Pom. Rian James, the setter. But after looking them all over, give me the Boston. Hattie Bell Johnston and Fifi Dorsay look alike.

Overheard: "Anytime I get my head above the water, they give me another ducking." West 42d street's back yonder touch—a soda fountain sign: "Doughnuts for dunking." Fred Stone has a cowboy swagger. Jack Benny and Phil Baker have the same innocent cowlike eyes. You'd think they were teacher's pets, the rascals.

How I'd like to sink an arm to the elbow in the brine of a dill pickle barrel. Wonder if anyone else in the world likes dill pickles with coarse salt? Eric Hatch, the writer, makes me think of a lake tugboat somehow.

Benny Rubin was on a Cleveland bill recently with a lady midget. Seeing her after the first day he inquired how she liked her hotel. "Fine," she sopranoed, "but the rooms are too small."

* * *

It is reported Fanny Hurst's amazing Ghetto protege who has proven such a thrill to radio audiences may be legally adopted by the writer and her pianist-husband. The child was discovered in the slums—a true tot of the tenements—by Miss Hurst while performing social welfare chores. At the age of 12, the prodigy not only sings alto, soprano and contralto, but renders them in English, German and Italian.

Almost every large city of America claims the original "Dinty Moore" of the deservedly popular George McManus' "Bringing Up Father" cartoons. James Moore, the New York cafe man, is believed by thousands, especially in the East, the inspiration. In fact, none of them is. The real truth is that McManus, himself, is a striking likeness of the caricature and is much like "Dinty" in prosperity for he, too, keeps in touch with the common man. When in New York, McManus dines nightly in what they call "the paddock" of Moore's on West Forty-sixth street. He and the proprietor are friends of many years and there is a rough-and-tumble exchange of epithets between them, so often surfacing sincere friendships. McManus was born in St. Louis in 1884. He was named for his father, the popular manager of a burlesque theater. He has two brothers also comic artists.

* * *

McManus caricatures his own feet best. His spats fit exactly like those of his cartoon character. And there is, in high caricature, of course, a striking similarity between his figure, and that of the roly-poly Dinty. The late Clare Brigg's limned himself often, especially as the central figure in his "Mr. and Mrs."

Bob Davis, Irvin Cobb, Ryley Cooper, Ray Long and several other close friends have rounded in from fishing trips ranging from Hawaii to British Columbia. As one as enthusiastic about fishing as sifting ashes, I'm in for a lot of squirming around the parlor lamp this winter. Fishing yarns, to me, are one cut lower than tales of stock market losses. And you can't stop either.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

We're hearing a lot about the Yes-Man—the Human Custard who always agrees with the Big Squeeze. We all know such bipeds and detest them. But to my mind there is an even more odious breed, and that's the NO-MAN.

The man or woman who courts favor by always agreeing may be a spineless worm, but the person who courts prominence by always disagreeing is a reg'lar scorpion.

They disagree with everything on general principles, and they invariably quote God, Grandpa or Early American History to justify themselves. Sometimes they use one of these sources, sometimes all three; but they always cinch their vetoes with some such reference. It matters not what the problem may be—politics or petting parties, dirigibles or bobbed hair, Diesel engines or broadcasting—if it's "new fangled" the No-Man is against it.

They know right well that you're not going to stand for stupidity and cussedness if you meet them raw; but if they wrap them in the American flag and trim them around the edges with Grandpa's tombstone, a lock of mother's hair and a few extracts from the least cheerful portions of the Bible, they have you cornered.

You don't know what to say to a demonstration like that, and even if you did, and said it, you'd probably be laughed at or arrested. So usually you don't take a chance. Instead, you decide that they are not really contrary and catankerous, but "conservative, well-balanced, reticent," etc.

We're all a bit bewildered in these changing times, and we feel there must be something fine and staunch in such unshakable NO-ism. As a consequence, the No-Men and No-Women are spreading like a plague of locusts, destroying every fresh, green shoot that comes their way.

They don't rebel and experiment and make mistakes, not because they are more wise and righteous than the rest of us, but because they are AFRAID TO TAKE A CHANCE.

And they have the rest of us buffaloed because we are afraid to challenge their fine front of religion and patriotism, although that front is a shoddy pretense.

There's no free sunshine and clean air in the folds of the flag they wave. There's only the smell of moth balls. A flag that is kept in moth balls is no better than any other scrap of dry goods.

There's no love or inspiration in their method of quoting the Bible. If the Bible is used as a weapon for tolerance, purity and justice, it is indeed holy; but if one merely takes extracts from that part of its record concerning semi-savage customs, and uses such records to justify hatred, torture, child-beating and blue-laws, the Book is debased to the status of freak propaganda.

There is no book more worthy of our reverence than the Bible as a whole, but there is nothing less worthy of reverence than the No-Man's stupid, malicious misinterpretation of the Bible.

And the same goes for the No-Man's misinterpretations of the Good Old Days and Grandpa. Grandpa doubtless was a fine old gentleman in his time, but he might be an absolute dud in our day. His views and his teeth fitted Grandpa in 1850, but that's no reason for insisting that Grandpa should wear either of them in 1932.

That's the truth about the No-Men or No-Women. The next time you meet some of them, Pal, drag them out from their camouflage and see how they stack up. Believe me, they'll look like a last year's bird nest after a hard winter.

The Battle Flag Unfurled

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

This year is to witness the breaking of many precedents. It has begun uniquely. For the first time in political history a presidential nominee has appeared in the convention naming him, traveling hundreds of miles. This was unique, but it was dramatic, too. A nominee has gone by plane to waste no time, to make connection.

There was something inspirational in the thought. It symbolized the new day. As the delegates waited for the arrival of their nominee, and from time to time the announcement was made from the platform that he had been sighted over this town or that, the convention had its thrills.

It was a happy thought that impelled Roosevelt to appear before the convention within a few hours of his nomination to receive his notification and to make his acceptance speech. It means that weeks of silence are not to intervene between the choice of a commander and the taking to the field.

It means the campaign has been opened formally now; that the fight ison now; that there will be no cessation in the fighting until the victory is won.

It accomplished another desirable result. The American people are not left in doubt for weeks regarding the nominee's attitude toward the platform, and the enemy press is deprived of the privilege of insinuating doubts into the minds of the voters.

* * *

Delegates Heard Fighting Speech

The speech of Roosevelt was a triumph. The delegates found before them a virile figure, physically strong—an ingratiating figure with a pleasing personality—a militant figure with an eagerness to fight. The combination of a smiling face and a fighting tone put the spirit of confidence and battle into the hearts of the party workers.

It heard from him a 100 per cent acceptance of the most direct, emphatic, progressive platform America has known for generations.

It learned that this campaign is to be fought boldly and aggressively to end the political and social evils that have all but wrought the ruin of the nation.

It listened to a speech, hurriedly prepared, covering every point, which indicated no need of long deliberation over phrases to create a double meaning. It was a fighting speech.

* * *

Destroys Mystery Of Economic Laws

One thing of the utmost importance stood out in this speech like a challenge in the night—a straightforward recognition of the fact that the regime of the last decade has utterly ignored. This is that America is a land of diversified interests; that all equally are vital to prosperity and economic health; that to foster one through governmental privilege destroys the others, and by destroying them wrecks the very interest that fattens on privilege. It was high time that some one said:

"We are going to make the voters understand this year that this nation is not merely a nation of independence, but it is, if we are to survive, bound to be a nation of interdependence, town and city, north and south, east and west."

Roosevelt said it; more—he meant it.

He said something else that has not been said too soon—that there are no mysterious economic laws unrelated to the governing forces of a nation that have wrought our ruin. Thus:

"Our Republican leaders tell us economic laws—sacred, inviolable, unchangeable — can bring panics which no one could prevent. But while they prate of economic laws women and children are starving. We must lay hold of the fact that economic laws are not made by nature. They are made by human beings."

And Roosevelt said it.

* * *

Nothing 'Radical' In Platform, Speech

The platform deals with realities—ugly realities some of them, such as the flooding of the country with worthless securities by some financial leaders of great distinction, with the encouragment, connivance, assistance of government. It faces the fate of the farmers. It recognizes the plight of the unemployed. It concedes the problems of the average businessman who does not thrive alone on speculation.

And the candidate marches with the platform.

And yet there is nothing "radical"—to use a misused word—in either platform or the speech of acceptance. There is nothing radical in truth; there is nothing conservative in falsehood; there is nothing respectable in hypocrisy or double-dealing, or in the use of weazel words.

* * *

Was No Gambling On Garner Choice

The country is to be congratulated, too, on the nominee for the vice presidency. The convention named a man of presidential caliber—as conventions always should and so seldom do. Garner's 30 years of intimate identification with government, his felicity in working with men, his home-spun honesty, his unquestioned courage, his fighting capacity, his uncompromising Americanism, all combine to make him an ideal running mate for Roosevelt.

There is no gambling on Garner.

* * *

Smith Emerges As Great Figure

There were candidates before the convention who have met disappointed hopes. Everyone of them in statesmanship, experience in the governing of this country, stands among the tested leaders of the nation. All had their admirers; some their idolators. All were admirable; some were lovable to a marked degree.

And all will be found upon the firing line—battling for the principles and policies of the party. No one triumphed more greatly in the convention than one of these—Alfred E. Smith. Years ago he began his battle against the Eighteenth Amendment; he saw his idea written into the party platform by an overwhelming majority; he participated in the victory; he received the ovation he had won. He entered the convention a candidate; he emerged a greater historic figure than ever before.

Too Late Now For Hoover to Change

And that is one of the issues of the campaign. The incredible rumor floats from Washington that Mr. Hoover will now try to shift his position. A man who shifts his position under the persuasion of a pitchfork is not an impressive figure.

Only two weeks ago I witnessed his stubborn battle under the leadership of Ogden Mills, the D'Artagnan of the drys, to prevent a straight declaration for repeal; and Herbert Hoover prevented that declaration despite the real desire of the convention. I saw him fighting furiously to prevent a declaration for the modification of the Volstead Act now; and Herbert Hoover prevented that declaration.

There was no declaration for the straight repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, or for the immediate modification of the Volstead Act, because the Republican convention had its orders from Herbert Hoover, conveyed through Ogden Mills, who ignored his instructions from his own State, to do the will of Hoover.

For that man to shift now would only convince the nation of his utter instability, his complete subserviency to expediency, his utter ignorance of the spirit of the people. Death bed repentances are not impressive.

"But remember," said the dying man who had sent for an enemy to ask his pardon, "if I get well this is all off."

The fight is on. The battle flags have been unfurled. The leaders are in the field, their records and views well known. It is up to the people.

Isn't It So?

The advantage in being rich is that you can pay $34.50 for precisely the same thing a poor man gets for $1.35.
